Literary Alan Singer, 2023-08-23 Attending to the Literary The Distinctiveness of Literature is a foray into current debates about the nature of the literary What is literary Is literarity a thing Are there still aesthetic standards of taste Is the category of literary aesthetics an obstacle to understanding the uses of literature What does it mean to count the reading of literature as an experience in its own right What would be the deficits to human experience without literature Attending to the Literary addresses all of these questions with a view to challenging the notion of literarity as merely representative of experience On the contrary Alan Singer shows how literarity is an enacting of experience Through close readings of an eclectic repertoire of literary sentences culled from the genres of fiction poetry and drama Singer demonstrates how syntax stages human capacities for attending ever more consequentially to the world of practical experience These stagings of forms of attention involve readers in the drama of reason giving and expand the possibilities of rational imagination Attending to the Literary speaks to a broad audience of readers for whom the question Does literature matter remains an urgent intellectual challenge

Your Mind is a Treasure! Imoukhuede Moses Idehai, 2013-11 Embedded in the soul and renowned for its versatility the mind interfaces between the spirit and the body and in the process determines the outcome of the twosome It operates optimally on divinely gifted keys which unlocks its abounding treasures However by reason of its abuse these keys can be lost misplaced or stolen The ensuing consequences are misery chaos and finally death Its discovery and right application births life anew and leads to the recovery for divine exploits in congruence with life's purpose Ostensibly written using a very practical approach Your Mind Is a Treasure captures the place of the mind in the quest for self discovery and workability in the universal space It targets using the instrumentality of the mind to achieve quintessential excellence based on biblical principles Also it expounds on the potency of the mind and its pivotal essence in the attainment and sustenance of good success in life It is a book that speaks to your mind In the Mind's Eye Mary A. Peterson, Barbara Gillam, H. A. Sedgwick, 2007-01-04 How can we best describe the processes by which we visually perceive our environment Contemporary perceptual theory still lacks a coherent theoretical position that encompasses both the limitations on the information that can be retained from a single eye fixation and the abundant phenomenal and behavioral evidence for the perception of an extended and coherent world As a result many leading theorists and researchers in visual perception are turning with new or renewed interest to the work of Julian Hochberg For over 50 years in his own experimental research in his detailed consideration of examples drawn from a wide range of visual experiences and activities and most of all in his brilliant and sophisticated theoretical analyses Hochberg has persistently engaged with the myriad problems inherent in working out the kind of coherent theoretical position the field currently lacks The complexity of his thought and the wide range of areas into which Hochberg has pursued the solution to this central problem have however limited both the accessibility of his work and the appreciation of his accomplishment In this volume we seek to bring the full range of Hochberg's work to the attention of a wider audience by offering a selection of his key works many taken from out of print or relatively inaccessible sources To facilitate the understanding of his accomplishment and of what his work has to offer to contemporary researchers and theorists in visual perception we include commentaries on salient aspects of his work by 20 noted researchers In the Mind's Eye will be of interest to researchers working on topics such as perceptual organization visual attention space perception motion perception visual cognition the relationship between perception and action picture perception and film who are striving to obtain a deeper understanding of their own fields and who want to integrate this understanding into a broader unified view of visual perceptual processing

The Available Mind Carol R. Murphy, 1974-01 Making Minds Petra Hauf, Friedrich Försterling, 2007-01-01 Social stimuli are important proximate determinants of human thought action and behaviour But does the social environment also have deeper profounder and possibly more distal impact on more lasting psychological structures and forms generalizing across time and domains such as traits self consciousness abilities and talents This volume takes an interdisciplinary approach to the question of if how and how far the mind is socially fabricated Philosophical contributions address conceptual tools for analyses of how person perceivers shape the psychological structures of the person perceived Social psychologists consider some of the more local mechanisms of mind making including self fulfilling prophecies attributions and self verification Moreover they address the dramatic consequences of being ostracised From a clinical perspective it is investigated how patients immediate social environment e.g. the family impacts on schizophrenic relapse In addition developmental psychologists report on investigations of the role of social factors e.g. imitative learning for the development of the social self Finally an ethological perspective demonstrates the susceptibility of animals to social stimuli These papers were previously published as Interaction Studies 6.1 and 6.3 2005

Success in my hands, The Computational Theory of Mind Matteo Colombo, Gualtiero Piccinini, 2023-11-29 The Computational Theory of Mind says that the mind is a computing system It has a long history going back to the idea that thought is a kind of computation Its modern incarnation relies on analogies with contemporary computing technology and the use of computational models It comes in many versions some more plausible than others This Element supports the theory primarily by its contribution to solving the mind-body problem its ability to explain mental phenomena and the success of computational modelling and artificial intelligence To be turned into an adequate theory it needs to be made compatible with the tractability of cognition the situatedness and dynamical aspects of the mind the way the brain works intentionality and consciousness

The Batting Doctor's Cricket Wisdom The Batting Doctor, 2013-03-09 With 50 years of passionate involvement in cricket extensive effort to constantly understand and improve what I do insightful exploration of such things as ancient Chinese and Japanese texts as well as modern psychology concepts I have developed my own philosophies and ways of doing things in cricket Many of these ways are unique to me and opposite to conventional instruction Whilst my hearing memory and physical condition are all in decline the satisfaction gained from understanding what motivates and can improve an individual remains a major source of inspiration Often I have observed people with extraordinary talent give up just short of what they could achieve yet others with less talent but with an indomitable spirit continue on and reap the rewards of success Why does this happen We simply have not been educated in how to harness and use our thinking minds wisely The result is that our efforts in life are often hit or miss Importantly the WISDOM contained in my book can help my readers better identify connect with and meet the challenges that their involvement in cricket will bring

The Mind's Provisions Vincent Descombes, 2010-01-24 Vincent Descombes brings together an astonishingly large body of philosophical and anthropological thought to present a thoroughgoing critique of contemporary cognitivism and to develop a powerful new philosophy of the mind Beginning with a critical examination of American cognitivism and French structuralism Descombes launches a more general critique of all philosophies that view the mind in strictly causal terms and suppose that the brain and not the person thinks Providing a broad historical perspective Descombes draws surprising links between cognitivism and earlier anthropological projects such as L vi Strauss s work on the symbolic status of myths He identifies as incoherent both the belief that mental states are detached from the world and the idea that states of mind are brain states these assumptions beg the question of the relation between mind and brain In place of cognitivism Descombes offers an anthropologically based theory of mind that emphasizes the mind s collective nature Drawing on Wittgenstein he maintains that mental acts are properly attributed to the person not the brain and that states of mind far from being detached from the world require a historical and cultural context for their very intelligibility Available in English for the first time this is the most outstanding work of one of France s finest contemporary philosophers It provides a much needed link between the continental and Anglo American traditions and its impact will extend beyond philosophy to anthropology psychology critical theory and French studies
