Comrades and Critics Candida Rifkind, 2009-01-17 While Canadian historians have studied socialism in the 1930s and although there have been many studies of American and British literary leftists from this period Comrades and Critics is the first full length study of Canada's 1930s literary left Challenging dominant perceptions that this decade was a lull between the more celebrated modernist enterprises of the 1920s and 1940s Candida Rifkind argues that the events of the 1930s from mass unemployment to the dustbowl to the Spanish Civil War galvanized a generation of writers leading them to unite artistic practice and political action in provocative and influential ways Analyzing and recovering much neglected poems plays manifestoes and documentaries Rifkind demonstrates how leftist cultural production came to dominate English Canadian literature by the end of the decade She pays particular attention to the significant role that women writers played in this period and examines a diverse group of writers that included Dorothy Livesay Anne Marriott Irene Baird and Toby Gordon Ryan These writers negotiated the struggle to revolutionize both literature and politics while being subject to the gender hierarchies of socialism and literary modernism that continued long after the thirties came to an end A groundbreaking study in Canadian history and literature Comrades and Critics is a much needed examination of an important and still influential literary period Annual Report of the Board of Trustees National Gallery of Canada, 1924 Fifty Years of Religious Studies in Canada Harold Coward, 2014-11-07 In Canadian universities in the early 1960s no courses were offered on Hinduism Buddhism or Islam Only the study of Christianity was available usually in a theology program in a church college or seminary Today almost every university in North America has a religious studies department that offers courses on Western and Eastern religions as well as religion in general Harold Coward addresses this change in this memoir of his forty five year career in the development of religious studies as a new academic field in Canada He also addresses the shift from theology classes in seminaries to non sectarian religious studies faculties of arts and humanities the birth and growth of departments across Canada from the 1960s to the present the contribution of McMaster University to religious studies in Canada and Coward s Ph D experience there the Centre for Studies in Religion and Society at the University of Victoria and the future of religious studies as a truly interdisciplinary enterprise Coward s retrospective while not a history as such documents information from his varied experience and wide network of colleagues that is essential for a future formal history of the discipline His story is both personally engaging and richly informative about the development of the field Canadiana , 1986 50 Years Of The Chinese Community In Singapore Cheng Lian Pang, 2015-10-23 Singapore s success story is essentially a people story Singaporeans have good reason to celebrate the nation s golden jubilee with pride In the short space of five decades the country has moved from Third World to First and its real GDP has grown by 40 times For this phenomenal progress credit must go to its people the Republic s primary resource Against all odds and amidst dire predictions Singaporeans proved that a united and resourceful community could build a nation from scratch This book is dedicated to one segment of these Singaporeans the Chinese community In particular this collection of essays focuses on the Chinese speaking members of the community whose many contributions are less familiar to those brought up on a strict diet of the English language This celebratory book is divided into four broad categories The first section examines the major Chinese organisations and their contributions in the past five decades These include the Singapore Chinese Chamber of Commerce Industry the Singapore Federation of Chinese Clan Associations the Chinese Development Assistance Council and the Chinese Heritage Centre In addition it looks at the history and work of some of the social clubs and charitable organisations in the Chinese community The second section examines some community issues that have engaged the Chinese community in Singapore s first 50 years Two senior journalists and two academics review the evolution of the Chinese language the integration of new immigrants from China and the influence of Chinese religions The five essays in the third section trace the development of Chinese visual and performing art in the Republic The last section looks at the interactions between Singapore s Chinese community and China on the one hand and with the regional Chinese communities on the other The contributors of this salute to the Chinese community are have been directly involved or are passionate about the subjects of their essays Chinese Organisations Singapore Chinese Chamber of

Canadian Art and Architecture Diane E. Peters, 2003 Access to dissertations and theses is becoming increasingly easier as a result of digitalization projects such as UMI's Current Research which at the present time provides full text access to dissertations published after 1996 However access to retrospective titles continues to prove difficult This bibliography addresses some of the limitations of Dissertation Abstracts especially in uncovering works below the doctoral level and those produced in Canada's French language universities While Canadian research is accessible by title and keyword through the National Library of Canada's checklists covering the period from 1821 onwards there are few existing publications that provide abstracts Existing annotated bibliographies in the field of fine arts in Canada merely cover dissertations written prior to 1981 This book identifies 1765 theses or dissertations dealing with Canadian art or built architecture in Canada excluding studio projects and works on landscape architecture Chronologically these works cover a time span from 1924 to 1999 The bibliography is divided into 25 sections 13 dealing with art and 12 dealing with architecture Works are listed in the category considered most descriptive of content with cross references to other relevant sections Author institution and detailed subject indexes are provided along with order numbers where available All abstracts are in English although approximately 40 percent of the works included were written in French with a few in other languages

A specialized but needed resource reference work for librarians art and architecture historians and students of Canadian art and architecture
