Yang Mou-ch'un YANG, 1970 Evolution Of Policy Behind Taiwan's Development Success, The (2nd Edition) Kuo-ting Li, 1995-11-24 Within thirty years of its humble beginnings Taiwan was listed by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development OECD as one of ten newly industrialized countries NICs This book charts how and why such growth took place and discusses areas of Taiwan's experience that might be useful in helping other countries achieve economic growth and improve their living standards The second edition includes additional chapters and updated information and statistics The author one of the chief architects of Taiwan's economic development worked with the government for forty years Here he draws on his extensive experience He has held important positions such as Economics Minister Finance Minister and Minister without Portfolio dealing with among other inter ministerial problems the Science and Technology Program Presently he is the Senior Advisor to the President He has been involved in the development of economic fiscal monetary industrial international trade manpower science and technology policies The Taiwan Success Story Shirley W Y Kuo, Gustav Ranis, 2020-01-08 Economists and policymakers have long been perplexed over the way rapid growth appears to conflict with the other common goal of developing nations more equitable income distribution But economic expansion need not preclude equity as demonstrated by the case of Taiwan which experienced high rates of economic growth between the early 1950s and the late 1970s while simultaneously improving the distribution of income among its people This book describes how the Republic of China managed this balancing of goals and analyzes the reasons for Taiwan's exceptional performance The authors illustrate how full utilization of the country's vast human resources through emphasis on labor intensive production has worked to make Taiwan's products competitive in international markets and to make fiscal redistribution after the fact unnecessary They also cite Taiwan's early attention to land reform to productivity in agriculture and to the spread of decentralized rural industry as important factors in the country's achievements They point out that although the specifics may change strategies and policy implications drawn from the Taiwan experience should be applicable in other developing countries State and Society in the Taiwan Miracle Thomas B. Gold, 2015-02-12 Explores the application of constructivist theory to international relations The text examines the relevance of constructivism for empirical research focusing on some of the key issues of contemporary international politics ethnic and national identity gender and political economy Taiwan in Transformation Chun-chieh Huang,2014-07-25

The late twentieth century witnessed rapid changes not only in Taiwan's economy but also in its identity Both economic as well as ideological restructuring have been basic elements in the transformation of postwar Taiwan as rapid democratization opened a Pandora's Box and stirred a whirlwind of social discord This volume considers such important questions as whether the old Taiwanese work ethic is a relic of the past and whether Taiwan is likely to become a battleground of ideological wars The book addresses Taiwanese nostalgia for Chinese culture the rise and fall of postwar Taiwanese agrarian culture the transformation of farmers' social consciousness in the period 1950-1970 the place of Confucianism in postwar Taiwan and the awakening of the self and the development of a Taiwanese national identity in the post World War II period Finally it considers whether mutual historical understanding may be the basis for Taiwan Mainland relations in the twenty first century

This second edition includes a new chapter on the history of Taiwan after World War II incorporating additional developments in Taiwan in the past decade Insights extrapolated from an understanding of history are essential for grasping and solving the basic problems Taiwan now faces and above all the conflicted relationship between Taiwan and Mainland China The book's thematic undercurrent is the question of Taiwan and Mainland China How do we deal with the tension between cultural China and political China Resolving Land Disputes in East Asia Hualing Fu,John Gillespie,2014-07-03

Economic development and mass urbanization have unleashed unprecedented levels of land disputes in East Asia In China and Vietnam especially courts and other legal institutions struggle to find lasting solutions It is against this background of legal failure that this book brings together leading scholars to understand how state agencies land users and land developers imaginatively engage with each other to resolve disputes Drawing on empirically rich case studies contributors explore the limits of law and legal institutions in resolving land disputes and reveal insights into how key actors in East Asia understand land disputes Their studies reveal promising dispute resolution practices and point to the likely ways that states will deal with land disputes in the future Taiwan's Modernization in Global Perspective Peter C. Chow,2002-10-30

In five decades Taiwan has shifted from an authoritarian regime to a multi party democracy has moved steadily toward modernization and has become an economically affluent socially pluralistic society Its experience provides valuable lessons for developing countries This book offers a critical assessment of Taiwan's path to modernization focusing particularly on developments of constitutional democracy and the rule of law democratic transition and consolidation internationalization and globalization and social developments From its market economy to its democratization Taiwan provides a valuable case study On social developments it provides a unique model of demographic transition rising women's social status and the emergence of the nuclear family In eighteen chapters written by prominent scholars this book examines the multiple aspects of Taiwan's modernization in a global perspective Taiwan in Transformation 1895-2005 Chun-chieh Huang,2017-07-12 The last decade of the twentieth century witnessed rapid changes not only in global politics but also in Taiwan's quests for new identities. The notorious martial law was lifted in July 1987 and long repressed calls for democratization began to be heard that caught worldwide attention. In tandem with economic transformation, the entire world of thought in Taiwan underwent significant changes. Both economic and ideological restructuring have been basic elements of transformation in postwar Taiwan. However, rapid democratization has opened a Pandora's box and stirred a whirlwind of discord. This volume elaborates on the where from and the where to of the Taiwan transformation and attempts to answer such questions as: Is the old Taiwanese work ethic just a relic of the past? Is Taiwan going to become an Armageddon of ideological wars? Chapters deal with the vicissitudes of Taiwanese nostalgia for cultural China, postwar Taiwan in historical perspective, in particular the rise and fall of the agrarian culture, the transformation of farmers' social consciousness in the period 1950-1970, Confucianism in postwar Taiwan, historical philosophical and sociological, the case of Hsu Fu kuan, which provides an epic case of the intertwining of cultural crisis with personal crisis, the development and metamorphoses of Taiwanese consciousness in the unfolding political context, the awakening of the self and finally mutual historical understanding as the basis for Taiwan Mainland relations in the twenty-first century. Taiwan in Transformation seeks to show that historical insights extrapolated from an understanding of history are essential for grasping and solving the basic problems facing Taiwan at present, including the Taiwan Mainland relationship in the twenty-first century. It will be of interest to Chinese area specialists, sociologists, and historians.

The Gap Between Rich And Poor Mitchell A. Seligson, 2019-07-15. Increasing concern has been expressed by Third World leaders and international organizations alike over the growing gap between rich and poor nations. Between 1950 and 1980 alone, the per capita income gap between low income and industrialized countries grew from 3,677 to 9,648. In addition, within the developing nations themselves, an ever-widening gap separates the rich from the poor. Other evidence suggests that middle income countries may be gaining on the rich countries. Some research shows that the gap in education and health is narrowing rather rapidly, and studies of domestic inequality have revealed that growth with equity has occurred in a number of developing nations that have committed themselves to such a policy. This volume presents the evidence for both sides of the debate. It begins by stating the conventional wisdom that international and internal gaps are widening and goes on to examine the major explanations offered, which focus on culture, urban bias, dependency, and world system analysis. The book then presents empirical studies on the existence and causes of the gap, as well as key case studies that challenge the conventional wisdom. Unique in its objectivity, this text does not seek to serve either side of the debate but instead draws upon the best research in the field to highlight major issues and to present studies that have subjected the differing perspectives to rigorous empirical analysis. It will prove especially useful in courses on Third World development, political economy, comparative politics, development economics, the sociology of development, and related topics.
