The Planning Imagination Mark Tewdwr-Jones,Nicholas Phelps,Robert Freestone,2013-10-01 Knighted in 1998 for services to the Town and Country Planning Association and in 2003 named by Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II as a Pioneer in the Life of the Nation Peter Hall is internationally renowned for the breadth and depth of his studies and writings on urban and regional planning For the last 50 years he has captured and helped to create the planning imagination Here the editors have brought together in five themes a series of critical reflections on Peter's vast and diverse contributions Those reflections are provided by colleagues familiar with his work The five parts are devoted to Peter Hall's breadth of academic work covering the history of cities and planning London spatial planning connectivity and mobility and urban globalization Finally as a sixth part the editors have asked Peter Hall himself to reflect on his career and the sources of his imagination The story this book tells is not one of a singular totally consistent theoretical and philosophical view elaborated over several decades Rather it covers a set of views that necessarily admits signs of Peter's inconsistency and imperfection over the years the insights and imperfections that inevitably accompany the exercise of a nonetheless remarkably fertile restless and inspiring planning imagination

The New Politics of Science David Dickson, 1988 How science gets done in today's world has profound political repercussions since scientific knowledge through its technical applications has become an important source of both economic and military power The increasing dependence of scientific research on funding from business and the military has made questions about the access to and control of scientific knowledge a central issue in today's politics of science In The New Politics of Science David Dickson points out that the scientific community has its own internal power structures its elites its hierarchies its ideologies its sanctioned norms of social behavior and its dissenting groups And the more that science as a social practice forms an integral part of the economic structures of the society in which it is imbedded the more the boundaries and differences between the two dissolve Groups inside the scientific community for example will use groups outside the community and vice versa to achieve their own political ends In this edition Dickson has included a new preface commenting on the continuing and increasing influence of industrial and defense interests on American scientific research in the 1980s

Entrepreneurship, the New Economy and Public Policy Uwe Cantner, Elias Dinopoulos, Robert F. Lanzillotti, 2005-12-12 Silicon Valley is the most salient example of high tech industrial clusters Public policymakersthroughouttheworldwouldliketolearnthesecretsofSiliconValley in order to build their own high tech economies The existing literature on industrial clusters which traces back to Marshall 1920 focuses on the way in which firms benefit from locating in a cluster it suggests that once a cluster comes into existence it tends to reinforce itself by attracting more firms However a more important question is how to reach this critical mass in the first place In contrast to the literature evidence suggests that entrepreneurs rarely move when they establish high tech start ups Cooper and Folta 2000 This contradicts the notion that location choice analyses lead entrepreneurs to a high tech cluster A high tech industrial cluster such as Silicon Valley is characterized by concentrated entrepreneurship Following Schumpeter we emphasize the fact that the appearance of one or a few entrepreneurs facilitates the appearance of others Schumpeter 1934 We propose an agent based computational model to show how high tech industrial clusters could emerge in a landscape in which no firms existed originally The model is essentially a spatial version of the Nelson Winter model Boundedly rational agents are scattered over an explicitly defined landscape Each agent is endowed with some technology which determines his firm's productivity if he has one During each period of time an agent with no firm would make a decision as to whether he wants to start one This decision is mostly affected by the behavior of his social contacts who are all his neighbors Business for Engineers Brian C. Twiss, 1988
