THE BALTIC STATES

Years of Dependence, 1940-1980

By Romuald J. Misiunas and Rein Taagepera

In 1940, as a result of its non-aggression pact with Nazi Germany, the Soviet Union occupied and annexed the three Baltic states: Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania. They had been a part of the Russian Empire since the eighteenth century, achieving political independence in 1918. Some observers thought political annexation in 1940 would result in the eventual assimilation of each state's social and cultural identity. While such predictions are still being voiced in the 1980s, the three national cultures have demonstrated a remarkable resilience in the face of Soviet domination.

This book describes and analyzes the contradiction of political dependence and cultural autonomy in the Baltic nations since their annexation. Four broad periods are identified. German and Soviet occupation dominated the war years (1940-1945). Post-war Stalinism (1945-1953) involved guerrilla resistance, collectivization through deportation, industrialization with imported labor, a build-up of native Communist parties, and the destruction of national cultures. During and after the Khrushchev thaw (1954-1968), there appeared a powerful reemergence of the three national cultures, economic improvement, and an abortive struggle for political autonomy. Contradictory trends have continued since 1968: increasingly centralized political and economic control by Moscow, westernization of culture and life-style, continuing attempts at russification through immigration and cultural imposition, consumerism accompanied by sporadic food shortages.

The Baltic States Years Of Dependence 1940 80:

The Baltic States, Years of Dependence, 1940-1980 Romuald J. Misiunas, Rein Taagepera, 1983-01-01 Geschiedenis van Estland Letland en Litauen The Baltic States Romuald J. Misiunas, Rein Taagepera, 1993 Describes and analyzes how the Baltic nations survived 50 years of social disruption language discrimination and Russian colonialism and the effect of the Baltic states stubborn invincibility on the Soviet Union The history of Estonia Latvia and Lithuania are integrated and compared The Baltic John Fitzmaurice, 2016-07-27 This book examines the historical political cultural and economic links between the littoral states of the Baltic sea and seeks to analyse what it is that has created a strong sense of regional identity within the area that has enabled the area to survive conflicts external to the region that have been projected onto the region Thus this sense of identity now forms the basis for future regional cooperation that could be a significant factor for stability in the region The Baltic States Graham Smith, 2016-07-27 The Baltic States examines the struggles of the Baltic peoples for national self determination It is divided into two parts Part one explores their nationalist awakening how the realization of national self determination during the inter war years of independent statehood manifested itself and the impact that fifty years of subsequent incorporation into the Soviet Union has had on Baltic politics and national cultures Part two examines the nationalist reawakening in the late 1980s the re establishment of Baltic national self governance in 1990 91 and the problems that these countries now face as sovereign entities The Baltic World 1772-1993 David Kirby, 2014-07-15 This eagerly awaited sequel shares the characteristics of its distinguished predecessor wide geographical and chronological span expert mingling of political social and economic history and Dr Kirby s ability to keep the separate national threads of his account from tangling as he weaves them into the broad regional picture that is his main concern Here he tackles the contrasting experiences of Europe s northern periphery affluence and democracy in the north stagnation and authoritarianism in the south from the French Revolution to the collapse of the USSR and beyond This is a masterly study of a region that is far from peripheral politically to the post Soviet world The Baltic States Under Stalinist Rule Olaf Mertelsmann, 2016-03-07 Proceedings from a workshop held at the University of Tartu Estonia in 2008 Screening Soviet Nationalities Oksana Sarkisova, 2016-11-30 Filmmakers in the early decades of the Soviet Union sought to create a cinematic map of the new state by portraying its land and peoples on screen Such films created blueprints of the Soviet domain s scenic cultural and ethnographic perimeters and brought together in many ways disparate nations under one umbrella Categorised as kulturfilms they served as experimental grounds for developing the cinematic formulae of a multiethnic multinational Soviet identity Screening Soviet Nationalities examines the non fictional representations of Soviet borderlands from the Far North to the Northern Caucasus and Central Asia between 1925 1940 Beginning with Dziga Vertov and his vision of the Soviet space as a unified multinational mosaic Oksana Sarkisova rediscovers films by Vladimir Erofeev Vladimir Shneiderov Alexander Litvinov Mikhail Slutskii Amo Bek Nazarov Mikhail Kalatozov Roman Karmen and other filmmakers who helped construct an image of Soviet ethnic diversity and left behind a lasting visual legacy The book contributes to our understanding of changing ethnographic conventions of representation looks at studies of diversity despite the homogenising ambitions of the Soviet project and reexamines methods of blending reality and fiction as part of both ideological and educational agendas Using a wealth of unexplored archival evidence from the Russian State Documentary Film and Photo Archive RGAKFD as well as the Gosfilmofond state film archive Sarkisova examines constructions of exoticism backwardness and Soviet driven modernity through these remarkable and underexplored historical travelogues

when a radical turn of events in the former Soviet Union once again altered the destiny of this Baltic nation The author explores in depth the remarkable changes in Estonia since 1980 framing his analysis within the larger picture of the Soviet Union and its demise He also examines the issue of ethnic tensions between Estonians and Russian colonists and speculates on how unrest will affect the future of the country Throughout his analysis the author weaves in such key questions as Why did Sovietization fail How did Estonia's quest for autonomy affect Soviet dissolution What role will the country play on the global stage What will Estonia's future hold

The Human Sausage Factory Eda Kalmre, 2013-08-10 Under certain conditions some rumours which were established as part of folklore already long ago may become fixed in the memory and the subconscious of several generations This is what happened with the rumour about a human sausage factory after the Second World War In Tartu Estonia this rumour obtained a symbolic meaning and power due to the politics of the totalitarian Soviet regime The memories of the post war period are still vivid in the collective mind and the onetime rumour of sausage factories incorporates the population's tensions pain loss choices defiance and irreconcilability The individual and community emotions that are brought to a focus in this discourse are an indicator of defining social boundaries and behaviour of us and them When describing the events that took place in Tartu folklore becomes a powerful tool with which to construe the meaning of the era at the social level Through documents photos and people's memories the book offers an insight into the city of Tartu after the Second World War and reveals the several layers of meaning represented by rumour in this period

Bibliographic Guide to Soviet and East European Studies, 1978 The Making and Breaking of Soviet Lithuania Violeta Davoliūtė, 2014-01-03 Appearing on the world stage in 1918 Lithuania suffered numerous invasions border changes and large scale population displacements The successive occupations of Stalin in 1940 and Hitler in 1941 mass deportations to the Gulag and the elimination of the Jewish community in the Holocaust gave the horrors of World War II a special ferocity Moreover the fighting continued after 1945 with the anti Soviet insurrection crushed through mass deportations and forced collectivization in 1948 1951 At no point however did the process of national consolidation take a pause making Lithuania an improbably representative case study of successful nation building in this troubled region As postwar reconstruction gained pace ethnic Lithuanians from the countryside the only community to remain after the war in significant numbers were mobilized to work in the cities They streamed into factory and university alike creating a modern urban society with new elites who had a surprising degree of freedom to promote national culture This book describes how the national cultural elites constructed a Soviet Lithuanian identity against a backdrop of forced modernization in the fifties and sixties and how they subsequently took it apart by evoking the memory of traumatic displacement in the seventies and eighties later emerging as prominent leaders of the popular movement against Soviet rule
