Street Noises Adrian Rifkin,1995 Street Noises combines the diverse materials of mass culture with literary and archival sources to produce an innovative and critical re reading of twentieth century Paris as the city of the people and of cultural modernity It concentrates on popular song and opera cultural theory and records of police surveillance such as the unpublished archives concerning the sexual mores of sailors in Toulon sensational weekly magazines including the weekly Detective Magazine with its remarkable photomontage and writers of the Academie Goncourt The author picks out their common realisation of the experience of the city also showing how the faits divers and the entertainment industries frame the writing of a Benjamin a Colette or a Genet Rifkin re works modern critical theory through these sources reflecting on its relation to the production of mass cultures

Repressed Spaces Paul Carter,2004-11-02 In Repressed Spaces Paul Carter tours the cultural history of agoraphobia the fear of open space Its symptoms were first described in The Anatomy of Melancholy 1621 by Robert Burton the British scholar and writer although it wasn t until 1871 that Carl Otto Westphal coined the term to describe several of his patients who experienced severe anxiety when walking through streets or squares There have been many attempts to explain and treat the condition critics of modernization have linked it to bad city planning psychoanalysts calling it street panic have blamed it on the Oedipus complex psychiatrists have tied it to existential insecurity and describe it as the fear of places or situations that have triggered panic attacks Freud believed that agoraphobia like all phobias was part of an anxiety neurosis and had a sexual origin Taking as his starting point the fact that Freud himself was agoraphobic and analyzing the way people have negotiated open spaces from Greek and Roman times to the present day Paul Carter finds that space fear ultimately results from the inhibition of movement Along the way the author asks why Freud repressed his agoraphobia and examines literature the work of architects and theorists including Le Corbusier Walter Benjamin and R D Laing artists such as Munch Lapique and Giacometti and the German street films of the 1920s He concludes by proposing a new way of regarding open space a new poetics of agoraphobia one that is sensitive to the agoraphobe s point of view and provides lessons for architects and urban planners today

Sheer Presence Marni Reva Kessler,2006 Tourism and the Branded City Stephanie Hemelryk Donald,John G. Gammack,2016-02-24 Comparing the major Pacific Rim cities of Sydney Hong Kong and Shanghai this book examines world city branding Whilst all three cities compete on the world s stage for events tourists and investment they are also at the centre of distinct film traditions and their identities are thus strongly connected with a cinematic impression Using an interdisciplinary approach this book not only analyses the city branding of these cities from the more widely researched perspectives of tourism marketing and regional development but also draws in cultural studies and psychology approaches which offer fresh and useful insights to place branding and marketing in general The authors compare and contrast qualitative and quantitative original data as well as critically analyzing current texts and debates on city branding In conclusion they argue that city branding should contribute not only to regional development and identity but also to sustainable economic well being and public happiness
