abuse the local population a fact which erupted into a scandal published by many media outlets in 2005 and 2006 This book analyzes factors which may increase the risk of such behavior as well as measures the UN has taken which may have decreased the number of incidents Using a mixed methods design the book argues that previous analyses have been largely undertheorized with the exception of gender theories and turns to criminology to look at the phenomenon of so called Sexual Exploitation and Abuse SEA in a new light The three risk factors found to increase the likelihood of SEAs are an environment of sexual violence in the mission s host country the presence of internally displaced persons close to the mission and a lack of supervised or regulated contact with the local population In turn the presence of an office whose purpose is to collect reports and investigate allegations training on preventing SEAs for the incoming peacekeepers and campaigns to empower the local population on these issues all seem to reduce the risk of sexual exploitation and abuse occurring By using a statistical analysis followed by case studies of the UN peacekeeping missions in the Democratic Republic of the Congo Liberia and the Golan Heights the author demonstrates the importance these factors have in the peacekeepers behavior on the mission providing a solid basis upon which future policy recommendations can be made
