The Emperor's New Clothes

Once upon a time, there was an Emperor who adored having new clothes. He loved them so much that he spent hundreds of different outfits and was always proudly looking for new clothes to add to his collection.

One day, two strangers arrived at the palace, promising him they could make him new clothes that would make him the envy of others. As he was always searching for the next trend, he ordered for them to be made.

Working hard for weeks, the two strangers created clothes for the Emperor secretly. The Emperor grew impatient and demanded to see the new creations.

One of the strangers presented the new outfit saying, "Don't you think they are splendid?" The Emperor was baffled as he could not see anything. The other stranger told the Emperor that the clothes were very beautiful and only the clearest people could see them. He said that the clothes were too fine to be seen by foolish or ignorant people. "Of course," replied the Emperor, not wanting to appear foolish or ignorant. "They are the finest clothes I have ever seen!"

The men requested more money in order for the clothes to be ready for the parade. The Emperor agreed to pay them as he wanted the whole kingdom to see them.

On the day of the parade, the two strangers presented the Emperor with his new clothes, telling him that everybody would admire him. The palace staff knew that the clothes could not be seen by foolish people and so they too complimented the Emperor.

At the parade, crowds gathered to see the Emperor and his new clothes as he marched on the streets. They all commented on his lovely outfit.

Suddenly, a boy shouted, "The Emperor isn't wearing any clothes!" All the crowd agreed with him and laughed. The Emperor panicked but carried on the way. He was too proud to admit he had been fooled.
