The Asian Elephant An Action Plan For Its Conservation

Cracid Specialist Group

The Asian Elephant An Action Plan For Its Conservation:

The Asian Elephant Peter Jackson, 1990 This Action Plan considers elephant populations across Asia on the basis of size and provides recommendations to enhance their long term survival It also considers the management of elephants in captivity Given that the basis for improved management of elephants throughout Asia must be sound systematic scientific research the Action Plan recommends a number of research projects that need to be carried out in the field Curassows, Guans and Chachalacas Cracid Specialist Group, 2000 Curassaows Guans and Chachalacas Status Survey and Conservation Action Plan for Cracids 2000 200 Antelopes David P. Mallon, Steven Charles Kingswood, 2001 Antelope herds numbering in the tens of thousands formerly occurred across the steppes and semideserts of Eurasia and India but these have nearly all been reduced to fractions of their earlier size antelope populations are now fragmented across the region and during recent decades several species have disappeared altogether Threats include hunting loss of habitat population fragmentation inadequate protected area coverage poorly developed administrative structures under resourcing of conservation programmes and lack of enforcement of existing legislation Rising human population growth and economic development constantly increases pressure on land and natural resources There is a consequent need for integrated rural development and community based conservation projects which have the full participation of local people at the planning and execution stages This publication Part 4 of the Global Antelope Survey covers 37 countries in the region and actions to conserve antelope populations are listed in each country report Poaching and Militancy Binoy Kumar Behera, 2019-01-24 The Asian elephant is an endangered species due to its relentless poaching mainly for ivory However unlike the African elephant whose both males and females are tusk bearers in Asian elephants only males bear tusk This has resulted in their selective killing and has not only led to an alarming fall in their number but impacted the sex ratio This book critically examines this problem and addresses the issue of human elephant conflict It studies the four elephant zones of the country with specific focus on Odisha which is home to a large population of elephants in the central Indian zone It also ponders on the possibility of the existence of a well developed network supporting organized poaching and armed militancy which applies to the central African countries as well Elephant Tourism in Nepal Michelle Szydlowski, 2024-02-01 A study of elephant tourism in Nepal from its origins in the 1960s to the present day this book examines the challenges faced by captive elephants Used as human conveyance on anti poaching patrol teams as rescue vehicles and in forestry service elephants have worked with and for humans for hundreds of years However the use of elephants in tourism is a fairly new development within Nepal Because the health and welfare of tourism elephants is vital to the conservation of wild individuals this book offers an assessment of captive elephant needs and an examination of their existing welfare statuses This book seeks to examine the motivations of these NGOs and INGOs and to consider their ethical approaches to elephant health and welfare Are the motivations of these organizations similar enough to work together towards a common goal or are their ethical norms so different that they get in one another's way Using an ordinary language and ethics framework this text aims to identify the norms of cultures and organisations and reframe them in ways which may allow for more successful interactions

Conserving Biological Diversity Susan M. Braatz, 1992-01-01 Loss of biological diversity through the extinction of species the conversion and degradation of natural habitats and the disruption of ecological processes is occurring throughout the world at an unprecedented rate As species and their habitats disappear so do products of present and future value genes with which to improve crop varieties and livestock and the natural resiliencies of the world's living resources to respond to climatic and environmental change Nowhere else is the loss of biodiversity expected to be higher during the coming decades than in the Asia Pacific region The loss of biodiversity is irreversible Recognizing this the Asia Environment Division prepared this paper which is intended to identify priority areas of investment in the Asia Pacific region The paper accepts the importance of biodiversity conservation and suggests that policy change coupled with the establishment of protected area systems will be critical to success A wide range of interventions will be needed to support these efforts toward conserving biodiversity interventions involving national and local governments national and international nongovernmental organizations and most importantly local people The strategy defined in this paper is intended to complement existing national and international initiatives and to build partnerships in conservation for the 1990s

