intellectual and clergyman Rowan Williams is one of the leading lights of contemporary British theology. He has published over twenty books and one hundred scholarly essays in a distinguished career as an academic theologian that culminated in his appointment as Lady Margaret Professor of Divinity at Oxford University. Williams left this post to serve in the Anglican Church first as Bishop of Monmouth then Archbishop of Wales before finally being enthroned in 2003 as the 104th Archbishop of Canterbury. In this collection of essays a talented younger generation of Australian theologians critically analyzes the themes that bind together Williams's theology. These sympathetic yet probing essays traverse the full breadth of Williams's work from his studies on Arius, the Desert Fathers, Hegel, and Trinitarian theology to his more pastoral writings on spirituality, sexuality, politics, and the Anglican Church. Orthodox Christianity: The Basics Nicholas Denysenko, 2025-09-18

Rabbinic Body Language: Non-Verbal Communication in Palestinian Rabbinic Literature of Late Antiquity Catherine Hezser, 2017-01-16. This study constitutes the first comprehensive examination of rabbinic body language represented in Palestinian rabbinic sources of late antiquity. Catherine Hezser examines rabbis' appearance and demeanor, spatial movement, gestures, and facial expressions on the basis of literary and social anthropological methods and theories. She discusses the various forms of rabbis' non-verbal communication in the context of Graeco-Roman and ancient Christian literary sources and in connection with the material culture of Roman and early Byzantine Palestine. Catherine Hezser convincingly shows that in rabbinic literature, body language serves as an important means of rabbis' self-fashioning. Rabbinic texts create the image of a particularly Jewish type of intellectual who functioned and competed for adherents within the highly visual and body-conscious environment of late antiquity.

Orthodox Christianity and Gender Helena Kupari, Elina Vuola, 2019-10-17. The Orthodox Christian tradition has all too often been sidelined in conversations around contemporary religion. Despite being distinct from Protestantism and Catholicism in both theology and practice, it remains an underused setting for academic inquiry into current lived religious practice This collection therefore seeks to redress this imbalance by investigating modern manifestations of Orthodox Christianity through an explicitly gender sensitive gaze By addressing attitudes to gender in this context it fills major gaps in the literature on both religion and gender Starting with the traditional teachings and discourses around gender in the Orthodox Church the book moves on to demonstrate the diversity of responses to those narratives that can be found among Orthodox populations in Europe and North America Using case studies from several countries with both large and small Orthodox populations contributors use an interdisciplinary approach to address how gender and religion interact in contexts such as iconography conversion social activism and ecumenical relations among others From Greece and Russia to Finland and the USA this volume sheds new light on the myriad ways in which gender is manifested performed and engaged within contemporary Orthodoxy Furthermore it also demonstrates that employing the analytical lens of gender enables new insights into Orthodox Christianity as a lived tradition It will therefore be of great interest to scholars of both Religious Studies and Gender Studies

Born of Water and the Spirit John Williamson Nevin, Philip Schaff, Emanuel V. Gerhart, 2016-03-29
Born of Water and the Spirit presents essays on the sacraments by the three major representatives of Mercersburg Theology John Nevin Philip Schaff and Emanuel Gerhart It focuses on Mercersburg's doctrine of baptism and Christian nurture attempts to correct putative deficiencies of the major Reformed trajectories e.g. New England and Princeton and vigorously critiques the anti sacramental animus of revivalistic evangelicalism Mercersburg understood baptism as initiating a person adult or infant into the sacramental life of the church Baptism and Eucharist were objective spiritually real actions that made what Nevin called the mystical presence of Jesus Christ present to Christians bringing transformative power into their lives The present critical edition carefully preserves the original texts while providing extensive introductions annotations and bibliography to orient the modern reader and facilitate further scholarship The Mercersburg Theology Study Series is an attempt to make available for the first time in attractive readable and scholarly modern editions the key writings of the nineteenth century movement known as the Mercersburg Theology An ambitious multiyear project it aims to make an important contribution to the scholarly community and to the broader reading public who can at last be properly introduced to this unique blend of American and European Reformed and Catholic theology

