Dear Canadians:

Of the more than 300 first ministers in our country's history, only 12 have been women

We are these women.

More than half of Canadians are women and girls, but women, in all their diversity, continue to be underrepresented in every level of politics. This is especially true in our most senior leadership roles. As of today, we have no female first ministers (prime ministers or premiers) in Canada.

We are a nation rich in diversity, talent, intellect and creativity. We are also a nation facing many pressing challenges. To meet these challenges, we need the very best from Canadians. All Canadians.

We must finish the work started more than a century ago when women pushed for their right to vote, to stand in elections, and to represent Canadians. We must be vigilant in protecting and extending what we have already accomplished. We must finally achieve the full and equal participation of women in all aspects of political life, from community activism to elected representation.

Over the past few months, we have shared our stories through Canada 2020's No Second Chances podcast, providing a perspective on some of the barriers women face in politics. Today, we come together to identify what needs to change if we want to see more women lead.

We need more women, and a greater diversity of women, in politics. This won't happen naturally. Political parties must make the recruitment and nomination of female candidates a priority. We call on all current First Ministers and all party leaders to put measures in place to recruit more women. This must go beyond setting targets; parties must make fundamental changes to these processes. We will never achieve parity in any legislature, or in positions of power, until we achieve gender parity among candidates. For women and girls to aspire to be leaders, they need to see themselves in positions of power now, and learn about the often forgotten history of women's leadership in our politics.

We must raise the level of political discourse in Canada. To have free and comprehensive debate, we must treat each other with civility, respect, and dignity, regardless of partisan or policy differences. We call on all members of all legislatures, the Speakers of our legislatures, House Leaders, and party leaders to insist on a higher standard of political discourse, making politics a place that is more welcoming to everyone. We call for this civility to be reflected in how news about politics is reported, analyzed, and discussed. Canadians — all of us — must hold ourselves to a higher standard in which misogyny, sexism, racism, hatred, and violence have no place in our politics.

Grant Notley Howard Leeson,2016-01-15 This book is a biography of my dad s political life However it is also a primer for would be politicians Its most salient message Political victory worth having rarely comes easy Rachel Notley from the Foreword Grant Notley leader of Alberta s New Democratic Party from 1968 to 1984 stood out in Alberta politics His goals his personal integrity his obvious dedication to social change and his practical idealism made him the social conscience of Alberta He bridged the old and the new he provided the necessary hard work to ensure the continuation of a social democratic party in Alberta Albertans felt intuitively that he represented a part of their collective being and his untimely death in 1984 touched them deeply Leeson s new introduction recognizes Grant Notley s significant contribution to the continuity and health of his party while acknowledging the important work of his daughter Rachel Notley who led the Alberta NDP to electoral victory in 2015 Readers of politics biography and social history will appreciate this new edition of an important book Alberta Premiers of the Twentieth Century University of Regina. Canadian Plains Research Center,2004 From the optimism associated with provincial status in 1905 through the trials of Depression and war the boom times of the post war period and the economic vagaries of the 1980s and the 1990s the twentieth century was a time of growth and hardship development and change for Alberta and its people And during the century twelve men from a variety of political parties and from very different backgrounds led the government of this province The names of some like William Aberhart Ernest Manning and Peter Lougheed are still household names while others like Arthur Sifton Herbert Greenfield and Richard Reid have been all but forgotten Yet each in his unique way for better or for worse helped to mould and steer the destiny of the province he governed These are their stories The Literary History of Alberta Volume Two George Melnyk,1998 In this the companion to the landmark volume The Literary History of Alberta Volume One From Writing on Stone to World War Two George Melnyk examines Alberta literature in the second half of the twentieth century At last Melnyk argues Alberta writers have found their voice and their accomplishments have been remarkable The contradictory landscape the stereotypes of the Indian the Mountie and the Cowboy and the language of the Other speaking from the margins these elements all left their impressions on the consciousness of early Alberta But writers in the last few decades have turned this inheritance to their advantage to create compelling stories about this place and its people Today Melnyk discovers Alberta writers can appreciate not only this achievement but also its essential source the symbolic communication of Writing on Stone The Literary History of Alberta Volume Two extends the study of Alberta s cultural history to the present day It is a vital text for anyone interested in Alberta s vibrant literary culture Government and Politics in Alberta Allan Tupper,Roger Gibbins,1992 Alberta s politics are changing in response to powerful economic social and political forces The contributors focus on developments since the election of the Progressive Conservatives in 1971 Aboriginal Peoples and

Government Responsibility David Craig Hawkes, 1989 A series of articles commissioned for a conference on aboriginal peoples and federal provincial responsibility in Canada held in Ottawa in 1988 Covers topics of government jurisdiction versus responsibility aboriginal self government programs and services for aboriginal peoples Includes maps and references

Bucking Conservatism Leon Crane Bear, Larry Hannant, Karissa Robyn Patton, 2021-11-25 With lively informative contributions by both scholars and activists Bucking Conservatism highlights the individuals and groups who challenged Alberta's conservative status quo in the 1960s and 70s Drawing on archival records newspaper articles police reports and interviews the contributors examine Alberta's history through the eyes of Indigenous activists protesting discriminatory legislation and unfulfilled treaty obligations women and lesbian and gay persons standing up to the heteropatriarchy student activists seeking to forge a new democracy and anti capitalist environmentalists demanding social change This book uncovers the lasting influence of Alberta's nonconformists those who recognized the need for dissent in a province defined by wealth and right wing politics and poses thought provoking questions for contemporary activists State of Struggle Lois Harder, 2003-07-04 State of Struggle offers a unique perspective on Alberta's recent political history Viewed through the lens of feminist and anti feminist efforts to gain political legitimacy the book observes the consequences of Alberta's oil and gas economy and the province's peripheral location from the locus of Canadian political decision making on the effectiveness of feminist efforts to both challenge and contribute to provincial governance The book traces the dynamic interaction between the development of second wave feminist organizing and the shift from Alberta's peculiar variant of a welfare state to its neoliberal form Using archival data from feminist organizations and various provincial government departments as well as interviews with activists policy makers and politicians the book's chronologically organized chapters offer a series of rich tales illuminating the transformations within both the feminist movement and the Alberta state from the election of Lougheed's Conservatives through Ralph Klein's second term of office It is a kind of we laughed we cried drama composed of dialogues of the deaf strategic missteps organizational cunning and occasional policy change that is sure to leave readers shaking their heads in amusement disbelief or outrage Social Classes and Social Credit in Alberta Edward Bell, 1993 The Social Credit party in Alberta has traditionally been presented as petty bourgeois in its ideology and appeals reflecting what was believed to be the dominant class in the province at the time Edward Bell challenges these widely held interpretations of the ideology popular class basis and behaviour in office of the early Social Credit movement 1932 40
