The Architectonic of Philosophy Leslie Kavanagh, 2025-10-01 In the Architectonic of Philosophy Leslie Kavanagh chose three architectonics philosophical structures to be examined more extensively These are Plato's Chora the continuum of Aristoteles and finally Leibniz's labyrinth The concept of the architectonic is borrowed from Kant albeit with differing intentions Whereas the history of philosophy defines metaphysics as asking the question What is Being here is asked Where is Being What is to be analysed is indeed part of the tradition of metaphysics to inquire about Being qua being but here the inquiry is into its structure its position within the ontological whole In doing this analyses two points become explicit One Ontology has a structure and two the status of Being within this structure

The Greek Cosmologists: Volume 1, The Formation of the Atomic Theory and Its Earliest Critics David Furley, 1987-03 This first volume takes the story from its beginnings in Ionian philosophy as far as the formation of the Atomic Theory and the first criticisms of it by Plato and Aristotle The second volume will describe the cosmology of Plato and Aristotle the attempt by Epicurean opponents to revive Atomism and later developments of the debate in classical philosophy and science up to the sixth century of our era Both are accessible to anyone interested in the history of science and philosophy even if they have no specialized knowledge of Greek philosophy and no Greek but professional scholars too will find much of importance to them

The Poetics of Literary Transfer in Early Modern France and England Hassan Melehy,2016-02-24 Examining both familiar and underappreciated texts Hassan Melehy foregrounds the relationships that early modern French and English writers conceived with both their classical predecessors and authors from flourishing literary traditions in neighboring countries In order to present their own avowedly national literatures as successfully surpassing others they engaged in a paradoxical strategy of presenting other traditions as both inspiring and dead Each of the book s four sections focuses on one early modern author Joachim Du Bellay Edmund Spenser Michel de Montaigne and William Shakespeare Melehy details the elaborate strategies that each author uses to rewrite and overcome the work of predecessors His book touches on issues highly pertinent to current early modern studies among these are translation the relationship between classicism and writing in the vernacular the role of literature in the consolidation of the state attitudes toward colonial expansion and the New World and definitions of modernity and the past
