Rapid Urban Environmental

Assessment: Methodology and preliminary findings Josef Leitmann, 1994 Urban Management Program Series Paper 14 A recent evaluation of urban research in developing countries noted that scant data are available on the urban environment as little research has been done on the topic This first volume in a two volume set describes the development of a three step evaluation process whereby data are collected and analyzed to support the involvement of stakeholders suggests future directions and improvements and summarizes results from use of the approach in selected cities The second of a two volume set see below contains tools that practitioners and researchers can apply directly in the field See also Volume 2 ISBN 0 8213 2791 7 Stock No 12791 Decentralization and Its Implications for Urban Service Delivery William Dillinger,1994 This paper reviews efforts to improve the efficiency and responsiveness of urban services delivery in developing countries It argues that failures in urban service delivery are not merely the result of a lack of technical knowledge on the part of local government staff but also reflect constraints and perverse incentives confronting local personnel and their political leadership and these in turn are often the inadvertent result of problems in the relationship between central and local government The report views the spread of decentralization as a potentially fortuitous phenomenon The decentralization now occurring is not a carefully designed sequence of reforms aimed at improving the efficiency of public service delivery it appears to be a reluctant and disorderly series of concessions by central governments attempting to maintain political stability Adapt du r sum de l auteur Participatory Urban Governance Edgar A. Pieterse,2000 Financing Metropolitan Development Devyani Mani,1999 Resilient Water Management Strategies in Urban Settings Tamim Younos,Juneseok Lee,Tammy E. Parece,2022-03-11 This book documents innovative approaches for integrating green technologies and decentralized water infrastructure The two major components of green decentralized water infrastructure are 1 using locally available alternative water sources rainwater greywater and brackish saltwater at multiple scales e g a single building to a neighborhood community level and 2 using renewable energy resources solar wind biomass geothermal other Chapter 1 introduces the concept and framework of green decentralized water infrastructure The subsequent nine chapters give a detailed description of global case studies and discuss significant components of the green decentralized water infrastructure and the challenges The chapters document global case studies and prospects chapters 1 7 followed by challenges facing decentralized water infrastructure chapters 8 10 The book will provide a cross disciplinary knowledge base for smart futuristic water management in urban settings and a significant opportunity for sharing smart and decentralized water technologies at the global level Global Capital Flows to Infrastructure Investments Joseph B. Oyedele,2014-02-17 The demand pressure and the plethora of evidences observed in the form of increasing infrastructure financing gap ageing infrastructure environmental factors such as climate change and rising quality standards are factors attracting institutional and private sector participation in infrastructure investment Therefore the search for innovative means of financing infrastructure has become incessant Also the features of the financial landscape especially in a financial crisis has further underpinned the significance of looking beyond the present infrastructure need to a more sustained infrastructure financing scheme anticipated from institutional investors A well established capital market has therefore been identified as a viable option for long term and steady global capital flows to financing infrastructure projects else the burden will remain on governments to offer direct or indirect support to private investors in attracting financing for infrastructure development

This book therefore conceptually investigates the potentials of the capital market and institutional investors capital flows in bridging the global infrastructure funding gap A fundamental conclusion from the book revealed that institutional investors particularly pension funds have the capacity to pool enormous resources into the infrastructure market thus emphatically projecting them as a force to be reckoned with in the global infrastructure investments
