Meehan, 2009 The fifteen interviews in this collection are reprinted as they appeared originally Introduction National Review's Literary Network Stephen Schryer, 2024-01-23 National Review's Literary Network traces the careers of novelists journalists and literary critics who wrote for William F Buckley Jr's National Review In the 1950s the magazine sought to establish itself as a conservative alternative to liberal journals like Partisan Review To do so it needed a robust book review section featuring nationally recognized writers Between the 1950s and the 1980s Whittaker Chambers John Dos Passos Hugh Kenner Guy Davenport Joan Didion Garry Wills and D Keith Mano wrote for the magazine The magazine boosted their careers and they in turn helped make Buckley's version of conservatism respectable In the pages of National Review and elsewhere these writers fashioned a body of literary work that takes up and refracts right wing concerns about tradition religion and personal liberty Uncovering a neglected part of post World War II American literary history Stephen Schryer highlights these writers enduring impact on movement conservatism Believing in the power of intellectuals Buckley and his fellow editors argued that the academy the media and other institutions had been taken over by a liberal establishment that sought to impose its ideas on the nation They wanted to establish a network of institutional counter circuits staffed by conservatives The magazine's literary intellectuals contributed to this effort helping conservatives present themselves as a counter elite sheltering traditional humanities based knowledge within a technocratic welfare state In so doing they facilitated the magazine's assault on the very possibility of expertise ushering in the fragmented epistemological landscape that has characterized the United States since the late 1960s William F. Buckley Jr. Lee Edwards, 2014-04-08 The modern day Renaissance man who forged the conservative movement Noted conservative historian Lee Edwards who knew William F Buckley Jr for more than forty years delivers a much needed intellectual biography of the man has been called arguably the most important public intellectual in the United States in the past half century In this concise and compelling book Edwards reveals how Buckley did more than any other person to build the conservative movement Once derided as a set of irritable mental gestures conservatism became under Buckley's guidance a political and intellectual force that transformed America As conservatives debate the ideas that should drive their movement William F Buckley Jr The Maker of a Movement reminds us of the principles that animated Buckley as well as the thinkers who inspired him The four most important intellectual influences on this great molder of American conservatism Edwards shows were libertarian author and social critic Albert Jay Nock conservative political scientist Willmoore Kendall former Soviet spy Whittaker Chambers and realpolitik apostle James Burnham Having dug deep into the voluminous Buckley papers Edwards also illuminates the profound influence of Buckley's close knit family and his unwavering Catholic faith The Humana Festival Jeffrey Ullom, 2008-06-19 Far from the glittering
