The Gift Of Spiderwoman Southwestern Textiles The Navajo Tradition:

The Gift of Spiderwoman Joe Ben Wheat, 1984 The Gift of Spiderwoman University of Pennsylvania. University Museum, Joe Ben Wheat, 1984-01-29 In preparing this publication the intention was that it serve not only as an accompaniment to the symposium Southwestern Textiles The Navajo Tradition held at the University Museum University of Pennsylvania but that it define the scope of the Museum's holdings of Southwestern textiles which remain relatively unknown to the public Information regarding the size range and historical background of the collection should prove to be useful to scholars weavers and collectors This collection comprises textiles woven by Navajo Indians Pueblo Indians from both New Mexico and northeastern Arizona and Spanish colonists who settled in the Rio Grande Valley of New Mexico Also included are Saltillo sarapes produced in the general region of the town of Saltillo in northern Mexico

Introduction Blanket Weaving in the Southwest Joe Ben Wheat, 2022-06-21 Exquisite blankets sarapes and ponchos handwoven by southwestern peoples are admired throughout the world Despite many popularized accounts serious gaps have existed in our understanding of these textiles gaps that one man devoted years of scholarly attention to address During much of his career anthropologist Joe Ben Wheat 1916 1997 earned a reputation as a preeminent authority on southwestern and plains prehistory Beginning in 1972 he turned his scientific methods and considerable talents to historical questions as well He visited dozens of museums to study thousands of nineteenth century textiles oversaw chemical tests of dyes from hundreds of yarns and sought out obscure archives to research the material and documentary basis for textile development His goal was to establish a key for southwestern textile identification based on the traits that distinguish the Pueblo Navajo and Spanish American blanket weaving traditions and thereby provide a better way of identifying and dating pieces of unknown origin Wheat's years of research resulted in a masterful classification scheme for southwestern textiles and a book that establishes an essential baseline for understanding craft production Nearly completed before Wheat's death Blanket Weaving in the Southwest describes the evolution of southwestern textiles from the early historic period to the late nineteenth century establishes a revised chronology for its development and traces significant changes in materials techniques and designs Wheat first relates what Spanish observers learned about the state of native weaving in the region a historical review that reveals the impact of new technologies and economies on a traditional craft Subsequent chapters deal with fibers yarns dyes and fabric structures including an unprecedented examination of the nature variety and origins of bayeta yarns and with tools weaves and finishing techniques A final chapter constructed by editor Ann Hedlund from Wheat's notes provides clues to his evolving ideas about the development of textile design Hedlund herself a respected textile scholar and a protégé of Wheat's is uniquely qualified to interpret the many notes he left behind and brings her own understanding of weaving to every facet of the text She has ensured that Wheat's research is applicable to the needs of scholars collectors and general readers alike Throughout the text Wheat discusses and evaluates the distinct traits of the three textile traditions More than 200 photos demonstrate these features including 191 color plates depicting a vast array of chief blankets shoulder blankets ponchos sarapes diyugi mantas and dresses from museum collections nationwide In addition dozens of line drawings demonstrate the fine points of technique concerning weaves edge finishes and corner tassels Through his groundbreaking and painstaking research Wheat created a new view of southwestern textile history that goes beyond any other book on the subject Blanket Weaving in the Southwest addresses a host of unresolved issues in textile research and provides critical tools for resolving them It is an essential resource for anyone who appreciates the intricacy of these outstanding creations

Anthropology and Beauty Stephanie Bunn,2018-01-17 Organised around the theme of beauty this innovative collection offers insight into the development of anthropological thinking on art aesthetics and creativity in recent years The volume incorporates current work on perception and generative processes and seeks to move beyond a purely aesthetic and relativist stance The chapters invite readers to consider how people sense and seek out beauty whether through acts of human creativity and production through sensory experience of sound light or touch or experiencing architecture visiting heritage sites or ancient buildings experiencing the environment through places of outstanding natural beauty or through cooperative action machine engineering or designing for the future

Disruptive Voices and the Singularity of Histories Regna Darnell,Frederic W. Gleach,2019-11-01 Histories of Anthropology Annual presents diverse perspectives on the discipline s history within a global context with a goal of increasing awareness and use of historical approaches in teaching learning and conducting anthropology The series includes critical comparative analytical and narrative studies involving all aspects and subfields of anthropology Volume 13 Disruptive Voices and the Singularity of Histories explores the interplay of identities and scholarship through the history of anthropology with a special section examining fieldwork predecessors and indigenous communities in Native North America Individual contributions explore the complexity of women s history indigenous history national traditions and oral histories to juxtapose what we understand of the past with its present continuities These contributions include Sharon Lindenburger s examination of Franz Boas and his navigation with Jewish identity Kathy M Closkey s documentation of Navajo weavers and their struggles with cultural identities and economic resources and demands and Mindy Morgan s use of the text of Ruth Underhill s O odham study to capture the voices of three generations of women ethnographers Because this work bridges anthropology and history a richer and more varied view of the past emerges through the meticulous narratives of anthropologists and their unique fieldwork ultimately providing competing points of access to social dynamics This volume examines events at both macro and micro levels documenting the impact large scale historical events have had on particular individuals and challenging the uniqueness of a single interpretation of the same facts

Guide to the North American Ethnographic Collection at the University of Pennsylvania Museum of Archaeology and Anthropology University of Pennsylvania. Museum of Archaeology and Anthropology, Lucy Fowler Williams, 2003-04-18 Totalling approximately 40 000 objects the University Museum s ethnographic holdings represent native peoples from ten North American culture areas the Arctic Subarctic Northwest Coast California Plateau Great Basin Southwest Great Plains Northeast and the Southeast This guide highlights the strength of the collections and demonstrates how objects are tied to history and people living within different cultural and social contexts It also underscores that objects have different multiple meanings Some objects illustrate intertribal relations others best reflect collecting attitudes at the turn of the century when much of the Museum s collections was acquired Visitors and off site readers will learn about such related archival resources as documentation and photographs past and present Museum exhibitions current research repatriation and contemporary collections development

Swept Under the Rug Kathy M Closkey, 2002 Debunks the romanticist stereotyping of Navajo weavers and Reservation traders and situates weavers within the economic history of the southwest

Hubbell Trading Post Erica Cottam, 2015-09-22 For more than a century trading posts in the American Southwest tied the U S economy and culture to those of American Indian peoples and in this capacity Hubbell Trading Post founded in 1878 in Ganado Arizona had no parallel This book tells the story of the Hubbell family its Navajo neighbors and clients and what the changing relationship between them reveals about the history of Navajo trading Drawing on extensive archival material and secondary literature historian Erica Cottam begins with an account of John Lorenzo Hubbell who was part Hispanic part Anglo and wholly brilliant and charismatic She examines his trading practices and the strategies he used to meet the challenges of Navajo exchange customs and a seasonal trading cycle Tracing the trading post s affairs through the upheavals of the twentieth century Cottam explores the growth of tourism the development of Navajo weaving the automobile s advent and the Hubbells relationship with the Fred Harvey Company She also describes the Hubbell family s role in providing Navajo and Hopi demonstrators for world s fairs and other events and in supplying museums with Native artifacts Acknowledging the criticism aimed at the Hubbell family for taking advantage of Navajo clients Cottam shows the family s strengths their integrity as business operators and the warm friendships they developed with customers and with the artists writers archaeologists politicians and tourists attracted to Navajo country by its unparalleled landscapes and fascinating peoples Cottam traces the preservation efforts of Hubbell s daughter in law after the Great Depression and World War II fundamentally altered the trading post business and concludes with the post s transition to its present status as a National Park Service historic site
