Inquisition and Medieval Society James B. Given,2018-08-06 James B. Given analyzes the inquisition in one French region in order to develop a sociology of medieval politics Established in the early thirteenth century to combat widespread popular heresy, inquisitorial tribunals identified, prosecuted and punished heretics and their supporters The inquisition in Languedoc was the best documented of these tribunals because the inquisitors aggressively used the developing techniques of writing and record keeping to build cases and extract confessions

Using a Marxist and Foucauldian approach Given focuses on three inquiries what techniques of investigation interrogation and punishment the inquisitors worked out in the course of their struggle against heresy how the people of Languedoc responded to the activities of the inquisitors and what aspects of social organization in Languedoc either facilitated or constrained the work of the inquisitors Punishments not only inflicted suffering and humiliation on those condemned he argues but also served as theatrical instruction for the rest of society about the terrible price of transgression Through a careful pursuit of these inquiries Given elucidates medieval society's contribution to the modern apparatus of power

International Handbook of Violence Research Wilhelm Heitmeyer, John Hagan, 2005-08-12 An international manual is like a world cruise a once in a lifetime experience All the more reason to consider carefully whether it is necessary This can hardly be the case if previous research in the selected field has already been the subject of an earlier review or even several competing surveys On the other hand more thorough study is necessary if the intensity and scope of research are increasing without comprehensive assessments That was the situation in Western societies when work began on this project in the summer of 1998 It was then too that the challenges emerged any manual especially an international one is a very special type of text which is anything but routine It calls for a special effort the state of the art has to be documented for selected subject areas and its presentation made as compelling as possible The editors were delighted therefore by the cooperation and commitment shown by the eighty one contributors from ten countries who were recruited to write on the sixty two different topics by the constructive way in which any requests for changes were dealt with and by the patient response to our many queries This volume is the result of a long process It began with the first drafts outlining the structure of the work which were submitted to various distinguished colleagues Friedhelm Neidhardt of Berlin Gertrud Nunner Winkler of Munich and Roland Eckert of Trier to name only a few supplied valuable comments at this stage
