Beyond Outcomes Richard Haswell,2001-05-30 Writing assessment programs help place entering and mid career students in composition courses at the appropriate level monitor the progress of those students and assist in placing them in writing courses throughout their undergraduate careers These same universities also have writing instruction programs which might include writing centers writing across the curriculum initiatives and freshman and advanced composition programs At many institutions though writing assessment is not necessarily considered fundamental to writing instruction and there is little communication between the assessment program and the composition program This book demonstrates that writing assessment and instruction programs may be successfully integrated The contributors analyze the development of the writing assessment and instruction program at Washington State University which is nationally recognized for its success In doing so they provide guidance to other institutions planning to develop similar integrated programs The volume argues that writing assessment and instruction should inform and influence each other that they should evolve together and that they should be developed locally By tracing the success of the WSU program the authors directly challenge the use of national packaged assessment programs such as standardized placement tests

Understanding Writing Transfer Randall Bass,Jessie L. Moore,2023-07-03 While education is based on the broad assumption that what one learns here can transfer over there across critical transitions what do we really know about the transfer of knowledge The question is all the more urgent at a time when there are pressures to unbundle higher education to target learning particular subjects and skills for occupational credentialing to the detriment of integrative education that enables students to make connections and integrate their knowledge skills and habits of mind into a adaptable and critical stance toward the worldThis book the fruit of two year multi institutional studies by forty five researchers from twenty eight institutions in five countries identifies enabling practices for and five essential principles about writing transfer that should inform decision making by all higher education stakeholders about how to generally promote the transfer of knowledge This collection concisely summarizes what we know about writing transfer and explores the implications of writing transfer research for universities institutional decisions about writing across the curriculum requirements general education programs online and hybrid learning outcomes assessment writing supported experiential learning e portfolios first year experiences and other higher education initiatives This volume makes writing transfer research accessible to administrators faculty decision makers and other stakeholders across the curriculum who have a vested interest in preparing students to succeed in their future writing tasks in academia the workplace and their civic lives and offers a framework for addressing the tensions between competency based education and the integration of knowledge so vital for our society

A Rhetoric of Reflection Kathleen Yancey, 2016-08-15 Reflection in writing studies is now entering a third generation Dating from the 1970s the first generation of reflection focused on identifying and describing internal cognitive processes assumed to be part of composing The second generation operating in both classroom and assessment scenes in the 1990s developed mechanisms for externalizing reflection making it visible and thus explicitly available to help writers Now a third generation of work in reflection is emerging As mapped by the contributors to A Rhetoric of Reflection this iteration of research and practice is taking up new questions in new sites of activity and with new theories It comprises attention to transfer of writing knowledge and practice teaching and assessment portfolios linguistic and cultural difference and various media including print and digital It conceptualizes conversation as a primary reflective medium both inside and outside the classroom and for individuals and collectives and articulates the role that different genres play in hosting reflection Perhaps most important in the work of this third generation is the identification and increasing appreciation of the epistemic value of reflection of its ability to help make new meanings and of its rhetorical power for both scholars and students Contributors Anne Beaufort Kara Taczak Liane Robertson Michael Neal Heather Ostman Cathy Leaker Bruce Horner Asao B Inoue Tyler Richmond J Elizabeth Clark Naomi Silver Christina Russell McDonald Pamela Flash Kevin Roozen Jeff Sommers Doug Hesse

