The Conference of Berlin United States. Department of State. Historical Office,1960      Potsdam Conference 1945
Jürgen Luh,2020-05 The Potsdam Conference marked and still today marks the end of the Second World War and the beginning of the Cold War The discussions and negotiations held at Cecilienhof Palace from 17 July to 2 August 1945 staked out zones and spheres of influence and had a political impact on the post war period that reached far beyond Europe The volume shows how the Big Three Churchill Truman and Stalin reached their resolutions And it highlights what effects these resolutions had not only on the defeated Germans but also on the Chinese Japanese and Koreans who were still at war on the displaced persons and Holocaust survivors who had no voice in Potsdam on the Persians whose fate was decided without consulting their interests or wishes and on the French who were among the victorious powers but had not been invited to the conference The Potsdam Agreement subsequently signed by the three heads of state thus laid the foundations for the reorganisation of the world

The Conference of Berlin United States. Department of State. Historical Office,1960
Between War and Peace Herbert Feis,1960 Konferencerne mellem de allierede under 2 Verdenskrig Beskrivelse af Potsdamkonferencen 17 juli 2 august 1945 hvor der blev forhandlet om fredsordningen i Europa efter 2 Verdenskrigs afslutning

The Soviet Note on Berlin: an Analysis United States. Department of State,1959      The Potsdam Conference Charles River Charles River Editors,2018-02-21 Includes pictures Includes accounts of the conference by some of the participants Includes online resources and a bibliography for further reading Includes a table of contents If we can put this tremendous machine of ours which has made this victory possible to work for peace we can look forward to the greatest age in the history of mankind That s what we propose to do President Harry S Truman at a July 1945 flag raising ceremony in Berlin Standing in history like a milestone marking the boundary between one era and the next the Potsdam Conference brought together the leaders of the three major Allied powers the United States the Soviet Union and the United Kingdom for the last time at the end of World War II and at the threshold of the Cold War A follow up to the Yalta Conference just five months earlier Potsdam attempted to work out the contours of the postwar world Though it came so shortly after Yalta the Potsdam Conference also highlighted a turnover of leadership on the world stage British Prime Minister Winston Churchill who gave his nation hope in the darkest days of World War II had suffered a stunning defeat at the hands of the Labor candidate Clement Attlee who replaced him towards the end of the Conference President Franklin Delano Roosevelt died prior to the meeting leading to his replacement by the new president Harry S Truman a keen minded pragmatist whose intense focus on America s advantage contrasted with Roosevelt s internationalism Only General Secretary Josef Stalin dictator of the Soviet Union remained unchanged from the earlier summit Destined to continue in power for another 8 years until his death possibly at the hands of Lavrenty Beria the Russian strongman found himself confronting a world in which the United States possessed the atomic bomb Though the countries had often discussed Russia joining America and Britain s fight against the Japanese it became clear at Potsdam that this was not going to happen Instead Stalin pleaded for help for his own country which had been decimated by the fighting with Germany Russia had lost more than 30 000 factories and so much farm land that the vast majority of the population was suffering from malnutrition Stalin was also particularly concerned that the Allies might stage an invasion of Russia and overthrow his regime While it may have seemed at the time that he was just being paranoid it is now known that George Patton was already pushing Truman and the other world leaders to go ahead and finish the weakened Soviets off meaning Stalin might actually have been wise to build up communist governments in Czechoslovakia East Germany Bulgaria and elsewhere The British and Americans didn't see it that way though Instead they assumed that Stalin was expanding the Soviet Union in preparation for invading Europe The Europeans appealed to the Americans for help and with them would go on to create the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in 1949 This mutual mistrust among all parties involved marked the beginning of the Cold War The Potsdam Conference The History of the Negotiations Between the Allies Near the End of World War II looks at the final major conference of the war and its results Along with pictures of important people places and events you will learn about the Potsdam Conference like never before in no time at all
