Inventing Australia Richard White, 2020-07-28 White sets himself a most ambitious task and he goes remarkably far to achieving his goals Very few books tell so much about Australia with elegance and concision as does his Professor Michael Roe Stimulating and informative an antidote to the cultural cringe Canberra Times To be Australian what can that mean Inventing Australia sets out to find the answers by tracing the images we have used to describe our land and our people the convict hell the workingman s paradise the Bush legend the typical Australian from the shearer to the Bondi lifesaver the land of opportunity the small rich industrial country the multicultural society The book argues that these images rather than describing an especially Australian reality grow out of assumptions about nature race class democracy sex and empire and are invented to serve the interests of particular groups There have been many books about Australia s national identity this is the first to place the discussion within an historical context to explain how Australians views of themselves change and why these views change in the way they do     A History of the Oriental Nations Leitch Ritchie,1848     The History of the First English Colony in New South Wales: 1788-1801 David Collins,2022-01-04 An Account of the English Colony in New South Wales is a two volume history of the British settlement in Australia written by Colonel David Collins administrator of Britain s first colonies in Australia The work covers period from the first settlement in January 1788 to August 1801 with remarks on the dispositions customs and manners of the native inhabitants of Australia to which are added some particulars of New Zealand In January 1788 the First Fleet led by Captain Arthur Phillip founded the first British settlement in Australian history as a penal colony Colonel Collins tells the story of the fleet which comprised the 11 ships that departed from Portsmouth England on 13 May 1787 to New South Wales the penal colony that became the first European settlement in Australia From England the Fleet sailed south west to Rio de Janeiro then east to Cape Town and via the Great Southern Ocean to Botany Bay Australia arriving over the period of 18 20 January 1788     Family History and Historians in Australia and New Zealand Malcolm Allbrook,Sophie Scott-Brown,2021-06-27 Since the turn of the twenty first century family history is the place where two great oceans of research are meeting family historians outside the academy with traditionally trained often university employed historians This collection is both a testament to dialogue and an analysis of the dynamics of recent family history that derives from the confluence of professional historians with family historians their common causes and conversations It brings together leading and emerging Australian and New Zealand scholars to consider the relationship between family history and the discipline of history and the potential of family history to extend the scope of historical inquiry even to revitalise the discipline In Anglo Western culture the roots of the discipline s professionalisation lay in efforts to reconstruct history as objective knowledge to extend its subject matter and to enlarge the scale of historical enquiry Family history almost by definition is often inescapably personal and localised How then have historians responded to this resurgence of interest in the personal and the local and how has it influenced the thought and practice of historical enquiry     Bookseller and the Stationery Trades' Journal ,1886     Australian Colonists Ken Inglis,2015-09-07 A social history of the period from 1788 to 1870 from the beginning of British settlement of Australia to the year when the last British soldiers sailed home from the colonies In his inimitable fashion Inglis tells the story of convicts currency lads and emigrants settling into their new land The newcomers brought with them from the old world their traditional holidays and made their own fetes in the new We see them facing natural enemies in the land and having their tranquillity shattered by bushrangers as well as rebellious convicts military officers and gold diggers With them we hear the sounds of distant war We meet the men they honoured and we read of efforts by poets and orators to turn the Australian experience into history
