The Language Parallax Paul Friedrich, 2014-04-15 Humankind has always been fascinated and troubled by the way languages and dialects differ Linguistically based differences in point of view have preoccupied many original minds of the past such as Kant and remain at the forefront of language study in philosophy anthropology literary criticism and other fields Paul Friedrich's The Language Parallax argues persuasively that the locus and focus of differences among languages lies not so much in practical or rational aspects as in the complexity and richness of more poetic dimensions in the nuances of words or the style and voice of an author This poetic reformulation of what has been called linguistic relativism is grounded in the author's theory of the imagination as a main source of poetic indeterminacy The reformulation is also based on the intimate relation of the concentrated language of poetry to the potential or possibilities for poetry in ordinary conversation dreams and other experiences The author presents challenging thoughts on the order and system of language in their dynamic relation to indeterminacy and ultimately disorder and chaos Drawing on his considerable fieldwork in anthropology and linguistics Friedrich interweaves distinct and provocative elements the poetry of language difference the indeterminacy in dialects and poetic forms the discovery of underlying orders the workings of different languages the strength of his own poetry The result is an innovative and organic whole The Language Parallax then is a highly original work with a single bold thesis It draws on research and writing that has involved in particular English Russian and the Tarascan language of Mexico as well as the personal and literary study of the respective cultures Anthropologist linguist and poet Friedrich synthesizes from his experience in order to interrelate language variation and structure the creative individual ideas of system in process and questions of scientific and aesthetic truth The result is a new view of language held to the light of its potentially creative nature

A Reinterpretation of Linguistic Relativity Guohui Jiang, 2020-12-03 As a vital issue not only of linguistics but also of cognitive sciences psychology neurosciences philosophy etc engaging in the study of the relation between language thought and reality the doctrine of linguistic relativity LR went through upsurge downturn renaissance during more than 80 years yet remains still unsolved puzzle for researchers of all these academic areas Numerous treatises with valued ideas about this issue are continuously contributed to this theme nevertheless the study of LR has been stagnant up to nowadays The reason is that in my opinion the study has deviated from the right direction and this deviation might be boiled down to three basic concepts The expository scope of LR LR cannot and should not concern with a human speech thinking action at the level of human biological physiological traits b human behaviours in all fields of his everyday life and c human spiritual activities in the areas of science literature philosophy art etc LR will explain that constrained by the language ordinary people are not aware that the reality they talk think about does not coincide with the outside world they physically experience The relativity We should ponder the language thought reality relation in line with the original intention of Whorf when he proposed the principle of LR i e the relativity should not be interpreted as the discrepancy between customs modes of thinking and patterns of behavior of different linguistic communities on the basis of comparing peculiarities of their languages The language The doctrine of LR should concern with the human language as a complete and comprehensive system but not with a set of sporadically observed phenomena and certain random interpretation of them The linguistic intermediated world is eventually construed by the entire system of language rather than an assembly of peculiar language items

Sounds Like Life Janis B. Nuckolls, 1996 Moreover the evidence from sound symbolism's grammatical patterning its performative foregrounding in multiple contexts of use and its ability to trigger memories of key life experiences suggests that for the Pastaza Quechua sound symbolism is more than a style of speaking It is a style of thinking about oneself as connected by the sounds that resonate through one's body with the natural world

Dramatized Discourse Zhuo Jing-Schmidt, 2005-08-31 Language is a symbolic system of meanings evoked by linguistic forms The choice of forms in communication is non arbitrary Rather speakers pick those forms whose meanings best convey their discourse intention The meaning of the Mandarin ba construction argues Jing Schmidt is discourse dramaticity a concept that includes high conceptual salience and subjectivity The ba construction and its syntactic variations are never interchangeable because contrast in their meanings determines difference in their functions Quantitative analyses based on authentic data validate the postulation of discourse dramaticity By taking discourse pragmatics seriously the dramaticity hypothesis enables a unitary explanation that transcends sentence grammar The diachronic treatment reveals the syntactic change of the ba construction as an adaptive process of pragmatization which raises the issue of linguistic evolution as a result of socio cultural development This book will be of particular value to readers interested in the interaction between grammar and pragmatics and to teachers confronting the controversy of the ba construction in foreign language pedagogy
