The Golden Age of Homespun Jared Van Wagenen, Jr.,2018-05-31 You have seen neglected oxbows but what do you know of their making or of the training of a yoke of oxen What do you know of the rambling shoemakers who came to a farmhouse and stayed until each member of the family was newly shod with leather from the farm s cattle Have you ever wondered about the processes by which our frontiersmen translated forest land into fields of wheat What do you know about those two first crops of the pioneers ashes and maple sugar What do you know of log houses of shingle making bridges and flax growing of spinning and weaving cloth for a garment that was homegrown and homemade Here is folk history the accumulated memory of old men and women whom the author knew memories he has substantiated by a lifetime of research from the Foreword by Louis C Jones The Golden Age of Homespun chronicles the occupations handicrafts and traditions that defined rural life in upstate New York and throughout much of America in the first half of the nineteenth century First published in 1953 it is an engaging and affectionate account of how land was cleared farms established and homes built of how each family fed clothed and warmed itself and of the trades crafts and industries that augmented a primarily agrarian economy Illustrated with 45 delightful line drawings that depict the activities and implements described by Jared van Wagenen Jr The Golden Age of Homespun is an invaluable record of how upstate New York farmers lived on and off the land in the decades before the Civil War a vanished way of life that still holds strong appeal in the American imagination

The Weaver's Craft Adrienne D. Hood, 2011-01-01 Cloth was one of the most important commodities in the early modern world and colonial North Americans had to develop creative strategies to acquire it Although early European settlers came from societies in which hand textile production was central to the economy local conditions in North America interacted with traditional craft structures to create new patterns of production and consumption The Weaver s Craft examines the development of cloth manufacture in early Pennsylvania from its roots in seventeenth century Europe to the beginning of industrialization Adrienne D Hood s focus on Pennsylvania and the long sweep of history yields a new understanding of the complexities of early American fabric production and the regional variations that led to distinct experiences of industrialization Drawing on an extensive array of primary sources combined with a quantitative approach the author argues that in contrast to New England rural Pennsylvania women spun the yarn that a small group of trained male artisans wove into cloth on a commercial basis throughout the eighteenth century Their production was considerably augmented by consumers purchasing cheap cloth from Europe and Asia making them active participants in a global marketplace Hood s painstaking research and numerous illustrations of textile equipment swatch
