Saricks,2018-12-12 Both insightful and comprehensive this matchless guidebook will help librarians become familiar with many different fiction genres especially those they do not regularly read and aid library staff in connecting readers to books they re sure to love Domestic Intersections in Contemporary Migration Fiction Lucinda Newns,2020-01-07 Homing the Metropole presents a new approach to diasporic fiction that reorients postcolonial readings of migration away from processes of displacement and rupture towards those of placement and homemaking While notions of home have frequently been associated with essentialist understandings of nation and race an uncritical investment in tropes of homelessness can prove equally hegemonic By synthesising postcolonial and intersectional feminist theory this work establishes the migrant domestic space as a central location of resistance countering notions of the private sphere as static uncreative and apolitical Through close readings of fiction emerging from the African Caribbean and South Asian diasporas it reassesses our conception of home in light of contemporary realities of globalisation and forced migration providing a valuable critique of the celebration of unfixed subject positions that has been a central tenet of postcolonial studies Creolizing the

Metropole H. Adlai Murdoch, 2012-06-08 A study of how Caribbean immigrants to France and the UK from 1948 1998 and their descendants portray their metropolitan identities in literature and film Creolizing the Metropole is a comparative study of postwar West Indian migration to the former colonial capitals of Paris and London It studies the effects of this population shift on national and cultural identity and traces the postcolonial Caribbean experience through analyses of the concepts of identity and diaspora Through close readings of selected literary works and film H Adlai Murdoch explores the ways in which these immigrants and their descendants represented their metropolitan identities Though British immigrants were colonial subjects and later residents of British Commonwealth nations and the French arrivals from the overseas departments were citizens of France by law both groups became subject to otherness and exclusion stemming from their ethnicities Murdoch examines this phenomenon and the questions it raises about borders and boundaries nationality and belonging An outstanding contribution to scholarship Theoretically grounded and meticulously researched it examines the complexities inherent in constructing new diaspora identities that are at once ethnic national and fluid Ren e Larrier Rutgers University In these expansive fresh adroit interpretations of Maryse Cond e Gis le Pineau Zadie Smith White and Andrea Levy the author exposes the stark reality that race and the prejudices attached to it is a barrier to unequivocal assimilation This study affirms that a diasporic duality persists as creolization slowly alters the metropole Overall an interesting read Choice This book provides an extremely valuable contribution to the fields of postcolonial studies and European literary and film studies in at least three ways it theoretically refines the concept of creolization it contributes to much needed redefinitions of France and the United Kingdom as multicultural and it foregrounds the aesthetic qualities of the works under study Research in African Literatures

The Transnational in Literary Studies Kai Wiegandt, 2020-07-06 This volume clarifies the meanings and applications of the concept of the transnational and identifies areas in which the concept can be particularly useful The division of the volume into three parts reflects areas which seem particularly amenable to analysis through a transnational lens The chapters in Part 1 present case studies in which the concept replaces or complements traditionally dominant concepts in literary studies These chapters demonstrate for example why some dramatic texts and performances can better be described as transnational than as postcolonial and how the transnational underlies and complements concepts such as world literature Part 2 assesses the advantages and limitations of writing literary history with a transnational focus These chapters illustrate how such a perspective loosens the epistemic stranglehold of national historiographies but they also argue that the transnational and national agendas of literary historiography are frequently entangled The chapters in Part 3 identify transnational genres such as the transnational historical novel transnational migrant fiction and translinguistic theatre and analyse the specific poetics and politics of these genres
