Klokke, 2022-06-13 The question how has ancient India's incredibly rich literary heritage been visually represented forms the centerpiece of this latest volume in Brill's series Studies in Asian Art and Archaeology Due to the overwhelming impression made by the texts themselves the relationship between text and image has until now never received the attention it deserves Numerous temples though not only in South Asia but also in Southeast Asia carry the images of India's great narratives Special attention is given to those in Karnataka India Java Indonesia Angkor Cambodia and Tra Kieu Vietnam The work discusses theoretical aspects provides new interpretations and proposes innovative interpretations through advanced comparative and contextual approaches Abia South and Southeast Asian Art and Archaeology Index Karel R. Van Kooij, 2018-10-24 This volume is the first tangible result of an international project initiated by the International Institute for Asian Studies IIAS with the aim of compiling a bibliographic database documenting publications on South and Southeast Asian art and archaeology The bibliographic information over 1 300 records extracted from the database forms the principal part of this publication It is preceded by a list of periodicals consulted and followed by three types of indexes which help users to find their way in the ABIA South and Southeast Asian Art and Archaeology Index ABIA Index The detailed bibliographic descriptions controlled keywords and many elucidating annotations make this reference work into an indispensable guide to recent scholarly work on the prehistory and arts of South Southeast Asia Pedagogical Reckoning: Decolonizing and Degendering the Art Historical Canon in the Classroom and Museum Sooran Choi, Gillian Greenhill Hannum, 2025-09-02 Pedagogical Reckoning Decolonizing and Decentering the Art Historical Canon in the Classroom and Museum brings together leading voices in art history museum studies and pedagogy to confront the Eurocentric and patriarchal foundations of traditional art historical education. This timely anthology provides a range of actionable strategies for reshaping curricula, exhibitions, and research through the lenses of decoloniality, gender justice, and global inclusion. Edited by Sooran Choi and Gillian Greenhill Hannum, the volume includes contributions from scholars, artists, and educators across institutional contexts, from large research universities to community colleges and art schools. Its chapters span three key areas: inclusive classroom pedagogy, critical museum and curatorial practice, and decolonial research methodologies. Essays explore intersectional frameworks informed by postcolonial theory, feminist critique, queer studies, and ethnic studies, while also providing practical tools such as sample assignments, case studies, and curatorial models. Uniquely, this anthology integrates scholarly analysis with pedagogical reflection, offering readers both conceptual frameworks and concrete applications. It builds on recent literature such as Teaching South and Southeast Asian Art and Expanding the Parameters of Feminist Activism, while extending the conversation through its focus on classroom agency, community-responsive teaching, and institutional reckoning. Ideal for art history instructors, museum professionals, and students in anthropology, cultural studies, and education, Pedagogical Reckoning serves as both a critical resource and a methodological guide. It is suitable for classroom adoption, professional development, and curriculum planning, and will appeal to anyone committed to transforming the way we teach, curate, and write about art. The Year One Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), 2000. More than 150 works of art that exemplify all these societies at the Year One are illustrated in color and explained in this volume. Historical summaries accompanied by maps briefly describe the nature of each culture and the flow of power and peoples during the period centering around the Year One. Tree and Serpent: Early Buddhist Art in India John S. Guy, 2023-07-17. A pioneering study of the emergence of Buddhist art in southern India, featuring vibrant photography of rare works, many published here for the first time. Named for two primary motifs in Buddhist art, the sacred bodhi tree and the protective snake, Tree and Serpent: Early Buddhist Art in India is the first publication to foreground devotional works produced in the Deccan from 200 BCE to 400 CE. Unlike traditional narratives which focus on northern India where the Buddha was born, taught, and died, this groundbreaking book presents Buddhist art from monastic sites in the south. Long neglected, this is among the earliest surviving bodies of Buddhist art and among the most sublimely beautiful. An international team of researchers contributes new scholarship on the sculptural and devotional art associated with Buddhism, and masterpieces from recently excavated Buddhist sites are published here for the first time, including Kanaganahalli and Phanigiri, the most important new discoveries in a generation. With its exploration of Buddhism's emergence in southern India, as well as of India's deep commercial and cultural engagement with the Hellenized and Roman worlds, this definitive study expands our understanding of the origins of Buddhist art itself. Interpreting Southeast Asia's Past Peter Sharrock, Ian C. Glover, Elizabeth A. Bacus, 2008-01-01. Interpreting Southeast Asia's Past Monument Image and Text features 31 papers read at the 10th International Conference of the European Association of Southeast Asian Archaeologists held in London in September 2004 The volume covers monumental arts sculpture and painting epigraphy and heritage management across mainland Southeast Asia and as far south as Indonesia New research on monumental arts includes chapters on the Bayon of Angkor and the great brick temple sites of Champa There is an article discussing the purpose of making and erecting sacred sculptures in the ancient world and accounts of research on the sacred art of Burma Thailand and southern China including the first study of the few surviving Saiva images in Burma of a spectacular find of bronze Mahayana Buddhas and of the sculpted bronzes of the Dian culture New research on craft goods and crafting techniques deals with ancient Khmer materials including recently discovered ceramic kiln sites the sandstone sources of major Khmer sculptures and the rare remaining traces of paint plaster and stucco on stone and brick buildings More widely distributed goods also receive attention including Southeast Asian glass beads and there are contributions on Southeast Asian heritage and conservation including research on Angkor as a living World Heritage site and discussion of a UNESCO project on the stone jars of the Plain of Jars in Laos that combines recording safeguarding bomb clearance and eco tourism development

The ^AOxford Handbook of Early Southeast Asia C.F.W. Higham,Nam C. Kim,2022-01-11 This handbook collects expert surveys of the prehistory of Southeast Asia a two millennial span that began with the arrival of now extinct humans and ended with the great civilization of Angkor 9th to 15th century

Research-Based Art Practices in Southeast Asia Caroline Ha Thuc,2022-10-05 This book is the first overall study of research based art practices in Southeast Asia Its objective is to examine the creative and mutual entanglement of academic and artistic research in short the Why When What and How of research based art practices in the region In Southeast Asia artists are increasingly engaged in research based art practices involving academic research processes They work as historians archivists archaeologists or sociologists in order to produce knowledge and or to challenge the current established systems of knowledge production As artists they can freely draw on academic research methodologies and at the same time question or divert them for their own artistic purpose The outcome of their research findings is exhibited as an artwork and is not published or presented in an academic format This book seeks to demonstrate the emancipatory dimension of these practices which contribute to opening up our conceptions of knowledge and of art bestowing a new and promising role to the artists within the society
