Lawyers as Leaders Deborah L. Rhode, 2013-08-02 No occupation in America supplies a greater proportion of leaders than the legal profession yet it has done little to prepare them for this role Lawyers sit at the helm of a vast array of powerful law firms businesses governmental and nonprofit organizations Two of the last three presidents have been lawyers And yet almost no occupation rouses greater public distrust This paradox raises two important questions Why do we look to lawyers to lead and why do so many of them prove to be so ill prepared for that role In Lawyers as Leaders eminent law professor Deborah Rhode not only answers these questions but provides an invaluable overview for attorneys who occupy or aspire to leadership positions in public and private practice settings Drawing on a broad range of interdisciplinary research biographical profiles and empirical studies she covers everything from decision making conflict management and communication to ethics and diversity in leadership and what lawyers can do to advance both their professional development and the public interest Rhode contends that the legal profession attracts many people with the ambition and analytic capabilities to be leaders but often fails to develop other qualities that are essential to their effectiveness Successful lawyers need to be confident competitive and even combative but possessing such qualities often results in a lack of interpersonal sensitivity emotional intelligence and resilience the soft skills that both legal education and the reward structure of legal practice consistently undervalue The most successful leaders Rhode argues are those who can see past their own ambitions and retain a capacity for critical reflection on their performance The first serious work on leadership and law Lawyers as

Katzmann,2010-12-01 What can law firms do to ensure justice for all How can they serve the needs of those unable to pay How can law firms improve the quality of life for their lawyers At a time when government support for legal aid is limited and under fire when recent U S presidents have urged increased volunteerism when the American Bar Association s Law Firm Pro Bono Challenge is under way and when some within the legal profession have called for mandatory pro bono work this new book examines these important questions The Law Firm and the Public Good blends academic scholarship with real world experience as it brings together lawyers who have wrestled with the pressures of everyday practice Concerned about deepening the commitment of large law firms to the wider community the authors seek to provide a blueprint for firms concerned with creating developing implementing and evaluating pro bono programs Moving beyond the ethical arguments which justify a law firm s commitment to community service the authors argue that pro bono work is in the firm s self interest They show that a heightened concern with the public good can improve a lawyer's spirit sharpen lawyering skills and enhance the humanistic traditions of law practice They conclude that professional responsibility and self interest support the same conclusion that the law firm and the public good are inextricably linked and that each can draw strength from the other in ways that nourish both The contributors are William A Bradford Jr Hogan Senior Circuit Judge Frank M Coffin U S Court of Appeals for the First Circuit Anthony F Earley Jr Detroit Edison Marc Galanter University of Wisconsin Madison Donald W Hoagland Davis Graham William C Kelly Jr Latham Esther F Lardent director of the ABA's Law Firm Pro Bono Project Edwin L Noel Armstrong Teasdale Schlafly Thomas Palay University of Wisconsin Madison J
