Songs from the Black Chair Charles Barber, 2007-03-01 Day after day night after night desperate men come to sit in the black chair next to Charles Barber's desk in a basement office at Bellevue and tell of their travails of prison and disease of violence and the voices that plague them Between the stories amid the peeling paint musty odor and flickering fluorescent light of his office Barber observes that this isn't really where he is supposed to be and reveals his privileged youth in contrast to his own nightmare of mental illness By relating these troubled lives to his own Barber illuminates some of the most disturbing and enduring truths of human nature The British Barbershopper Liz Garnett, 2017-07-05 Barbershop singing is a distinctive and under documented facet of Britain's musical landscape Imported from the USA in the 1960s it has developed into an active and highly organized musical community characterized by strong social support structures and a proselytizing passion for its particular style This style is defined within the community in largely music theoretical terms and is both highly prescriptive and continually contested but there is also a host of performance traditions that articulate barbershop's identity as a distinct and specific genre Liz Garnett documents and analyses the social and musical practices of this specialized community of music makers and extends this analysis to theorize the relationship between music and self identity The book engages with a range of sociological and musicological theoretical frameworks in order to explore the role of harmony ritual sexual politics performance styles and tag singing in barbershop This analysis shows how musical style and cultural discourses can be seen to interact in the formation of identity Garnett provides the first in depth scholarly insight into the British barbershop community and contributes to ongoing debates in the semiotics and the sociology of music
