Jurik,2012-08-15 Justice Provocateur focuses on Prime Suspect a popular British television film series starring Oscar and Emmy award winning actress Helen Mirren as fictional London policewoman Jane Tennison Gray Cavender and Nancy C Jurik examine the media constructions of justice gender and police work in the show exploring its progressive treatment of contemporary social problems in which women are central protagonists They argue that the show acts as a vehicle for progressive moral fiction fiction that gives voice to victim experiences locates those experiences within a larger social context transcends traditional legal definitions of justice for victims and offers insights into ways that individuals might challenge oppressive social and organizational arrangements Although Prime Suspect is often seen as a uniquely progressive feminist inspired example within the typically more conservative male dominated crime genre Cavender and Jurik also address the complexity of the films gender politics Consistent with some significant criticisms of the films they identify key moments in the series when Tennison s character appears to move from a successful woman who has it all to a post feminist stereotype of a lonely aging career woman with no strong family or friendship ties Shrewdly interpreting the show as an illustration of the tensions and contradictions of women

s experiences and their various relations to power Justice Provocateur provides a framework for interrogating the meanings and implications of justice gender and social transformation both on and off the screen
