The Genius Of Mentoring:

Art of Mentoring, The Darlene Zschech, 2011-08 Insights and inspiration to bridge gaps with and guide the mentoring of the next generation of leaders from an internationally acclaimed worship leader Edwards the Mentor Rhys S. Bezzant, 2019 Among his many accomplishments Jonathan Edwards was an effective mentor who trained many leaders for the church in colonial America but his pastoral work is often overlooked Rhys S Bezzant investigates the background method theological rationale and legacy of his mentoring ministry Edwards did what mentors normally do he met with individuals to discuss ideas and grow in skills But Bezzant shows that Edwards undertook these activities in a distinctly modern or affective key His correspondence is written in an informal style his understanding of friendship and conversation takes up the conventions of the great metropolitan cities of Europe His pedagogical commitments are surprisingly progressive and his aspirations for those he mentored are bold and subversive When he explains his mentoring practice theologically he expounds the theme of seeing God face to face summarized in the concept of the beatific vision which recognizes that human beings learn through the example of friends as well as through the exposition of propositions In this book the practice of mentoring is presented as an exchange between authority and agency in which the more experienced person empowers the other whose own character and competencies are thus nurtured More broadly the book is a case study in cultural engagement for Edwards deliberately takes up certain features of the modern world in his mentoring and yet resists other pressures that the Enlightenment generated If his world witnessed the philosophical evacuation of God from the created order then Edwards s mentoring is designed to draw God back into an intimate connection with human experience

Educating for Humanity Mike Seymour, Henry M. Levin, 2015-11-17 At a time of profound crises around the world when social justice peace democracy and the environment seem under increasing threat the promise of a world for all seems a viable aspiration for education Ample evidence from many schools today and dating back throughout the last century prove that the purpose of educating young people to develop character compassion purpose and commitment is integral with the mastery of intellectual skills and life competencies Schooling without a doubt can play a monumental part in the development of the personal values people take with them to the world Unfortunately as the saying goes if you don't know where you're going you'll probably get someplace else Educational policy directions over the last twenty years have veered far away from the important work of educating for humanity This book makes a powerful appeal to revisit educational purpose in light of what is most fundamental and important to human beings everywhere The authors address timely issues such as high stakes testing school choice and privatization of education in looking beyond these measures to new approaches to educational excellence

Darwin's Mentor S. M. Walters, E. A. Stow, 2001-09-13 John Stevens Henslow is known for his formative influence on Charles Darwin who described their meeting as the one circumstance which influenced my career more than any other As Professor of Botany at Cambridge University Henslow was Darwin's teacher and eventual lifelong friend but what of the man himself In this biography much previously unpublished material has been carefully sifted and selected to produce a rounded picture of a remarkable and unusually likeable academic The time in 1829-31 when Darwin walked with Henslow in and around Cambridge was followed directly by Darwin's voyage around the world The gradually changing relationship between teacher and pupil over the course of time is revealed through their correspondence illuminating a remarkable friendship which persisted in spite of Darwin's eventual atheism and Henslow's never failing liberal Christian belief to the end of Henslow's life
