Social Policy Media And Misrepresentation:

Social Policy, the Media and Misrepresentation Bob Franklin, 2002-01-04 Social Policy the Media and Misrepresentation examines aspects of news media reporting of social policy and how such coverage can influence processes of policy making and implementation It offers an appraisal of the complex inter relationships between news media news sources the content of media coverage of social policy and its impact on audiences public opinion and policy makers Through detailed case studies the various contributors explore social work and child protection housing and homelessness the charity and voluntary sectors poverty and welfare policy health including HIV AIDS and mental health education and crime and juvenile justice

Pharmaceuticals and Society Simon J. Williams, Jonathan Gabe, Peter Davis, 2009-02-09 Drawing on the latest international sociological research this monograph takes a critical look at contemporary developments discourses and debate on pharmaceuticals and society Key issues covered include pharmaceuticals and medicalization and the science and politics of drug development testing and regulation Investigates the constructions of pharmaceuticals in professional and popular culture and the meaning and use of medications in everyday life Investigates pharmaceuticals consumerism and citizenship and the impact of innovation and expectations regarding pharmaceutical futures Written in a lively accessible style with many engaging and important insights from key international figures in the field

Social Policy John Baldock, Nick Manning, Sarah Vickerstaff, 2007-03 Designed for use by undergraduates on social policy social work and sociology courses and by students on vocational training courses including postgraduate this textbook covers all the main topics of social policy

Social Constructionism in Housing Research Jim Kemeny, 2017-05-15 By stressing the importance of subjectivity and interpretation social constructionism offers a different conception of reality from the traditional approach to housing policy analysis This book provides an up to date review of the social constructionist perspective and considers its philosophical basis It discusses how social problems are constructed and in turn how this informs policy making It is divided into two parts The first section is theoretical and discusses the variety of conceptual approaches utilised within the constructionist paradigm The second part provides a number of empirically based case studies from the UK and Australia to illustrate the different methodologies that form the social constructionist corpus The book also evaluates both the criticisms that have been made against the social constructionist perspective and the strengths and weaknesses of constructionist methods It therefore contributes to the development of a future research agenda for social constructionist research in housing and urban policy

Media and Health Clive Seale, 2003-01-17 This book appears to fill a substantial gap in the literature at present There are quite simply no books available which engage seriously and competently with the presentation of health issues in the media and certainly none which focuses on representations of health and illness in as thematically coherent a manner as Seale proposes to do Richard Gwyn University of Cardiff This is an excellent resource for students It provides a comprehensive review of secondary literature in the field and is very well researched Students of sociology of health and illness and in media and communication studies will find the book invaluable David Oswell Goldsmiths College University of London This is a comprehensive work on media health providing an invaluable toolkit for understanding health and the media in contemporary society Seale goes further than previous textbooks critiquing the lament of media health promoters in order to explore the moralisation and commercialisation of media health Dr Annette Hill University of Westminster How are health matters presented by the mass media How accurate are the messages we are receiving This book demonstrates how health messages in popular mass media are important influences in our lives and that they are not neutral being subject to many determining influences It demonstrates the importance of mass media for understanding the experience of illness health and health care bringing together the latest thinking in the field of media studies and the sociology of health and illness This book provides a thorough review of research literature on media representations of health illness and health care covering their production characteristic forms and relationships with the everyday lives of media audiences It brings together both well known and lesser known studies in the context of an integrated sociological argument about media and health Media producers are subject to a variety of influences from medical lobbies scientific organizations and not least the commercial pressure to satisfy media saturated audiences These mean that aims of health promoters are not always easily achieved leading to considerable tensions that require a deeper understanding of media health than has hitherto been applied to them This book will be essential reading for health educators and promoters as well as health care providers interested in the cultural aspects of health sociologists of health and illness and students and academics of media studies

Mediatization of Communication Knut Lundby, 2014-08-25 This handbook on Mediatization of Communication uncovers the interrelation between media changes and changes in culture and society This is essential to understand contemporary trends and transformations Mediatization characterizes changes in practices cultures and institutions in media saturated societies thus denoting transformations of these societies themselves This volume offers 31 contributions by leading media and communication scholars from the humanities and social sciences with different approaches to mediatization of communication The chapters span from how mediatization meets climate change and contribute to globalization to questions on life and death in mediatized settings The book deals with mass media as well as communication with networked digital media The topic of this volume makes a valuable contribution to the understanding of contemporary processes of social cultural and political changes The handbook provides the reader with the most current state of mediatization research

Journalism: Critical Issues Allan, Stuart, 2005-01-01 Over the years it has been frequently remarked that journalism is at a crossroads indeed so often that it risks sounding somewhat clichéd yet there is every indication that its very forms practices and institutions are being decisively transformed with startling implications Accordingly the principal aim of this book is to help provide the basis for new dialogues to emerge regarding journalism today as well as about where it may be heading tomorrow Journalism Critical Issues poses a series of important questions

afresh questions deserving of much greater attention than they have typically received to date Each of the contributors seeks to challenge conventional ways of thinking about the critical issue at stake in their respective chapter In so doing it is their intention to further our understanding but also to encourage future explorations with the potential to revitalise journalism studies In adopting this approach it is hoped that the book will make for a lively argumentative in the best sense of the word and engaging intervention
