Cold War cartography Timothy Barney considers maps as central to the articulation of ideological tensions between American national interests and international aspirations Barney argues that the borders scales projections and other conventions of maps prescribed and constrained the means by which foreign policy elites popular audiences and social activists navigated conflicts between North and South East and West Maps also influenced how identities were formed in a world both shrunk by advancing technologies and marked by expanding and shifting geopolitical alliances and fissures Pointing to the necessity of how politics and values were spatialized in recent U S history Barney argues that Cold War era maps themselves had rhetorical lives that began with their conception and production and played out in their circulation within foreign policy circles and popular media Reflecting on the ramifications of spatial power during the period Mapping the Cold War ultimately demonstrates that even in the twenty first century American visions of the world and the maps that account for them are inescapably rooted in the anxieties of that earlier era

The Aymara W.J. Schull,F. Rothhammer,2012-12-06 South America s Andean highlands have seen the rise and decline of several impressive indigenous civilizations Separated somewhat in time and place each developed its distinctive socio cultural accouterments but all shared a need to adjust to the individual societal and environmental limitations imposed by life at high altitude Partial oxygen pressure temperature and humidity fall systematically as altitude rises but there are other changes as well Darwin Forbes von Humboldt von Tschudi and other naturalists of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries who weaved their way through South America commented repeatedly on the tolerance or apparent indifference of the indigenes to the rigors of life at altitudes above 3000 meters but its impact upon lowlanders Von Tschudi 1847 for example observed in the cordillera the effect of the diminished atmospheric pressure on the human frame shows itself in intolerable symptoms of weariness and an extreme difficulty of breathing The first symptoms are usually felt at the elevation of 12 600 feet 3800 m above the sea These symptoms are vertigo dimness of sight and hearing pains in the head and nausea Inhabitants of the coast and Europeans who for the first time visit the lofty regions of the cordillera are usually attacked with this disorder But von Tschudi s description of acute mountain sickness was hardly the first his Spanish predecessors had known and commented upon it too

Famine John R.K. Robson,2023-03-31 In Famine 1981 a collection of essays by experts from the developing world and advanced agricultural societies the authors share their ecological perspectives and provide an insight into the multiple causes of famine They examine the fact that the main cause of famine is more likely to be as a result of human actions rather than the vagaries of climate and look at whether planned intervention by governments and relief agencies may compound the problems already existing International Labour Documentation International Labour Office. Central Library and Documentation Branch,1977 Slave Populations of the British Caribbean, 1807-1834 B. W. Higman,1995 Reprint of work that originally appeared in 1984 Excellent and thorough treatment of major demographic aspects of British Caribbean slavery from abolition of slave trade to slave emancipation Draws heavily on extensive data available from slave registration returns for various islands to provide comparative perspective of nature of slave life Excellent tables and figures Essential for serious scholars of the region Handbook of Latin American Studies v 58 Latin America and the Caribbean International Monetary Fund Library,Joint Bank-Fund Library,1976 Agricultural Policy And Collective Self-reliance In The Caribbean W. Andrew Axline,2019-03-13 Focusing on the process of agricultural policy making within the Caribbean Community and Common Market CARICOM this book provides a context for understanding the evolving theory of regional integration among developing countries Dr Axline traces the progress of Caribbean integration from its beginnings in the mid 1960s to its present state of stagnation Drawing on original documents and extensive interviews in the twelve CARICOM member countries he describes the move away from a market oriented laissez faire approach to agriculture and the shift toward sectoral programming The role of other regional organizations such as the Caribbean Development Bank and the Caribbean Agricultural Research and Development Institute is examined and related to national and regional policies in the agricultural sector The Caribbean experience concludes Dr Axline suggests that the future direction of regional cooperation among developing countries will likely be toward more intensive integration on a less extensive scale Basic Concepts of World Nutrition Elizabeth Selke Hensley,1981 Abstract Anthropological physiological geographical socioeconomic and psychological aspects of nutrition and basic concepts that interrelate with nutrition the world over are presented for students in both nutrition and nonnutrition areas The global malnutrition and starvation crisis is reviewed Material covered includes an historical perspective of man and diet basic nutrition concepts major nutritional diseases hunger and starvation geographic economic and physiopsychologic aspects of nutrition and attempts to alleviate malnutrition and hunger The 1974 World Food Conference recommended that food and nutrition be included in national development plans aimed at the elimination of hunger in the 1980s Looking towards this potential the integration of various social physical and biological aspects of food intake should reinforce understanding of the basic concepts of world nutrition wz The Publishers' Trade List Annual ,1989 Medical Books and Serials in Print ,1984
