If one fails a commitment, on this view, one fails as a moral being and possibly, echoing more recent versions of the account, scathes one’s own practical identity. The other chain of associations begins with Hobbes’s idea that commitments should be made and kept for self-interested reasons. Keeping a commitment is in one’s own interest, on Hobbes’s reckoning, just in case a strong

The Art of Coercion Reid B. C. Pauly, 2025-08-15 The Art of Coercion presents a fresh explanation for the success and failure of coercive demands in international politics Strong states are surprisingly bad at coercion History shows they prevail only a third of the time Reid B C Pauly argues that coercion often fails because targets fear punishment even if they comply In this damned if you do damned if you don't scenario targets have little reason to obey Pauly illustrates this logic in nuclear counterproliferation efforts with South Africa Iraq Libya and Iran He shows that coercers face an assurance dilemma When threats are more credible assurances not to punish are less so But without credible assurances targets may defy threats bracing for seemingly inevitable punishment For coercion to work as such coercers must not only make targets believe that they will be punished if they do not comply but also that they will not be if they do Packed with insights for any foreign policy challenge involving coercive strategies The Art of Coercion crucially corrects assumptions that tougher threats alone achieve results