by some of the most innovative and active proponents of ePortfolios Assessment in Technical and Professional Communication Margaret Hundleby, Jo Allen, 2017-07-05 This collection of essays focuses on both how and why assessment serves as a key element in the teaching and practice of technical and professional communication The collection is organized to form a dual approach on the one hand it offers a landscape view of the activities involved in assessment examining how it works at institutional program and classroom levels on the other it surveys the implications of using assessment for formulating maintaining and extending the teaching and practice of technical communication The book offers teachers students scholars and practitioners alike evidence of the increasingly valuable role of assessment in the field as it supports and enriches our thinking and practice No other volume has addressed the demands of and the expectations for assessment in technical communication Consequently the book has two key goals The first is to be as inclusive as is feasible for its size demonstrating the global operation of assessment in the field For this reason descriptions of assessment practice lead to examinations of some key feature of the landscape captured by the term technical communication The second goal is to retain the public and cooperative approach that has characterized technical communication from the beginning To achieve this the book represents a conversation with contributors chosen from among practicing highly active technical communication teachers and scholars and the chapters set up pairs of opening statement and following response The overriding purpose of the volume therefore is to invite the whole community into the conversation about assessment in technical communication Governmentality Studies in Education ,2009-01-01 Michel Foucault s concept of governmentality originated in a lecture series in the late 1970s at the Coll ge de France and soon became the basis for a range of historical and contemporary studies across the social sciences and humanities The concept in part rests on a simple but powerful idea that links government to the freedom of the subject in a novel understanding of liberal politics It also provides an analytics of power based on the examination of actual practices This is the first collection to use Foucault s concept in relation to the field of education where it has a natural home given that much educational theory and practice in the liberal tradition at least since Kant has been directed at the goals of autonomy and self government The volume has three sections a general section on Foucault and governmentality with contributions from some of the world s leading scholars in the area including Colin Gordon Jacques Donzelot and Thomas Lemke and two sections devoted to governmentality and education the first outlining Anglo American perspectives the second focusing on European perspectives with contributions from leading scholars such as Tom Popkewitz James Marshall Tom Osborne Michael Peters Mark Olssen Tina Besley Hermann J Forneck Bernadette Baker Susan Weber Susanne Maurer Linda Graham and Maarten Simons and Jan Masschelein among many others Handbook of Research on Creative Problem-Solving Skill Development in Higher Education Zhou, Chunfang, 2016-09-21 Developing students creative problem solving skills is paramount to today s teachers due to the exponentially growing demand for cognitive plasticity and critical thinking in the workforce In today s knowledge economy workers must be able to participate in creative dialogue and complex problem solving This has prompted institutions of higher education to implement new pedagogical methods such as problem based and case based education The Handbook of Research on Creative Problem Solving Skill Development in Higher Education is an essential comprehensive collection of the newest research in higher education creativity problem solving and pedagogical design It provides the framework for further research opportunities in these dynamic necessary fields Featuring work regarding problem oriented curriculum and its applications and challenges this book is essential for policy makers teachers researchers administrators students of education Research Anthology on Developing Critical Thinking Skills in Students Management

Association, Information Resources,2020-10-02 Learning strategies for critical thinking are a vital part of today s curriculum as students have few additional opportunities to learn these skills outside of school environments Therefore it is essential that educators be given practical strategies for improving their critical thinking skills as well as methods to effectively provide critical thinking skills to their students The Research Anthology on Developing Critical Thinking Skills in Students is a vital reference source that helps to shift and advance the debate on how critical thinking should be taught and offers insights into the significance of critical thinking and its effective integration as a cornerstone of the educational system Highlighting a range of topics such as discourse analysis skill assessment and measurement and critical analysis techniques this multi volume book is ideally designed for teachers instructors instructional designers curriculum developers education professionals administrators policymakers researchers and academicians European Language Testing in a Global

Brian Huot,2003-04-01 Brian Huot s aim for this book is both ambitious and provocative He wants to reorient composition studies view of writing assessment To accomplish this he not only has to inspire the field to perceive assessment generally not the most appreciated area of study as deeply significant to theory and pedagogy he also has to counter some common misconceptions about the history of assessment in writing In Re Articulating Writing Assessment Huot advocates a new understanding a more optimistic and productive one than we have seen in composition for a very long time Assessment as Huot points out defines what is valued by a teacher or a society What isn t valued isn t assessed it tends to disappear from the curriculum The dark side of this truth is what many teachers find troubling about large scale assessments as standardized tests don t grant attention or merit to all they should Instead assessment has been used as an interested social mechanism for reinscribing current power relations and class systems Thinking Globally, Composing Locally Rich

Rice,Kirk St.Amant,2018-05-01 Thinking Globally Composing Locally explores how writing and its pedagogy should adapt to the ever expanding environment of international online communication Communication to a global audience presents a number of new challenges writers seeking to connect with individuals from many different cultures must rethink their concept of audience They must also prepare to address friction that may arise from cross cultural rhetorical situations variation in available technology and in access between interlocutors and disparate legal environments The volume offers a pedagogical framework that addresses three interconnected and overarching objectives using online media to contact audiences from other cultures to share ideas presenting ideas in a manner that invites audiences from other cultures to recognize understand and convey or act upon them and composing ideas to connect with global audiences to engage in ongoing and meaningful exchanges via online media Chapters explore a diverse range of pedagogical techniques including digital notebooks designed to create a space for active dialogic and multicultural inquiry experience mapping to identify communication disruption points in international customer service and online forums used in global distance education Thinking Globally Composing Locally will prove an invaluable resource for instructors seeking to address the many exigencies of online writing situations in global environments Contributors Suzanne Blum Malley Katherine Bridgman Maury Elizabeth Brown Kaitlin Clinnin Cynthia Davidson Susan Delagrange Scott Lloyd Dewitt Amber Engelson Kay Halasek Lavinia Hirsu Daniel Hocutt Vassiliki Kourbani Tika Lamsal Liz Lane Ben Lauren J C Lee Ben McCorkle Jen Michaels Minh Tam Nguyen Beau S Pihlaja Ma Pilar Milagros Cynthia L Selfe Heather Turner Don Unger Josephine Walwema
