The Popular Religion And Folklore Of Northern Ind:

An Introduction to the Popular Religion and Folklore of Northern India William Crooke, 1894 In Quest of Indian Folktales Sadhana Naithani, 2006-05-21 A rare piece of scholarly detective work Margaret Mills Ohio State University In Quest of Indian Folktales publishes for the first time a collection of northern Indian folktales from the late 19th century Reputedly the work of William Crooke a well known folklorist and British colonial official the tales were actually collected selected and translated by a certain Pandit Ram Gharib Chaube In 1996 Sadhana Naithani discovered this unpublished collection in the archive of the Folklore Society London Since then she has uncovered the identity of the mysterious Chaube and the details of his collaboration with the famous folklorist In an extensive four chapter introduction Naithani describes Chaube s relationship to Crooke and the essential role he played in Crooke s work as both a native informant and a trained scholar By unearthing the fragmented story of Chaube s life Naithani gives voice to a new identity of an Indian folklore scholar in colonial India The publication of these tales and the discovery of Chaube s role in their collection reveal the complexity of the colonial intellectual world and problematize our own views of folklore in a postcolonial world An introduction to the popular religion and folklore of northern India William Crooke, 2015-06-12 An introduction to the popular religion and folklore of northern India Peasants and Monks in British India William R. Pinch, 1996-06-18 In this compelling social history William R Pinch tackles one of the most important but most neglected fields of the colonial history of India the relation between monasticism and caste The highly original inquiry yields rich insights into the central structure and dynamics of Hindu society insights that are not only of scholarly but also of great political significance Perhaps no two images are more associated with rural India than the peasant who labors in an oppressive inflexible social structure and the ascetic monk who denounces worldly concerns Pinch argues that contrary to these stereotypes North India s monks and peasants have not been passive observers of history they have often been engaged with questions of identity status and hierarchy particularly during the British period Pinch s work is especially concerned with the ways each group manipulated the rhetoric of religious devotion and caste to further its own agenda for social reform Although their aims may have been quite different Ramanandi monastics worked for social equity while peasants agitated for higher social status the strategies employed by these two communities shaped the popular political culture of Gangetic north India during and after the struggle for independence from the British Catalog of Folklore, Folklife, and Folk Songs Cleveland Public Library. John G. White Department, 1978 Catalogue Peabody Museum of Archaeology and Ethnology. Library, 1963 The Tiwa Ethnohistory Raktim Patar, 2021-02-14 This book aims at presenting as far as possible a comprehensive understanding of the ethnohistory of the Tiwa people It addresses the issue of origin migration traditional belief system the evolution of the social institutions of the Tiwa It also covers the continuity and changes that had occurred among this tribe in recent years The information about this tribe available in the Assamese chronicles colonial records and other literature of the pre independence period are devoid of its origin migration settlement pattern or social organization Similarly published works of the post Independence period do not provide a clear understanding of this tribe Available published works are descriptive accounts of the socio economic and cultural features of the Tiwa as they appear in recent times There is no mention of their early history or the circumstances leading to the bifurcation of the Tiwa into two groups Hill and Plain with distinct patterns of social organization and belief system Furthermore there is neither enough information on the socio political institutions of the Tiwa nor an adequate understanding of the same It is against such a backdrop that systematic documentation description and reconstruction of the history of the Tiwa is necessary and which the present work seeks to address
