St Justin Martyr The First And Second Apologies:

The First Apology, The Second Apology, Dialogue with Trypho, Exhortation to the Greeks, Discourse to the Greeks, The Monarchy Or The Rule of God Saint Justin Martyr, Justin Martyr, 2008-09 No description available Saint Justin Martyr Justin Martyr, Saint Justin (Martyr), 1977 The First and Second Apologies Saint Justin (Martyr), 1997 An English translation from Greek of Justin Martyr's two major apologetic works which are recognized as a formative influence on the development of Christian theology in the early church The Essential St. Justin Martyr Justin Martyr, 2017-07-18 The First Apology was an early work of Christian apologetics addressed by Justin Martyr to the Roman Emperor Antoninus Pius. In addition to arguing against the persecution of individuals solely for being Christian, Justin also provides the Emperor with a defense of the philosophy of Christianity and a detailed explanation of contemporary Christian practices and rituals. This work, along with the Second Apology, has been cited as one of the earliest examples of Christian apology, and many scholars attribute this work to creating a new genre of apology out of what was a typical Roman administrative procedure. The Second Apology is supposed to have been written as a supplement to the First Apology of Justin Martyr on account of certain proceedings which had in the mean time taken place in Rome before Lollius Urbicus as prefect of the city, which must have been between 150 and 157. The Apology is addressed to the Roman Senate. The Second Apology was meant to expose the real reasons behind the recent persecutions of Christians under Urbicus. It also tried to expose the utter irrationality of allegations and propaganda spread against the Christians. In The Second Apology, Justin recounts the story of a certain woman who, on hearing the teachings of Jesus and having become a Christian, refused to comply with the immoral practices of her husband. Because the disagreements were severe, she desired to be divorced but, not being encouraged to do so, she continued in that relationship until one day when it became ethically unlivable and she gave him a bill of divorce. The husband retaliated by bringing accusations against her before the Emperor. But when he couldn't do anything against her, he turned against the Christian leaders, whom Urbicus, the prefect, began to severely persecute. The Dialogue with Trypho, along with the First and Second Apologies, is a second-century Christian apologetic text documenting the attempts by the theologian Justin Martyr to show that Christianity is the new law for all men and to prove from Scripture that Jesus is the Jewish Messiah. The Dialogue utilizes the literary device of an intellectual conversation between Justin and Trypho, a Jew. The concluding section propounds that the Christians are the true people of God. The identity of Trypho as Rabbi Tarfon, the Hebrew name Tarfon likely derived from Greek Trypho, has been proposed, but virtually all scholars mentioned in Setzer's Jewish Responses to Early Christians do not accept the notion that Trypho is Tarfon. These scholars say that Trypho is a fictional character invented by Justin for his literary goals. Setzer's book further claims that whether a character on which Trypho was based existed or not, one can generally assume that Trypho's words are largely put in his mouth by Justin. The First and Second Apologies of Justin Martyr Aaron Simms, 2018-09-28 Justin Martyr was a mid-second-century Christian
