Strategy Of Decision Policy Evaluation As A Social Process:

A Strategy of Decision David Braybrooke, Charles E. Lindblom, 1963 A Strategy of Decision David Braybrooke, Charles Edward Lindblom, 1963 Evaluation in the Planning Process Nathaniel Lichfield, Peter Kettle, Michael Whitbread, 2016-06-07

Evaluation in the Planning Process examines the role of evaluation in the overall planning process and the implications of evaluation for the organization and management of studies. Emphasis is placed on the nature of evaluation and the functions it should fulfill in the urban and regional planning process as well as the interrelationships that should exist between evaluation and other planning activities. This book consists of 12 chapters organized into three sections. The first section focuses on principles governing the use of evaluation in the planning process and includes a model of general urban and regional planning. Various methods that are available for evaluating planning proposals are considered with emphasis on the social cost benefit approach and the planning balance sheet method. The chapters that follow explore the role of measurement in plan evaluation and review seven planning studies to critically examine UK experience in the application of evaluation methods to urban and regional planning problems. This book concludes by presenting the principles and guidelines for the short listing of options and assessing the influence of various practical circumstances on the planning process. Some final recommendations on the organization and structure of the planning process and the nature and role of evaluation within it are offered. This book is intended for specialists, planners and those who are engaged in the task of aiding decisions on urban and regional planning problems. This text will appeal especially to those who are concerned with formulating planning processes and with the management of studies.

Social Decision Methodology for Technological Projects C.A. Vlek, G. Cvetkovich, 2012-12-06

This book grew out of the conviction that the preparation and management of large scale technological projects can be substantially improved. We have witnessed the often unhappy course of societal and political decision making concerning projects such as hazardous chemical installations, novel types of electric power plant or storage sites for solid wastes. This has led us to believe that probabilistic risk analysis, technical reliability analysis and environmental impact analysis are necessary but insufficient for making acceptable and justifiable social decisions about such projects. There is more to socio technical decision making than applying acceptance rules based on negligibly low accident probabilities or on maximum credible accidents. Consideration must also be given to psychological, social and political issues and methods of decision making. Our conviction initially gave rise to an international experts workshop titled Social decision methodology for technological projects (SDMTP) and held in May 1986 at the University of Groningen, the Netherlands, at a time when Cvetkovich spent a sabbatical there. The workshop aimed at surveying the issues and listing the methods to address them. This was the first part of an effort whose second part was directed at the production of this volume. Plans called for the book to deal systematically with the main problems of socio technical decision making: it was to list a number of useful approaches and methods and it was to present a number of integrative conclusions and recommendations for both policy makers and methodologists Managing Uncertainties in Networks Joop Koppenjan, Erik-Hans Klijn, 2004-08-02 As public and private sector organizations work more frequently in partnership managing uncertainties problems and controversies becomes increasingly difficult Despite sophisticated technology and knowledge the strategic networks and games required to solve uncertainties becomes more complex and more important than ever before This unique text examines such developments in the area of network strategy Differentiating itself from other policy network approaches which mainly have a research focus this text has a managerial orientation presenting strategies and management recommendations for public and private sector organizations as well as the analytical tools required by practitioners seeking to support their own internal decision making and strategy formulation Tapping into the important and ever growing area of risk and uncertainty management this is a vital and long awaited staple for the arena written by two leading authors in the field and is key reading for students scholars and policy makers seeking to understand the complexities of the network society Roosevelt and the Munich Crisis Barbara Reardon Farnham, 2021-03-09 Franklin Roosevelt s intentions during the three years between Munich and Pearl Harbor have been a source of controversy among historians for decades Barbara Farnham offers both a theory of how the domestic political context affects foreign policy decisions in general and a fresh interpretation of FDR s post Munich policies based on the insights that the theory provides Between 1936 and 1938 Roosevelt searched for ways to influence the deteriorating international situation When Hitler s behavior during the Munich crisis showed him to be incorrigibly aggressive FDR settled on aiding the democracies a course to which he adhered until America s entry into the war This policy attracted him because it allowed him to deal with a serious problem the conflict between the need to stop Hitler and the domestic imperative to avoid any risk of American involvement in a war Because existing theoretical approaches to value conflict ignore the influence of political factors on decision making they offer little help in explaining Roosevelt s behavior As an alternative this book develops a political approach to decision making which focuses on the impact that awareness of the imperatives of the political context can have on decision making processes and through them policy outcomes It suggests that in the face of a clash of central values decision makers who are aware of the demands of the political context are likely to be reluctant to make trade offs seeking instead a solution that gives some measure of satisfaction to all the values implicated in the decision Health Services Restructuring in Canada Charles M. Beach, Richard Chaykowski, Shortt, 2007-01-18 The recent Chaoulli Supreme Court decision and health care proposals by Quebec and Alberta have led to renewed debate on how best to restructure the Canadian health care system This volume offers a timely analysis of access and wait times alternative modes of health care delivery and funding methods from the perspective of evidence based policy making Building Strategy from the Middle Steven W. Floyd, Bill Wooldridge, 2000-03-15 For much of its history the academic literature in strategy has focused on the actions and decisions of top managers The argument of Building Strategy From the Middle is that rapidly developing technologies and competitive dynamics heighten needs for enhanced organizational competencies which puts a premium on new ideas generated at the operating level and creates a shift in the strategic responsibilities within organizations Strategic leadership now occurs not only at the top but at all levels of the organization This ground breaking new book reframes the perspective taken in most strategy research in two key ways by describing organizational renewal from a middle level perspective and by reconceptualizing the theoretical basis for strategy process research Part I of the book Foundations reviews the existing literature on the strategy process including recent literature on strategic change renewal Part II New Theoretical Horizons builds the theoretical basis for a middle level perspective focusing on knowledge development social network analysis and organizational trust Part III Middle Level Perspective moves from synthesizing existing research toward the development of a model for conducting research from a middle level perspective

