The Arts In Schools Principles Practice And Provision:

The Arts in Schools Ken Robinson, 1982-01-01 This book argues the case for the arts in schools and considers the consequent implications and conclusions It maintains that schools must develop broader nor narrower curricula and that the arts have an important place within this approach

The Arts in Schools Fundação Calouste Gulbenkian (Londres, Grã-Bretanha), 1982

The Arts in Schools Peter Brinson, 1993 International Handbook of Research in Arts Education Liora Bresler, 2007-09-04 Providing a distillation of knowledge in the various disciplines of arts education dance drama music literature and poetry and visual arts the Handbook synthesizes existing research literature helps define the past and contributes to shaping the substantive and methodological future of the respective and integrated disciplines of arts education While research can at times seem distant from practice the Handbook aims to maintain connection with the lived practice of art and of education capturing the vibrancy and best thinking in the field of theory and practice The Handbook is organized into 13 sections each centering on a major area or issue in arts education research These areas include History of arts education curriculum evaluation cultural centers appreciation composition informal learning child culture creativity the body spirituality and technology The individual chapters address cross cultural research related to the central theme of the section from the perspectives of the particular arts discipline Interludes provide reflective thoughts on the theme

The Arts in the Primary School Rod Taylor, Glennis Andrews, 2012-05-04 Firmly based on the authors personal experience this book tackles a wide range of issues relating to the teaching of the arts in the primary school The authors illustrate how primary children of all ages can be educated to both know about and to practice all the major art forms and how a school staff can effectively accommodate and practice them all even within the constraints of the National Curriculum This book is unique in primary school education terms as its primary focus is specific and it embraces every major art form dance drama literature music visual arts and film

The Arts in Education Mike Fleming, 2013-07-03 Do the arts improve academic achievement What does it mean to teach art What should the balance of classic and pop be in the music curriculum Should we encourage young children on the stage How do we judge whether what a child produces is good How do we justify the arts in the curriculum What should be the balance between form and content when teaching art The arts in education inspire considerable commitment and passion However this is not always matched by clarity of understanding In this book Mike Fleming introduces the reader to key theoretical questions associated with arts education and clearly explains how these are related to practice It offers an authoritative account of how ideas relevant to education are addressed by key authors in aesthetics art theory and cultural studies Covering all aspects of arts education the book considers definitions and theories of art influences on teaching the arts researching the arts teaching and learning creativity assessment Throughout the book there are examples of practice to illustrate key ideas and a discussion of useful background texts with a summary of content and arguments for further exploration Written by a leading authority in the field it is essential reading for students on Arts

PGCE and M Level courses teachers of the arts and policy developers that require more understanding and insight into their practice Creative Schools Ken Robinson, Lou Aronica, 2016-04-19 At a time when standardized testing businesses are raking in huge profits when many schools are struggling and students and educators everywhere are suffering under the strain Ken Robinson argues for an end to our outmoded industrial educational system He proposes instead a highly personalized organic approach that draws on today's unprecedented technological and professional resources to engage all students develop their love of learning and enable them to face the real challenges of the twenty first century Filled with anecdotes observations and recommendations from professionals on the front line of transformative education case histories and groundbreaking research Creative Schools aims to inspire teachers parents and policy makers alike to rethink the real nature and purpose of education

