College and in the Workplace Charles A. MacArthur, Zoi A. Philippakos, 2023-12 This book describes an innovative evidence based method for preparing students for the demands of college writing called Supporting Strategic Writers SSW. The goal of SSW is to help students become independent learners who understand the value of strategies and can apply them flexibly in future courses and the workplace. The text provides genre based strategies for rhetorical analysis, planning, evaluation, and revision; critical reading of sources and synthesis of sources that are part of college composition and applicable across contexts and course assignments. Equally important to the SSW approach is that students learn metacognitive strategies for goal setting, task management, progress monitoring, and reflection. Instructional methods include discussion of model essays, think aloud modeling of strategies, collaborative writing, peer review, and self evaluation, and reflective journaling. Book Features: Integrates three critical components: strategies for critical reading and writing; metacognitive strategies to help students take control of their learning; and pedagogical strategies. Provides research based approaches for teaching developmental writing courses, first year composition, summer bridge programs, and first year seminars. Offers thorough explanations of the strategies and instructional methods with practical examples and support materials for instructors. Based on two years of design research and three experimental studies which found significant positive effects on writing quality and motivation with college students in developmental writing courses. Writing Strategies for the Education Dissertation Diane Bennett Durkin, 2020-12-29 Writing Strategies for the Education Dissertation offers a unique take on doctoral writing. It uses composition and rhetoric strategies to identify key activities for generating thought to keep students writing. It de-mythologizes the view of writing as a mere skill and promotes the view of writing as thinking. It uses writing to help students invent, think through, write, rethink, and rewrite as they develop and present their innovations. The book opens with this mindset and with the purposes of the task: adding to knowledge; it helps define a researchable topic and provides advice on invention, brainstorming. It then addresses each of the key sections of the dissertation: from Problem Statement through Literature Review and Methods to Findings and Conclusions, while underscoring the iterative nature of this writing. For each chapter, the book provides advice on invention, argument, and arrangement; organization; rhetorical elements that are seldom fully addressed in textbooks. Each chapter also looks at possible missteps, offers examples of student writing and revisions, and suggests alternatives, not rules. The text concludes with an inventive approach of its own, addressing style, clarity, economy, and coherence as persuasion. This book is suitable for all doctoral students of education and others looking for tips and advice on the best dissertation writing. Understanding Writing Transfer Randall Bass, Jessie L. Moore, 2023-07-03 While education is based on the broad assumption that what one learns here can transfer over there, across critical transitions, what do we really know about the transfer of knowledge? The question is all the more urgent at a time when there are pressures to unbundle higher education to target learning particular subjects and skills for occupational credentialing to the detriment of integrative education that enables students to make connections and integrate their knowledge skills and habits of mind into a adaptable and critical stance toward the world This book the fruit of two year multi institutional studies by forty five researchers from twenty eight institutions in five countries identifies enabling practices for and five essential principles about writing transfer that should inform decision making by all higher education stakeholders about how to generally promote the transfer of knowledge This collection concisely summarizes what we know about writing transfer and explores the implications of writing transfer research for universities institutional decisions about writing across the curriculum requirements general education programs online and hybrid learning outcomes assessment writing supported experiential learning e portfolios first year experiences and other higher education initiatives This volume makes writing transfer research accessible to administrators faculty decision makers and other stakeholders across the curriculum who have a vested interest in preparing students to succeed in their future writing tasks in academia the workplace and their civic lives and offers a framework for addressing the tensions between competency based education and the integration of knowledge so vital for our society