Southeast Asian Ecocriticism John Charles Ryan, 2017-11-08 Southeast Asian Ecocriticism presents a timely exploration of the rapidly expanding field of ecocriticism through its devotion to the writers creators theorists traditions concerns and landscapes of Southeast Asian countries While ecocritics have begun to turn their attention to East and South Asian contexts and particularly to Chinese and Indian cultural productions less emphasis has been placed on the diverse environmental traditions of Southeast Asia Building on recent scholarship in Asian ecocriticism the book gives prominence to the range of theoretical models and practical approaches employed by scholars based within and located outside of the Southeast region Consisting of twelve chapters Southeast Asian Ecocriticism includes contributions on the ecological prose poetry cinema and music of Indonesia Malaysia Myanmar the Philippines Thailand and Vietnam The authors emphasize the transnational exchanges of materials technologies texts motifs and ideas between Southeast Asian countries and Australia England Taiwan Formosa and the United States From environmental hermeneutics postcolonial studies indigenous studies and ecofeminism to critical plant studies ecopoetics and ecopedagogy the edited collection embodies the dynamic breadth of interdisciplinary environmental scholarship today Southeast Asian Ecocriticism foregrounds the theories practices and prospects of ecocriticism in the region The volume opens up new directions and reveals fresh possibilities not only for ecocritical scholarship in Southeast Asia but for a comparative environmental criticism that transcends political boundaries and national canons The volume highlights the important role of literature in heightening awareness of ecological issues at local regional and global scales

Terrestrial Ecoregions of the Indo-Pacific Eric D. Wikramanayake, 2002 Terrestrial Ecoregions of the Indo Pacific offers a comprehensive examination of the state of the Indo Pacific s biodiversity and habitats moving beyond endangered or charismatic species to quantify for the first time the number of mammal and bird species including endemics in each ecoregion

Communicating in the Anthropocene C. Vail Fletcher, Alexa M. Dare, 2021-02-04 The purpose of Communicating in the Anthropocene Intimate Relations is to tell a different story about the world Humans especially those raised in Western traditions have long told stories about themselves as individual protagonists who act with varying degrees of free will against a background of mute supporting characters and inert landscapes Humans can be either saviors or destroyers but our actions are explained and judged again and again as emanating from the individual And yet as the coronavirus pandemic has made clear humans are unavoidably interconnected not only with other humans but with nonhuman and more than human others with whom we share space and time Why do so many of us humans avoid deny or resist a view of the world where our lives are made possible maybe even made richer through connection In this volume we suggest a view of communication as intimacy We use this concept as a provocation for thinking about how we humans are in an always already state of being in relation with other humans nonhumans and the land

Environmental Winds Michael J. Hathaway, 2013-07-26 This is an ethnography of globalization with particular attention paid to how global environmentalism has been reshaping rural China over the past two decades and how activities in that country have in turn reshaped global environmentalism itself The book challenges the notion that globalized social formations emerged solely in the Global North prior to impacting the Global South Instead such formations have been constituted transformed and propelled through diverse site specific social interactions that complicate and defy divisions between global and local The book brings the reader into the lives of Chinese scientists officials villagers and expatriate conservationists who were caught up in environmental trends over the past 25 years Hathaway reveals how global environmentalism has been enacted and altered in China often with unanticipated effects such as the rise of indigenous rights or the reconfiguration of human animal relationships fostering what rural villagers will refer to as the revenge of wild elephants

Intended audience Undergrad and grad courses in Chinese Anthropology Chinese history Environmental Studies environmental history global environment global studies Wildlife Ecotourism in Indonesia Jatna Supriatna, 2025-07-01

Wildlife tourism has long been a significant and popular sector It widespread a substantial contribution to biodiversity conservation First it generates direct income from tourists through entrance fees taxes and other sources Second it provides alternative income for communities surrounding tourism areas Third it offers a basis for environmental activists to advocate for the preservation of Indonesia s biodiversity Fourth it supports both central and regional governments in developing sustainable and continuous areas Fifth it creates economically based activities in conservation regions for the private sector involved in biodiversity conservation Thus nature tourism is often regarded as sustainable development that effectively balances environmental social and economic aspects The Asian Elephant R. Sukumar, 1992

This ecological analysis of elephant human interaction and its implications for the conservation of Asian elephants includes recommendations on conservation and management taking into consideration the socio economic characteristics of the Asian region
