Social Science In Natural Resource Management Systems:

Social Science In Natural Resource Management Systems Marc L Miller, Richard P Gale, Perry J Brown, 2019-07-11
This book is about the conduct and contributions of applied social science It represents the beginning of a new intellectual tradition in applied social science and its purpose is to foster an exchange among the variety of social scientists who are concerned with natural resource policy

Environment, Society and Natural Resource Management Geoffrey Lawrence, Vaughan Higgins, Stewart Lockie, 2001 As greater significance is placed on the relationship between people and their environment it is increasingly acknowledged that few environmental problems can be solved without considering the social context in which they arise But what does it mean to incorporate the social and what types of social sciences are needed This incisive book critically reviews the theoretical perspectives that underlie social scientific contributions to natural resource management and argues for both a greater social science presence and for conceptual and methodological clarity within the social sciences themselves The expert contributors explore how new concepts and approaches can contribute positively to natural resource management They demonstrate how the social sciences can be used as a vehicle to highlight social concerns as well as to foster greater participation co operation and integration among community members natural resource managers and researchers Through detailed case studies from Australasia and the Americas the authors illustrate how different social science perspectives can be utilised The range and variety of views provide a basis for the evaluation of various and often competing disciplinary paradigms within the social sciences This book will undoubtedly contribute to a more sophisticated debate about the place of the social in environmental research It will prove to be of great worth to students and researchers of environmental and social issues to those involved in environmental decision making and community planning as well as environmental policymakers and natural resource managers

Integrating Social Science and Ecosystem Management ,1997 Integrating Social Science and Ecosystem Management Linda Caldwell, Shela Mou, 1999-02 Proceedings of the Conference on Integrating Social Sciences Ecosystem Management held in 1995 The overall purpose was to improve understanding integration research applications of the human dimension of ecosystem management The goals were to 1 discuss the state of knowledge of social sciences relevant to ecosystem management 2 discuss how to integrate this knowledge with ecosystem management along with the physical biological sciences 3 develop a strategy to effectively integrate social sciences with ecosystem management 4 identify a research agenda to further knowledge in the area Illustrated

Forty Years of Hydrometeorological Data from the Fernow Experimental Forest, West Virginia ,1994 Social Science to Improve Fuels Management Robert L. Ryan, 2005 A series of syntheses were commissioned by the USDA Forest Service to aid in fuels mitigation project planning This synthesis focuses on research addressing aesthetic considerations of fuels management A general finding is that fuels management activities can contribute to the visual quality of a landscape Topics covered in the synthesis include research findings on visual preferences in forested ecosystems strategies for maintaining or improving visual quality through fuels management and the planning implementation and monitoring of resource management to improve visual quality

Multisystemic Resilience Michael Ungar, 2021 Multisystemic Resilience brings together in one volume a wide range of resilience scholars who have been wrestling with how to explain processes of recovery adaptation and transformation in contexts of change and adversity Together this collection shows that considering the resilience of multiple systems at once is instrumental to understanding the processes of change and sustainability

Forest Certification Daniel J Vogt, Bruce C Larson, John C Gordon, Anna Fanzeres, 1999-11-29 Forest Certification examines the historical roots of forest certification the factors that guide the development of protocols the players involved the factors determining the customers to be certified and the benefits of certification It covers terminology and issues that direct the structure of standards the similarities between indicators of different human disturbances within the ecosystem landscape and certification standards It documents the roles of human values in the development of assessment protocols and demonstrates how elements should be used to produce non value based standards

Linking Social and Ecological Systems Fikret Berkes, Carl Folke, Johan Colding, 2000-04-13 It is usually the case that scientists examine either ecological systems or social systems yet the need for an interdisciplinary approach to the problems of environmental management and sustainable development is becoming increasingly obvious Developed under the auspices of the Beijer Institute in Stockholm this new book analyses social and ecological linkages in selected ecosystems using an international and interdisciplinary case study approach The chapters provide detailed information on a variety of management practices for dealing with environmental change Taken as a whole the book will contribute to the greater understanding of essential social responses to changes in ecosystems including the generation accumulation and transmission of ecological knowledge structure and dynamics of institutions and the cultural values underlying these responses A set of new or rediscovered principles for sustainable ecosystem management is also presented Linking Social and Ecological Systems will be of value to natural and social scientists interested in sustainability