The Psychology of Decision Making Lee R. Beach, Terry Connolly, 2005-01-05 The Psychology of Decision Making provides an overview of decision making as it relates to management organizational behavior issues and research This engaging book examines the way individuals make decisions as well as how they form judgments privately and in the context of the organization It also discusses the interplay of group and institutional dynamics and their effects upon the decisions made within and on the behalf of organizations

Politics and Petroleum in Ecuador John D. Martz, In 1972 Ecuador began to produce and export petroleum in the Amazon interior and the formulation and execution of the petroleum policy became central to the political life of the nation The nation s armed forces seized political power that same year and continued to rule until the reestablishment of democratic pluralist government in 1979 In this book John D Martz probes the differences and similarities between military authoritarianism and democratic pluralism through an analysis of the politics of petroleum in Ecuador The Ecuadorian experience provides an ideal laboratory to test the policymaking characteristics and the overall performances of the two regimes ideal types Martz uses a textured and detailed analysis of global oil companies and nationalist politics to trace the growth and evolution of Ecuador s petroleum industry The course of partisan and sectoral politics and the internal workings of military politics are also examined Against this interplay of politics and the nationalistic struggle against multinational pressures Martz compares policymaking under military and civilian government John D Martz is a professor of political science at Pennsylvania State University He is the author and editor of more than a dozen books on Latin American politics and was the editor of the Latin American Research Review from 1975 to 1980

Campaign Strategy and the Key to Political Longevity Laure Paquette, 2005 Strategy is a simple and powerful method of analysis it works in the abstract and it is new to most readers Designed for the overburdened political operative constituent steps of strategy are easy to understand analyse or design once divested of their theoretical apparatus Strategy s powers for coping with uncertainty and the unexpected are easily harnessed for the achievement of political success and it is by this ease of application that the design of the present book may be judged It is possible for example for the harried reader to go directly to the chapters on developing a campaign strategy or designing a response to a political tactic The goal of the present book is to propose that strategy can be a suitable foundation for the analysis and development of any electoral candidate s campaign the significance of events in the course of that campaign and the prescription of a course of action strategic or tactical for winning elections By taking into account strategic interventions as well as strategic interactions it is possible to run a successful campaign for parties or individual candidates Strategy provides a useful forecasting tool for relations between all the actors who may be involved individuals groups political parties factions within those parties governments at various levels pressure groups and even election officials which are fraught or otherwise difficult This book is the most recent instalment in a series of books and articles introducing a new general theory of strategy and its applications to an audience primarily composed of non strategists The present series of books also fit into a broader oeuvre integrated along three axes The first axis focuses on the methodological and theoretical development of this new theory of strategy The second axis presents several structured sets of case studies focusing on the various types of actors in political systems broadly defined The third axis presents a series of exercises and worksheets which pertain either to particular applications of strategy or which spans the intellectual development of a good strategist This book covers both the first and third axes explaining the use of strategy in election campaigns

Strategies for International Industrial Marketing (RLE International Business) Peter W Turnbull, Jean-Paul Valla, 2013-05-07 This study considers the key strategic issues of the management of customer relationships in international industrial marketing It is based on extensive original research by the International Marketing and Purchase Group The book reports on that research in particular pointing out the differences in approach by different national groups in Europe

Policy Process Michael Hill, 2014-07-15 In this new edition of his classic reader Michael Hill seeks to make the selected extracts reflect a more European outlook on the process of policy making and implementation With reference to the third edition of his popular textbook The Policy Process in the Modern State Hill has maintained the thematic approach of the first edition looking in turn at approaches to policy making in Europe power bureaucracy and the State the rationality incrementalism debate the role of organisational theory in policy implementation street level bureaucracy and discretion Already praised as one of the best readers available in this field Michael Hill's new edition will be even more valued as a reference and teaching resource by students and lecturers alike

Dyadic Decision Making David Brinberg, James Jaccard, 2012-12-06 Recent research on joint or dyadic decision making has received renewed attention from behavioral scientists This interest is due mostly to the advances in analytic and conceptual models used to study interaction processes A number of related disciplines have used distinctive paradigms to study the same focal problem namely the processes by which two people interact come to resolve a problem and finally reach a decision Dyadic Decision Making presents in a single integrated volume the conceptual and analytic strategies developed in communications research marketing psychology and sociology to investigate joint decision making
