Applied Linguistics as Social Science Alison Sealey, Bob Carter, 2004-01-01 Genre theory in the past few years has contributed immensely to our understanding of the way discourse is used in academic professional and institutional contexts However its development has been constrained by the nature and design of its applications which have invariably focused on language teaching and learning or communication training and consultation This has led to the use of simplified and idealised genres In contrast to this the real world of discourse is complex dynamic and unpredictable This tension between the real world of written discourse and its representation in applied genre based literature is the main theme of this book

Development Theory E.A. of late and uneven development      There is No Such Thing as a Social Science Phil Hutchinson, Rupert Read, 2016-02-17 The death of Peter Winch in 1997 sparked a revived interest in his work with this book arguing his work suffered misrepresentation in both recent literature and in contemporary critiques of his writing Debates in philosophy and sociology about foundational questions of social ontology and methodology often claim to have adequately incorporated and moved beyond Winch's concerns Re-establishing a Winchian voice the authors examine how such contentions involve a failure to understand central themes in Winch's writings and that the issues which occupied him in his Idea of a Social Science and its Relation to Philosophy and later papers remain central to social studies The volume offers a careful reading of the text in alliance with Wittgensteinian insights and alongside a focus on the nature and results of social thought and inquiry It draws parallels with other movements in the social studies notably ethnomethodology to demonstrate how Winch's central claim is both more significant and more difficult to transcend than sociologists and philosophers have hitherto imagined

Understanding Collective Decision Making Lasse Gerrits, Peter Marks, 2017-07-28 One of the main challenges facing contemporary society is to understand how people can make decisions together Understanding Collective Decision Making builds on evolutionary theories and presents an analytical tool to analyse and visualise collective decision making By combining theoretical research with real world case studies the authors provide a coherent and conclusive solution to the often fragmented and dispersed literature on the subject      Working the Ruins Elizabeth St. Pierre, Wanda Pillow, 2002-05-03 From some of the leading feminist scholars in education comes a collection of writings discussing how they use feminist poststructural theory in their classrooms and research Drawing on real life situations in their work they show how using this theory has transformed their work Topics covered include theory in everyday life ethnography writing the body emotions in the classroom qualitative research and gossip as a counter discourse The range of topics processes and styles presented provides the reader with a variety of examples illustrating the diversity and power of the effects of poststructural theory as well as showing the possibilities of work still to be done      New Perspectives on Health and Social Care Jason Powell, 2023-02-22 The relationship between health social care and the teaching of disciplines such as sociology social work and social policy are increasing in many regions worldwide This book explores the relationship between wider social theory and social welfare though an understanding of how power and resistance impinges on how helping professions operate in health and social spaces in the twenty first century The book presents a critical analysis of major Foucauldian theories and social issues in the construction and practice of health and social welfare It discusses important theoretical and substantive contributions to current debates and presents an engaging comprehensive and innovative perspective to address both how power and resistance shape the way we live and how the way we live shapes the way in which we understand social relations among professionals policy makers and user groups in comparative contexts The purpose of this book is to critically inform debates concerning the abstract and empirical features of health and social care examined through the lens of innovative theoretical perspectives emanating from Foucauldian theories      Platform and Agency Mark Carrigan, 2025-12-31

This book examines how digital platforms are reconfiguring the parameters of agency and reflexivity in contemporary social life. Drawing on Margaret Archer's social realist framework, it moves beyond treating platforms merely as tools or environments to conceptualize them as distinct sociotechnical structures with emergent properties and powers that shape human action without determining it. The book develops the concept of platform and agency to explore the temporal dimensions of sociotechnical change, tracing how platforms condition personal and collective reflexivity through mechanisms of distraction, cultural abundance, and multiplying communication channels. While affirming the analytical distinction between structure, culture, and agency, it demonstrates how platforms constitute a fourth dimension necessary for understanding contemporary social morphogenesis. Through the conceptual pairing of psychobiography and personal morphogenesis, the book offers a nuanced account of how individuals become who they are within platformized lifeworlds. Rather than announcing an epochal break with previous social forms, the analysis illuminates the accumulating consequences of platform mediation across biographical timescales. This book will interest researchers and graduate students in social theory, philosophy of technology, digital sociology, platform studies, media and communication studies, critical data studies, internet studies, surveillance studies, sociology of knowledge, digital anthropology, and social informatics.

It includes the important but so far unpublished Parsons manuscript The Sociology of Knowledge and the History of Ideas and essays by Thomas Fararo (University of Pittsburgh) On the Foundations of Action Theory, Victor Lidz (Drexel University) and Harold Bershad (University of Pennsylvania) Parsons' Tacit Metatheory, Giuseppe Sciortino (Università degli studi di Trento) Toward a Structural Theory of Social Pluralism, David Sciulli (Texas A&M University) Helmut Staubmann: University of Innsbruck, The Affective Structure of the Social World. Helmut Staubmann is professor at the Institute for Sociology at the Leopold Franzens University Innsbruck, Austria.
