The Morning After Sexual Politics At The End Of The Cold War:

The Morning After Cynthia Enloe, 1993-10-10 Deciphering the sexual tea leaves of this tumultuous new era The Morning After is an eye opener for everyone who cares about contemporary sexual politics BOOK JACKET The Morning After Cynthia Enloe, 1993-10-10 Cynthia Enloe's riveting new book looks at the end of the Cold War and places women at the center of international politics Focusing on the relationship between the politics of sexuality and the politics of militarism Enloe charts the changing definitions of gender roles sexuality and militarism at the end of the twentieth century In the gray dawn of this new era Enloe finds that the politics of sexuality have already shifted irrevocably Women glimpse the possibilities of democratization and demilitarization within what is still a largely patriarchal world New opportunities for greater freedom are seen in emerging social movements gays fighting for their place in the American military Filipina servants rallying for their rights in Saudi Arabia Danish women organizing against the European Community's Maastricht treaty Enloe also documents the ongoing assaults against women as newly emerging nationalist movements serve to reestablish the privileges of masculinity The voices of real women are heard in this book They reach across cultures showing the interconnections between military networks jobs domestic life and international politics The Morning After will spark new ways of thinking about the complexities of the post Cold War period and it will bring contemporary sexual politics into the clear light of day as no other book has done

Wartime Sexual Violence against Men, Élise Féron, 2018-11-16 Cases of sexual violence against men have been documented in a great number of conflicts and wars both ancient and contemporary Despite this growing empirical evidence there is still a dearth of analyses on this type of violence which stands in stark contrast with the abundant literature dealing with sexual violence against women Based on a fieldwork conducted primarily in the Great Lakes Region of Africa this book proposes to look at wartime sexual violence against men as a performative gendered act that stemming from the same logic underpinning sexual violence against women reaffirms a gendered social hierarchy The book explores patterns of wartime sexual violence against men and presents survivors but also perpetrators stories The book proceeds to analysing the context in which this type of violence can be understood narrated but also addressed either through support programs for survivors or through legal means

Rethinking Geopolitics Simon Dalby, Gearoid O. u Tuathail, 2002-01-22 Rethinking Geopolitics argues that the concept of geopolitics needs to be conceptualised anew as the twenty first century approaches Challenging conventional geopolitical assumptions contributors explore theories of post modern geopolitics historical formulations of states and cold wars the geopolitics of the Holocaust the gendered dimension of Kurdish insurgency the cold war world political cartoons concerning Bosnia Time magazine representations of the Persian Gulf the Zapatistas and the Chiapas revolt the new cyber politics conflict simulations in the US military the emergence of a new geopolitics of global security Exploring how popular cultural assumptions about geography and politics constitute the discourses of contemporary violence and political economy Rethinking Geopolitics shows that we must rethink the struggle for knowledge space and power Gender and International Security Laura Sjoberg, 2009-10-16

This book defines the relationship between gender and international security analyzing and critiquing international security theory and practice from a gendered perspective Gender issues have an important place in the international security landscape but have been neglected both in the theory and practice of international security The passage and implementation of UN Security Council Resolution 1325 on Security Council operations the integration of gender concerns into peacekeeping the management of refugees post conflict disarmament and reintegration and protection for non combatants in times of war shows the increasing importance of gender sensitivity for actors on all fronts in global security This book aims to improve the quality and quantity of conversations between feminist security studies and security studies more generally in order to demonstrate the importance of gender analysis to the study of international security and to expand the feminist research program in Security Studies The chapters included in this book not only challenge the assumed irrelevance of gender they argue that gender is not a subsection of security studies to be compartmentalized or briefly considered as a side issue Rather the contributors argue that gender is conceptually empirically and normatively essential to studying international security They do so by critiquing and reconstructing key concepts of and theories in international security by looking for the increasingly complex roles women play as security actors and by looking at various contemporary security issues through gendered lenses Together these chapters make the case that accurate rigorous and ethical scholarship of international security cannot be produced without taking account of women's presence in or the gendering of world politics This book will be of interest to all students of critical security studies gender studies and International Relations in general Laura Sjoberg is Assistant Professor of Political Science at the University of Florida She has a Phd in International Relations and Gender Studies from the University of Southern California and is the author of Gender Justice and the Wars in Iraq 2006 and with Caron Gentry Mothers Monsters Whores Women's Violence in Global Politics 2007 Making Gender, Making War Annica Kronsell, Erika Svedberg, 2011-09-08 Making Gender Making War is a unique interdisciplinary edited collection which explores the social construction of gender war making and peacekeeping It highlights the institutions and processes involved in the making of gender in terms of both men and women masculinity and femininity The war question for feminism marks a thematic red thread throughout it is a call to students and scholars of feminism to take seriously and engage with the task of analyzing war Contributors analyze how war making is intertwined with the making of gender in a diversity of empirical case studies organized around four themes gender violence and militarism how the making of gender is connected to a re making of the nation through military practices UN SCR 1325 and gender mainstreaming in institutional practices and gender subjectivities in the organization of violence exploring the notion of violent women and non violent men The Other Cold War Heonik Kwon, 2010-12-06 In this conceptually bold project Heonik Kwon uses anthropology to interrogate the cold war's cultural and historical narratives Adopting a truly panoramic view of local politics and international events he challenges the notion that the cold war was a global struggle fought uniformly around the world and that the end of the war marked a radical universal rupture in modern history Incorporating comparative ethnographic study into a thorough analysis of the period Kwon upends cherished ideas about the global and their hold on contemporary social science His narrative describes the slow decomposition of a complex social and political order involving a number of local and culturally creative processes While the nations of Europe and North America experienced the cold war as a time of long peace postcolonial nations entered a different reality altogether characterized by vicious civil wars and other exceptional forms of violence Arguing that these events should be integrated into any account of the era Kwon captures the first sociocultural portrait of the cold war in all its subtlety and diversity

The Gender Imperative Betty A. Reardon, Asha Hans, 2012-12-06
 The book asserts that human security derives from the experience and expectation of human well being which depends on four essential conditions a life sustaining environment the meeting of essential physical needs respect for the identity and dignity of persons and groups protection from avoidable harm and expectations of remedy from them The book demonstrates their integral relationship to human security Patriarchy being the germinal paradigm from which most major human institutions such as the state the economy organised religions and social relations have evolved the book argues that fundamental inequalities must be challenged for the sake of equality and security The fundamental point raised is that expectation of human well being is a continuing cause of armed conflict which constitutes a threat to peace and survival of all humanity and human security cannot exist within a militarised security system The editors of the book bring together 14 essays which critically examine militarised security in order to find human security pathways show ways in which to refute the dominant paradigm indicate a clear gender analysis that challenges the current system and suggests alternatives to militarised security With a mix of female and male feminist scholar activists as contributors the book makes an important contribution to a new discourse on human security