Strange Fire John F. MacArthur, 2013-11-19 In Strange Fire bestselling author and pastor John MacArthur chronicles the unsavory history behind the modern Charismatic movement What would God say about those who blatantly misrepresent His Holy Spirit who exchange true worship for chaotic fits of mindless ecstasy who replace the biblical gospel with vain illusions of health and wealth who claim to prophesy in His name yet speak errors and who sell false hope to desperate people for millions of dollars The charismatic movement has always been a breeding ground for scandal greed bad doctrine and all kinds of spiritual chicanery As a movement it is clearly headed the wrong direction And it is growing at an unprecedented rate From the Word of Faith to the New Apostolic Reformation the Charismatic movement is being consumed by the empty promises of the prosperity gospel Too many charismatic celebrities promote a Christianity without Christ a Holy Spirit without holiness And their teaching is having a disastrous influence on a grand scale as large television networks broadcast their heresies to every part of the world In Strange Fire MacArthur lays out a chilling case against the modern Charismatic movement that includes Rejecting its false prophets Speaking out against their errors Showing true reverence to the Holy Spirit Clinging to the Bible as the inerrant authoritative Word of God and the one true standard by which all truth claims must be tested Christianity and Migration Peter C. Phan, Oxford Editor, 2025-10-07 This book essays a not the Christian theology of migration The phenomenon of human migration that is the movement of people to and settlement temporary or permanent in a new area or country its causes and reasons and its historical anthropological social political legal and cultural dimensions have been widely studied and reasonably well understood and the next chapter will discuss them in detail By contrast theology as an academic discipline seems least capable of illuminating this human phenomenon It appears to most people outside the church and its educational institutions to be at best an esoteric subject and at worst a convoluted and useless mumbo jumbo especially when liberally sprinkled with Greek and Latin phrases Why not leave the study of migration to scholars in history sociology anthropology economics politics and law who albeit no less infected with highfalutin language than theologians do at least try to offer practical policies and effective strategies either for or against immigration Provided by publisher The Visual Rhetoric of the Married Laity in Late Antiquity Mark D. Ellison, 2023-12-11 This study examines third and fourth century portraits of married Christians and associated images reading them as visual rhetoric in early Christian conversations about marriage and celibacy and recovering lay perspectives underrepresented or missing in literary sources Historians of early Christianity have grown increasingly aware that written sources display an enthusiasm for asceticism and sexual renunciation that was far from representative of the lives of most early Christians Often called a silent majority the married laity in fact left behind a significant body of work in the material record Particularly in and around Rome they commissioned and used such objects as sarcophagi paintings glass vessels finger rings luxury silver other jewellery items gems and seals that bore their portraits and other iconographic forms of self representation This study is the first to undertake a sustained exploration of these material sources in the context of early Christian discourses and practices related to marriage sexuality and celibacy Reading this visual evidence increases understanding of the population who created it the religious commitments they asserted and the comparatively moderate forms of piety they set forth as meritorious alternatives to the ascetic ideal In their visual rhetoric these artifacts and images comprise additional voices in Late Antique conversations about idealized ways of Christian life and ultimately provide a fuller picture of the early Christian world Plentifully illustrated with photographs and drawings this volume provides readers access to primary material evidence Such evidence like textual sources require critical interpretation this study sets forth a careful methodology for iconographic analysis and applies it to identify the potential intentions of patrons and artists and the perceptions of viewers It compares iconography to literary sources and ritual practices as part of the interpretive process clarifying the ways images had a rhetorical edge and contributed to larger conversations

Accessibly written The Visual Rhetoric of the Married Laity in Late Antiquity is of interest to students and scholars working on Late Antiquity early Christian and late Roman social history marriage and celibacy in early Christianity and early Christian Roman and Byzantine art Heinrich Bullinger on Prophecy and the Prophetic Office (1523-1538) Daniël Timmerman, 2015-02-18 It has often been noted that the Protestant Reformation of the early sixteenth century witnessed a revived interest in the scriptural notions of prophets and prophecy Drawing from both late medieval apocalyptic expectations of the immanent end of the world and from a humanist revival of biblical studies the prophet appeared to many as a suitable role model for the Protestant preacher A prominent proponent of this prophetic model was the Swiss theologian and church leader Heinrich Bullinger 1504-1575 This study by Daniël Timmerman presents the first in depth investigation of Bullinger's concept of prophecy and his understanding of the prophetic office It also engages with the history of the Zurich institute for the study of the Scriptures which has become widely known as the Prophezei Nature and Scripture in the Abrahamic Religions: Up to 1700 Scott Mandelbrote, 2008 These volumes describe how the development of the different styles of interpretation found in reading scripture and nature have transformed ideas of both the written word and the created world Pastoral Care and Monasticism in Latin Christianity and Japanese Buddhism (ca. 800-1650) Toshio Ohnuki, Gert Melville, Yuichi Akae, Kazuhisa Takeda, 2024 Monasticism has a special position in the history of pastoral care It produced innovations in various aspects of pastoral care despite or more precisely because of its isolation in legal or social terms from the secular world The thirteen papers contained in this volume will reveal that there was a great variety in the ways pastoral care continued to be practised by monasticism depending on time space and the nature of each religious order Adopting a comparative approach their historical and geographical range of investigation is not limited to medieval Europe but expands to the Americas and even to Japan in the early Modern Age This volume bases on a conference held on 1 and 2 March 2019 at Okayama University Japan as part of the close collaboration between a Japanese research group on Christian Buddhist religious movements and the Research Project Monasteries in the High Middle Ages Innovation Laboratories for European Life Designs and Regulatory Models of the Saxon and the Heidelberg Academies of Sciences and Humanities as well as the Research Center for Comparative History of Religious Orders FOVOG Dresden Appropriate Christianity Charles H. Kraft, 2005 Appropriate Christianity consists of 28 chapters by 18 authors approaching contextualization in three dimensions truth allegiance and spiritual power Over the years there have been quite a number of helpful discussions of the contextualization of theological truth Though we have been helped greatly by them it is high time we began to deal also with allegiance and spiritual power two additional dimensions that Jesus considered of great importance Any adequate and appropriate treatment of the contextualization of biblical Christianity needs to deal with all three of these 2 crucial dimensions 3 For allegiance to Christ is the basis for all we do that makes us Christian and Jesus was very much into spiritual power If we are to be truly biblical we must deal also with these areas

The Story of Original Sin John Toews, 2013-01-15 This book traces the history of the interpretation of the disobedience of Adam and Eve in Genesis 3 through the biblical period and the church fathers until Augustine It explains the emergence of the doctrine of original sin with the theology of Augustine in the late fourth century on the basis of a mistranslation of the Greek text of Romans 5 12 The book suggests that it is time to move past Augustine's theology of sin and embrace a different theology of sin that is both more biblical and makes more sense in the postmodern West and in the developing world Britannica Student Encyclopedia Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc, 2014-05-01
