

A photograph of the interior of St Peter's Anglican Church in Cremorne. The view is from the back of the church looking down the central aisle towards the altar. The aisle is carpeted in red and flanked by rows of dark wooden pews. The church has a high, vaulted ceiling with exposed dark wooden beams. The walls are made of light-colored brick. At the front, there is a large arched opening leading to the altar area, which is also arched. The altar is covered with a red cloth. To the right of the altar, there is a tall, multi-piped organ. Stained glass windows are visible on the side walls. The overall atmosphere is one of a traditional, well-maintained church interior.
