Strategies, Structures, and Processes for Network and Resources Management in Industrial Parks Tiina Salonen, 2010 In the recent years the number of industrial parks has grown rapidly worldwide driven by economic policies and industrial restructuring The high resource consumption and prices as well as stringent environmental policies and laws have pushed the strategic importance of efficient resources management Due to the proximity of companies industrial parks offer potential for the development of interorganizational resource exchanges in terms of energy and waste infrastructure sharing and joint services Utilizing this potential enhances the resource efficiency and added value of companies while often reducing their environmental impacts Efficient management of resources in industrial parks requires an appropriate management concept However the research and literature on the management of industrial parks is very limited As a solution the author introduces the concept for integrated resources management The theoretical status quo of the concept is studied from the perspective of industrial ecology with the conclusion that the approach lacks a strategic management dimension To tackle the problem the author draws upon the strategic management and organizational theories as well as the approaches of network and environmental management The empirical insights into the concept are sought by analyzing applied practices to network and resources management in industrial parks The case studies comprise representative examples of successful industrial restructuring from Germany such as DOW ValuePark R and Chemical Industrial Park Marl and showcases of China s economic policy such as Shanghai Chemical Industry Park and Tianjin Economic and Technological Development Area A reader will find in this book a sound theoretical framework to accommodate further research and practical decision support to manage resource problems characterized by conflicting stakeholder interests STRATEGIES FROM STRUCTURES. ,2002 Strategy Implementation Jay R. Corporate Social Capital and Liability Roger Th.A.J. Leenders, Shaul M. Gabbay, 2013-03-09 In studies of inter organizational relations IOR s there is a tendency to look at dyads of firms and to consider networks as aggregates of such dyads But there are several roles for a third party a go between This chapter looks at a go between not in the sense of a middleman who intermediates in existing production or trade such as an agent wholesaler retailer and not in the sense of an entrepreneur who intermediates in the realization of new potential in connecting supply and demand It looks at a go between in the sense of a relationship counsellor for the development and maintenance of social capital providing support in setting up adapting and ending cooperative relations between others Or in yet different terms to help in the embedding of relations in Granovetter's 1985 sense Uzzi 1997a Such roles may be performed by middlemen or entrepreneurs but also by specialized agents who do not play a direct role in linking stages in a chain of production and distribution as middlemen and entrepreneurs typically do Indeed some of the roles require an independence that is served by not having a direct stake in the relations that need to be developed I propose that the analysis yields a perspective for looking at the roles of trade and industry associations in European business systems and of banks and trading houses in Japanese enterprise groups Kigyo Shudan