Reflective Practices in Arts Education Pamela Burnard, Sarah Hennessy, 2006-08-12 It is an exciting time to be an artist and artist educator Networks of schools and artists are being motivated by arts partnerships a relatively new phenomenon in a field which whilst disparate in its character and practice is marked by a common intention to respond effectively and critically to politically driven agendas of accountability school improvement and pupil attainment More than ever artists and educators alike have begun to realise the need to develop practices which offer the development of artist educator pedagogies as agencies for change and political action Understanding the function of reflective practice the conditions which support it and its impact on learning are addressed throughout this book We hope that the book will motivate readers with a diversity of interests and needs to engage in reflections of their own professional practices and of the practices of the communities in which they work This book is about reflection The thesis about the field it covers and major premise of this book is that reflection matters at every turn in arts engagement and even more so in educational settings where artist educators share a passion for facilitating and understanding the how of learners engagement with particular art forms It aims to show ways in which reflection can inform and transform practice in terms of what when and how reflection is embodied in arts engagement The Routledge Companion to Arts Marketing Daragh O'Reilly, Ruth Rentschler, Theresa A. Kirchner, 2013-12-17 The relationship between the arts and marketing has been growing ever more complex as the proliferation of new technologies and social media has opened up new forms of communication This book covers the broad and involved relationship between the arts and marketing It frames arts marketing in the context of wider related issues such as the creative and cultural industries cultural policy and arts funding developments in the different art forms and the impact of environmental forces on arts business models and markets The Routledge Companion to Arts Marketing provides a comprehensive up to date reference guide that incorporates current analyses of arts marketing topics by leaders of academic research in the field As such it will be a key resource for the next generation of arts marketing scholars and teachers and will constitute the single most authoritative guide on the subject internationally

Medical Humanities and Medical Education Alan Bleakley, 2015-03-02 The field of the medical humanities is developing rapidly however there has also been parallel concern from sceptics that the value of medical humanities educational interventions should be open to scrutiny and evidence Just what is the impact of medical humanities provision upon the education of medical students In an era of limited resources is such provision worth the investment This innovative text addresses these pressing questions describes the contemporary territory comprising the medical humanities in medical education and explains how this field may be developed as a key medical education component for the future Bleakley a driving force of the international movement to establish the medical humanities as a core and integrated provision in the medical curriculum proposes a model that requires collaboration between patients artists humanities scholars doctors and other health professionals in developing medical students sensibility clinical acumen based on close noticing and sensitivity ethical professional and humane practice In particular this text focuses upon how medical humanities input into the curriculum can help to shape the identities of medical students as future doctors who are humane caring expressive and creative whose work will be technically sound but considerably enhanced by their abilities to communicate well with patients and colleagues to empathise to be adaptive and innovative and to act as medical citizens in shaping a future medical culture as a model democracy where social justice is a key aspect of medicine Making sense of the new wave of medical humanities in medical education scholarship that calls for a critical medical humanities Medical Humanities and Medical Education incorporates a range of case studies and illustrative and practical examples to aid integrating medical humanities into the medical curriculum It will be important reading for medical educators and others working with the medical education community and all those interested in the medical humanities

Art for Social Change and Cultural Awakening Wei Hsiu Tung, 2013-09-05 Artistic residency has become widely adopted in Western countries while only recently having become popular and well supported within Taiwan This book explores the challenges that this form of art practice faced in contemporary Taiwan from the revocation of Martial Law in 1987 to the 2000s arguably one of the most exciting periods in the sociocultural history of the island Case studies show what is at stake politically historically and socially in artists endeavours to give shape to a sense of Taiwanese identity Despite the prevalence of artists engaged in social issues in today's world and the undeniable contributions of artistic residency to contemporary art practice little literature or scholarly research has been conducted on the practical conceptual and ideological aspects of artist residency Very often it is perceived in very narrow terms overlooking explicit or hidden issues of localism nationalism and globalization If artistic residence did indeed emerge from the radical movements of the 1960s and 70s in the Western world and especially Britain then this book argues that the contemporary sociocultural context of Taiwan calls for redefined culturally specific models of residency The precarious geo political situation of Taiwan has made issues of cultural identity tackled by artists and successive governments alike very sensitive A new genre of artistic residence in Taiwan would mean that artists involved from whatever cultural background operate as engaging interpreters their roles would not be confined to mirroring culture and society These artists in residence would contribute to cultural awakening by offering ways of negotiating creatively with otherness and this for the sake of a better social life and shared identity
