Helmker, 1976 The Autobiography of Citizenship Tova Cooper, 2015-02-08 At the turn of the twentieth century the United States was faced with a new and radically mixed population one that included freed African Americans former reservation Indians and a burgeoning immigrant population In The Autobiography of Citizenship Tova Cooper looks at how educators tried to impose unity on this divergent population and how the new citizens in turn often resisted these efforts reshaping mainstream U S culture and embracing their own view of what it means to be an American The Autobiography of Citizenship traces how citizenship education programs began popping up all over the country influenced by the progressive approach to hands on learning popularized by John Dewey and his followers Cooper offers an insightful account of these programs enlivened with compelling readings of archival materials such as photos of students in the process of learning autobiographical writing by both teachers and new citizens and memoirs photos poems and novels by authors such as W E B Du Bois Jane Addams Charles Reznikoff and Emma Goldman Indeed Cooper provides the first comparative inside look at these citizenship programs revealing that they varied wildly at one end assimilationist boarding schools required American Indian children to transform their dress language and beliefs while at the other end the libertarian Modern School encouraged immigrant children to frolic naked in the countryside and learn about the world by walking hiking and following their whims Here then is an engaging portrait of what it was like to be and become a U S citizen one hundred years ago showing that what it means to be American is never static [The Autobiography of Charles H. The History of Neuroscience in Autobiography Volume 6 Larry R Squire, 2008-12-12 The sixth volume of The History of Neuroscience in Autobiography is a collection of autobiographical essays by notable senior scientists who discuss the major events that shaped their discoveries and their influences as well as the people who inspired them and helped shape their careers as neuroscientists Each entry also includes a complete CV so that the interested reader may see their rise through the ranks as they achieved some of the highest honors in neuroscience The Autobiography of a Teacher of French John Squair, 1928 Pain J. Moscoso, 2012-09-10 Halfway between history and philosophy this book deals with the historical forms that have permitted the understanding of human suffering from the Renaissance to the present Representation sympathy imitation coherence and narrativity are but a few of the rhetorical recourses that men and women have employed in order to feel our pain Victorian Pain Rachel Ablow, 2020-06-09 The nineteenth century introduced developments in science and medicine that made the eradication of pain conceivable for the first time This new understanding of pain brought with it a complex set of moral and philosophical dilemmas If pain serves no obvious purpose how do we reconcile its existence with a well ordered universe Examining how writers of the day engaged with such questions Victorian Pain offers a compelling new literary and philosophical history of modern pain Rachel Ablow provides close readings of novelists Charlotte Bront and Thomas Hardy and political and natural philosophers John Stuart Mill Harriet Martineau and Charles Darwin as well as a variety of medical scientific and popular writers of the Victorian age She explores how discussions of pain served as investigations into the status of persons and the nature and parameters of social life No longer conceivable as divine trial or punishment pain in the nineteenth century came to seem instead like a historical accident suggesting little or nothing about the individual who suffers A landmark study of Victorian literature and the history of pain Victorian Pain shows how these writers came to see pain as a social as well as a personal problem Rather than simply self evident to the sufferer and unknowable to anyone else pain was also understood to be produced between persons and even perhaps by the fictions they read Pain: Management, Expression, Interpretation, 2020-05-06 The Poetics and Hermeneutics of Pain and Pleasure Bootheina Majoul, Hanene Baroumi, 2022-02-02 Pain and pleasure are at the heart of human experiences and literary journeys This book takes the title of Roland Barthes's text on the pleasure of writing as a starting point for the discussion of other different worlds and cartographies of pain and pleasure Set against the Aristotelian delineation of pleasure as the major principle that should govern a literary endeavor this volume investigates alternative reflections on the themes of pleasure and pain Thinking about the ways through which expressions of pain and pleasure may affect the writer and the reader as experiences of other pursuits of the human imagination can place or displace soothe or enrage and inspire or discourage the individual search for meaning By engaging with different theories and expressions it is possible to understand what pain and pleasure have done in the history of humanity rather than merely looking at them as representations of others distant experiences This volume entails new reflections on the expressions of pain and pleasure to create new meanings for these words in a world vying for expressions of power with and without bliss Cities and the Circulation of Culture in the Atlantic World Leonard von Morzé, 2017-06-29 This book provides a much needed comparative approach to the history of cities by investigating the dissemination of cultural forms between cities of the Atlantic world The contributors attend to the various forms and norms of cultural representation in Atlantic history examining a wealth of diverse topics such as the Portuguese Atlantic the Spanish Empire Guy Fawkes and the conspiratorial rhetoric of slaves Albert Charles Wulffleff and the Parc Mus e of Dakar and the writings of Jane Austen Alexis de Tocqueville Benjamin Franklin and others By interpreting Atlantic urban history through sustained attention to customs and representational forms an international group of nine contributors demonstrate the power of culture in the making of Atlantic urban experience even as they acknowledge the harsh realities of economic history The Autobiography of Science Forest Ray Moulton, Justus Julius Schiffes, 1945
