The Preconceptions Of Economic Science:

The Preconceptions of Economic Science Thorstein Veblen, 2014-05-30 Thorstein Veblen was probably the greatest economist working in early 20th century America. In this treatise Veblen sets out the preconceptions and uninformed ideas people have when beginning to study the economy, taking each problem and addressing it in turn, hoping to open the reader's mind to a better understanding of one of the most difficult and complex problems of the modern world: the economy. We are republishing this work with a brand new short introductory biography of the author. Economic Problems Allyn Abbott Young, 1927 Economics and war War debts external and internal Hungary in 1925 The trend of prices The structure and policies of the federal reserve system The concentration of wealth and its meaning Personal and impersonal taxation Depreciation and rate control The Sherman act and the new anti-trust legislation Some limitations of the value concept Jevon's Theory of political economy The trend of economics as seen by some American economists The measurement of changes of the general price level Fisher's The making of index numbers Methodology of the Social Sciences, Ethics, and Economics in the Newer Historical School Peter Koslowski, 1997-10-15 The volume gives an exposition of the achievement and present relevance of the Newer Historical School of Economics and of the theory of the human sciences that accompanied its development. It describes the methodology of economics and the social sciences, the economic ethics and the theory of the social and human sciences in the Historical School. It shows how its emphasis moved from an ethical economics or ethical economy to the methodology of the social and economic sciences. The Founding of Institutional Economics Warren Samuels, 2002-01-08 Institutional economics has been a major part of economic thought for the whole of the twentieth century and today remains crucial to an understanding of the development of heterodox economics. The two principal publications that founded the school were Veblen's The Theory of the Leisure Class and Commons's A Sociological View of Sovereignty, both published in 1899. As a tribute to these two seminal works, Warren Samuels has assembled an exceptionally prestigious international group of scholars to produce this landmark volume celebrating the centenary. The chapters assess the work of Veblen and Commons and their influence on the school of institutional economics from a variety of theoretical perspectives. The contributions on Veblen appraise his anthropological analysis of consumption habits of American households from sociological, linguistic and feminist points of view. Conversely, the essays on Commons's work focus on the concepts of property, power and the relationship between legality and economics. Economic problems old and new Allyn Abbott Young, 1927 Evolutionary Theory in the Social Sciences: Evolutionary social science William M. Dugger, Howard J. Sherman, 2003 Essential Writings of Thorstein Veblen Charles Camich, Geoffrey M. Hodgson, 2010-12-14 This focuses on Veblen's writings up to 1914 in which he crafts his core concepts, develops his theoretical position both constructively and critically and applies analysis to topics including the evolution of human institutions and the economic dynamics of modern society. The Turn to Process Kunal M. Parker, 2023-11-16 In The Turn to Process Kunal M. Parker explores the massive reorientation of American legal political and economic thinking between 1870 and 1970 Over this period American conceptions of law democracy and markets went from being oriented around truths ends and foundations to being oriented around methods processes and techniques No longer viewed as founded in justice and morality law became a way of doing things centered around legal procedure Shedding its foundations in the people democracy became a technique of governance consisting of an endless process of interacting groups Liberating themselves from the truths of labor markets and market actors became intellectual and political techniques without necessary grounding in the reality of human behavior Contrasting nineteenth and twentieth century legal political and economic thought this book situates this transformation in the philosophical crisis of modernism and the rise of the administrative state

The Quarterly Journal of Economics
Charles Franklin Dunbar, Frank William Taussig, Abbott Payson Usher, Alvin Harvey Hansen, William Leonard Crum, Edward Chamberlin, Arthur Eli Monroe, 1924 Vols 1 22 include the section Recent publications upon economics

Classics in Institutional Economics, Part I, Volume 1 Warren J Samuels, Malcolm Rutherford, 2024-11-01 Institutional economics is recognised as a peculiarly American development in economics nothing quite like it emerged in Britain or continental Europe As such a knowledge of the literature of institutionalism is a necessary part of understanding the history of American economics and American social thought more broadly The work of the authors featured in this collection served to create and define the American institutionalist tradition in economics Thorstein Veblen Richard Theodore Ely John Rogers Commons Robert Franklin Hoxie Wesley Clair Mitchell and Walton Hale Hamilton These figures were also central to institutionalism s numerous debates on the unifying characteristics of the movement and its principal contributions making this collection of their most important works a convenient vehicle to assess these issues It is also of increasing value given the fact that the main concerns of institutionalists such as the role of institutions and development of an evolutionary approach having been coming back into prominence as important issues in economics
