

The background of the image is a peaceful landscape. In the distance, there are dark, silhouetted mountains under a sky with soft, warm colors from a setting or rising sun. In the foreground, a dark pond reflects the sky. Several lotus flowers are in bloom on the water. One large, vibrant orange lotus flower is in the center, with its petals fully open. Two smaller, similar flowers are positioned on either side of the main title. The title itself is written in a white, elegant script font, centered over the pond and flowers.

This book moves beyond rehabilitative strategies in corrections to engage a more holistic understanding of the communal experiences behind prison walls Behavioral deficit models dominate the field of corrections theory rehabilitation retribution deterrence incapacitation and restoration Even humanist conceptions of evolution are described as change transformation correction improvement a lexicon fixed on a distorted view of humanity What has not been explored is the resilience and human flourishing despite the systemic injustice and dehumanization of prison What innovations are possible with a change of perspective and focus on self identified stories of transformation where transformation is redefined from the lens of self efficacy and power to change one s world Where we rebuild the lexicon from a humanizing philosophy and our starting point shifts to the inherent goodness of humanity and the potential to evolve beyond limiting narratives and social constructs Where we empower those with the most to lose through our feeble attempts as outsiders to reform prison paradigms Where religious narratives of human depravity give way to trauma informed praxis and neuroscience Where community and relational equity replace solitary confinement and isolation Using an indigenous research methodology analyzing memoirs of formerly incarcerated people the book contextualizes and identifies the role of community and shared emotional connection among incarcerated people This book is essential for scholars practitioners and students concerned with the transformative journey among the incarcerated population and for anyone engaged in higher education in prison or interested in constructive change of the prison system Magic of Fiction in Illuminating Transformation Donald Stoesz, 2020-01-09

This book is a direct response to the two most frequently asked questions that I receive as a prison chaplain Are offenders remorseful for what they have done Is it possible for them to change While the answer to the first question is often a resounding Yes this does not mean that it is always possible for inmates to change Some of them find it too difficult too much sacrifice too much work Others are willingly to make the long journey toward healing and wholeness The intractability of Tom Riddle in the Harry Potter series is used to look at the challenges of feeling remorse The story of Jean Valjean details the journey from remorse to forgiveness from grace to justification from being reborn to becoming sanctified from becoming holy to learning how to love Jesus remarks that he can lay down his life and take it up again is used to develop a stronger theology of the will The divine and human will are ever present in enabling change to occur The sacrificial example of Saint Francis of Assisi shows how voluntary poverty chastity and obedience are necessary ingredients in becoming spiritually whole The book concludes with a reflection on Dismas the first Christian martyr Prison Pedagogies Joe Lockard, Sherry Rankins-Robertson, 2018-07-20 In a time of increasing mass incarceration US prisons and jails are becoming a major source of literary production Prisoners write for themselves fellow prisoners family members and teachers However too few write for college credit In the dearth of well organized higher education in US prisons noncredit programs established by colleges and universities have served as a leading means of informal learning in these settings Thousands of teachers have entered prisons many teaching writing or relying on writing practices when teaching other subjects Yet these teachers have few pedagogical resources This groundbreaking collection of essays provides such a resource and establishes a framework upon which to develop prison writing programs Prison Pedagogies does not champion any one prescriptive approach to writing education but instead recognizes a wide range of possibilities Essay subjects include working class consciousness and prison education community and literature writing at different security levels in prisons organized writing classes in jails and juvenile halls cultural resistance through writing education prison newspapers and writing archives as pedagogical resources dialogical approaches to teaching prison writing classes and more The contributors within this volume share a belief that writing represents a form of intellectual and expressive self development in prison one whose pursuit has transformative potential
