Gordon Pugh, 1970 Manliness in Britain, 1760–1900 Joanne Begiato, 2020-02-28 This book offers an innovative account of manliness in Britain between 1760 and 1900 Using diverse textual visual and material culture sources it shows that masculinities were produced and disseminated through men's bodies often working class ones and the emotions and material culture associated with them The book analyses idealised men who stimulated desire and admiration including virile boxers soldiers sailors and blacksmiths brave firemen and noble industrial workers It also investigates unmanly men such as drunkards wife beaters and masturbators who elicited disgust and aversion Unusually Manliness in Britain runs from the eras of feeling revolution and reform to those of militarism imperialism representative democracy and mass media periods often dealt with separately by historians of masculinities Modern Christianity and Cultural Aspirations David Bebbington, Timothy Larsen, 2003-06-01 Christianity and cultural aspirations are inevitably in tension the combination invites a suspicion that temporal pursuits have slackened a quest for divine approbation Nevertheless as Christians generally believe that worldly success may be a position of influence worth seeking for noble reasons it is truly an area of tension rather than merely temptation This volume explores this lively juxtaposition in the context of modern Britain and America In fifteen original essays a range of well respected scholars examine the cultural aspirations of a broad spectrum of Christians including Baptists Congregationalists Methodists Presbyterians Roman Catholics and Anglicans as they were expressed in arenas as diverse as politics education architecture and sport People, places and identities Alan Kidd, Melanie Tebbutt, 2017-03-24 This book of essays on British social and cultural history since the eighteenth century draws attention to relatively neglected topics including personal and collective identities the meanings of place especially locality and the significance of cultures of association Themes range from rural England in the eighteenth century to the urbanizing society of the nineteenth century from the Home Front in the First World War to voluntary action in the welfare state from post 1945 civic culture to the advice columns of teenage magazines and the national press Various aspects of civil society connect these themes notably the different identities of place locality and association that emerged with the growth of an urban environment during the nineteenth century and the shifting landscape of twentieth century public discourse on social welfare and personal morality It is of interest that several of the essays take Manchester or Lancashire as their focus

Divided Hearts Richard J. M. Blackett, 2000-12-01 Divided Hearts explores the passionate political strife that raged in Britain as a result of the American Civil War Moving beyond Mary Ellison's 1972 landmark regional study of Lancashire cotton workers reactions R J M Blackett opens the subject to a new wider transatlantic context of influence and undertakes a deftly researched and written sociological intellectual and political examination of who in Britain supported the Union who the Confederacy and why The American Civil War had a profound effect on Britain's political culture no other event during that period not in Poland Hungary Italy or British colonies compared Blackett argues that the traditional historiographical assessments of British partisanship along class and economic lines must be reevaluated in light of the nature and changing contours of transatlantic abolitionist connections the ways in which nationalism framed the debate and the effect that race among other issues exerted over the British public's perception of conditions in America Divided Hearts presents a compelling and innovative thesis one sure to engage scholars in many fields of history
