The Multi-state System of Ancient China Richard Louis Walker, 1953 The Multi-state System of Ancient China
Richard Louis Walker, 1953 The Origins and Character of the Ancient Chinese City, Volume 1 Paul Wheatley, These two volumes elucidate the manner in which there emerged on the North China plain hierarchically structured functionally specialized social institutions organized on a political and territorial basis during the second millennium b c They describe the way in which during subsequent centuries these institutes were diffused through much of the rest of North and Central China Author Paul Wheatley equates the emergence of the ceremonial center as evidenced in Shang China with a functional and developmental stage in urban genesis and substantiates his argument with comparative evidence from the Americas Mesopotamia Egypt Southeast Asia the Mediterranean and the Yoruba territories The Origins and Character of the Ancient Chinese City seeks in small measure to help redress the current imbalance between our knowledge of the contemporary Western style city on the one hand and of the urbanism characteristic of the traditional world on the other Those aspects of urban theory which have been derived predominantly from the investigation of Western urbanism are tested against rather than applied to ancient China The Origins and Character of the Ancient Chinese City examines the cosmological symbolism of the Chinese city constructed as a world unto itself It suggests with a wealth of argument and evidence that this cosmo magical role underpinned the functional unity of the city everywhere until new bases for urban life began to develop in the Hellenistic world Whereas the majority of previous investigations into the nature of the Chinese city have been undertaken from the standpoint of elites The Origins and Character of the Ancient Chinese City has adopted a point of view closer to that of the social scientist than the geographer Paul Wheatley was professor and chairman of the Committee on Social Thought at the University of Chicago He was most famous for his work dealing with comparative urban civilization Some of his books include The Places Where Men Pray Together Cities in Islamic Lands 7th to 10th Centuries Nagara and Commandery Origins of the Southeast Asian Urban Traditions and The Management of Success The Moulding of Modern Singapore with K S Sandhu Power and Politics in Tenth-century China , The Origins and Character of the Ancient Chinese City Paul Wheatley, 2017-07-12 These two volumes elucidate the manner in which there emerged on the North China plain hierarchically structured functionally specialized social institutions organized on a political and territorial basis during the second millennium b c They describe the way in which during subsequent centuries these institutes were diffused through much of the rest of North and Central China Author Paul Wheatley equates the emergence of the ceremonial center as evidenced in Shang China with a functional and developmental stage in urban genesis and substantiates his argument with comparative evidence from the Americas Mesopotamia Egypt Southeast Asia the Mediterranean and the Yoruba territories The Origins and Character of the Ancient Chinese City seeks in small measure to help redress the current imbalance between our knowledge of the contemporary Western style city on the one hand and of the urbanism characteristic of the traditional world on the other Those aspects of urban theory which have been derived predominantly from the investigation of Western urbanism are tested against rather than applied to ancient China The Origins and Character of the Ancient Chinese City examines the cosmological symbolism of the Chinese city constructed as a world unto itself It suggests with a wealth of argument and evidence that this cosmo magical role underpinned the functional unity of the city everywhere until new bases for urban life began to develop in the Hellenistic world Whereas the majority of previous investigations into the nature of the Chinese city have been undertaken from the standpoint of elites The Origins and Character of the Ancient Chinese City has adopted a point of view closer to that of the social scientist than the geographer

War and State Formation in Ancient China and Early Modern Europe Victoria Tin-bor Hui, 2005-07-04 The Eurocentric conventional wisdom holds that the West is unique in having a multi state system in international relations and liberal democracy in state society relations At the same time the Sinocentric perspective believes that China is destined to have authoritarian rule under a unified empire In fact China in the Spring and Autumn and Warring States periods 656 221 BC was once a system of sovereign territorial states similar to Europe in the early modern period Both cases witnessed the prevalence of war formation of alliances development of the centralized bureaucracy emergence of citizenship rights and expansion of international trade This book first published in 2005 examines why China and Europe shared similar processes but experienced opposite outcomes This historical comparison of China and Europe challenges the presumption that Europe was destined to enjoy checks and balances while China was preordained to suffer under a coercive universal status

Studies on the Jurchens and the Chin Dynasty Herbert Franke, 2024-12-11

The studies collected here derive in large part from the collaborative Chin history project to which Professors Chan and Franke have made a massive contribution The Jurchens lived in northeastern Manchuria as hunters fishers and farmers until 1115 when they founded a dynastic state called Chin and went on to conquer northern China Some of the studies here deal with the way of life of the pre dynastic Jurchens others with the law and institutions of the Chin state and the treaties by which they sought to regulate their conflict with the Sung dynasty to the south Taken together these studies depict the varying mixture of Chinese and native traditions and customs that were adopted presenting a detailed analysis of this multinational regime in medieval China
