Phoenix Bradford Luckingham, 2016-05-26 More than half of all Arizonans live in Phoenix, the center of one of the most urbanized states in the nation. This history of the Sunbelt metropolis traces its growth from its founding in 1867 to its present status as one of the ten largest cities in the United States. Drawing on a wide variety of archival materials, oral accounts, promotional literature and urban historical studies, Bradford Luckingham presents an urban biography of a thriving city that for more than a century has been an oasis of civilization in the desert Southwest. First homesteaded by pioneers bent on seeing a new agricultural empire rise phoenix like from ancient Hohokam Indian irrigation ditches and farming settlements, Phoenix became an agricultural oasis in the desert during the late 1800s. With the coming of the railroads and the transfer of the territorial capital to Phoenix, local boosters were already proclaiming it the new commercial center of Arizona. As the city also came to be recognized as a health and tourist mecca thanks to its favorable climate, the concept of the good life became the centerpiece of the city's promotional efforts. Luckingham follows these trends through rapid expansion, the Depression and the postwar boom years and shows how economic growth and quality of life have come into conflict in recent times.

Kayenta and Monument Valley Carolyn O'Bagy Davis, Harvey Leake, 2010 In December 1910 Indian traders John and Louisa Wetherill opened their trading post with a tent for supplies and sleeping and a store counter of boards laid across two barrels. From that modest beginning, Kayenta became the center of Navajo gatherings and exploring expeditions to Rainbow Bridge, Monument Valley and the grand cliff dwellings in Tsegi Canyon. Soon came a parade of visitors including authors, painters and archaeologists as well as cowboys, miners, traders and tourists. The Kayenta Township today is home to descendants of the early inhabitants and the hub for thousands of annual visitors from around the world who come to see the magnificent region known as Monument Valley.

Tucson John Warnock, 2019-10-11 This account of the drama in time that is Tucson begins not with the founding of the Presidio San Agustín on August 20, 1775, but with the emergence of Sentinel Peak in geologic deep time. Depression era statehood and the development of metropolitan Tucson after World War II It offers not one definitive historical account but a collection of stories in which threads appear that may disappear beneath the surface for a while and reappear later like some desert streams It leaves spaces for and invites the stories of its readers About the Author John Warnock was born in Tucson and graduated from Tucson High when it was one of the largest high schools in the nation He attended Amherst College in Massachusetts Oxford University in England and the New York University School of Law After teaching at the University of Wyoming in Laramie he returned to Tucson in 1990 to join the English Department at the University of Arizona He is now Professor Emeritus at UA and resides in Tucson
