Social Town Planning Planning And Social Policy:

Social Policy in Urban Planning Planning and Transport Research and Computation (International) Co,1975 The Future for Planners Ben Clifford,Susannah Gunn,Andy Inch,Abigail Schoneboom,Jason Slade,Malcolm Tait,Geoff Vigar,2024-08-21 Spatial planning is at a crossroads with government reform undermining the traditional vision of state employed planners making decisions about urban development in a unified public interest Nearly half of UK planners are now employed in the private sector with complex inter relations between the sectors including supplying outsourced services to local authorities struggling with centrally imposed budget cuts Drawing on new empirical data from a major research project Working in the Public Interest this book reveals what it s like to be a UK planner in the early 21st century and how the profession can fulfil its potential for the benefit of society and the environment APAIS 1994: Australian public affairs information service , Social Assessment in Natural Resource Management Institutions Nick Taylor,Marcus Benjamin Lane,2001 This book is the first significant international attempt to outline and analyze how social assessment has been integrated within natural resource management institutions to date In doing so it focuses on contemporary Australian and New Zealand experiences and relates these back to the international context Social Assessment in Natural Resource Management Institutions provides practical guidance for a wide range of planners managers and stakeholders striving for better integration of social issues The lessons derived are equally relevant to national provincial regional and local governance structures international agencies corporations and community based non government organizations Professionals and Urban Form Judith R. Blau,Mark E. La Gory,John S. Pipkin,1984-06-30 Professionals and Urban Form departs from the usual way of studying the city to examine the chief professions responsible for designing urban places planning and architecture Not often treated together they are here combined to highlight common problems and lines of convergence between the two The architects planners and social scientists who contributed to this book concern themselves with the interconnection between knowledge and practice in planning and architecture paying particular attention to the issues of whether design knowledge and theory can or should be distinct from social science knowledge and the effects of professionalization and institutionalization on the structuring of inquiry and theory The main sections of the book deal with the history of the design professions epistemological foundations professions and practice and controversies in practice Many issues of contemporary interest to planners are dealt with including the debates over normative advocacy and communicative planning Marxist perspectives supply and demand in the job market for architects and the overarching epistemological question of the relationship between social science research and design practice The Urban Condition Brendan Gleeson,2014-05-23 This book will speak to the new human epoch the Urban Age A majority of humanity now lives for the first time in cities The city the highest invention of the modern age is now the human heartland And yet the same process that brought us the city and its wonders modernisation has also thrown up challenges and threats especially climate change resource depletion social division and economic insecurity This book considers how these threats are encountered and countered in the urban age focusing on the issue of human knowledge and self awareness just as Hannah Arendt s influential The Human Condition did half a century ago The Human Condition is now The Urban Condition And it is this condition that will define human prospects in an age of default and risk Gleeson expertly explores the concept through three main themes The first is an exploration of what defines the current human condition especially the expanding cities that are at the heart of an over consumptive world economic order The second exposes and reviews the reawakening of forms of knowledge naturalism that are likely to worsen not improve our comprehension of the crisis The new science of urbanism in popular new literature exemplifies this dangerous trend The third and last part of the book considers prospects for a new urban and therefore human dispensation The Good City We must first journey in our urban vessels through troubled times But can we now start to plot the way to new shores to a safer more resilient city that provides for human flourishing The Urban Condition attempts this ideal conceiving a new urbanism based on the old idea of self limitation The Urban Condition is an original timely book that reconsiders and redeploys Arendt s famous notion of The Human Condition in an age of cities and risk It brings together several important strands of human consideration urbanisation climate threat resource depletion economic default and critical knowledge and weaves them into a new analysis of the times It also looks to a future that is nearly with us of changed climate resource scarcity and economic stress The book journeys into these troubled times proposing the idea of Lifeboat Cities as a way of thinking about the human journey to come

National Conference Report Neighborhood Youth Corps (U.S.),1966

People, Plans, and Policies Herbert J. Gans,1994-06-16 The primary theme of this collection of essays is that the cities basic problems are poverty and racism and until these concerns are addressed by bringing about racial equality creating jobs and instituting other reforms the generally low quality of urban life will persist Gans argues that the individual must work to alter society He believes that not only must parents have jobs to improve their children s school performance but that the country needs a modernized New Deal a more labor intensive economy and a thirty two hour work week to achieve full employment Other controversial ideas presented in this book include Gans s opposition to the whole notion of an underclass which he feels is the latest way for the nonpoor to unjustly label the poor as undeserving He also believes that poverty continues to plague society because it is often useful to the nonpoor He is critical of architecture that aims above all to be aesthetic or to make philosophical statements is doubtful that planners can or should try to reform our social or personal lives and thinks we should concentrate on achieving individual public policies until we learn how to properly plan as a society
