New Readings in the Literature of British India, c. 1780-1947 Shafquat Towheed,2007-10-01 The contributions to this book amply demonstrate the richness vitality and complexity of the colonial transactions between Britain and India over the last two centuries and they do so by approaching the topic from a specific perspective by interpreting the rubric new readings as broadly creatively and productively as possible They cover a wide range of literary responses and genres eighteenth century drama the gothic novel verse autobiography history religious writing journalism women s memoirs travel writing popular fiction and the modernist novel Brought together in one volume these essays offer a small but representative sample of the multifaceted literary and cultural traffic between Britain and India in the colonial period In the richness and diversity of the various contributors strategies and interpretations these new readings urge us to return once again to texts that we think we know as well as to explore those that we do not with a freshly renewed sense of their complexity immediacy and relevance Postcolonial Satire Amy L. Friedman,2019-10-16 Postcolonial Satire Indian Fiction and the Reimagining of Menippean Satire positions postcolonial South Asian satiric fiction at the intersection of the cutting edge territory of political resistance writing and the ancient tradition of Menippean satire Postcolonial Satire disrupts the relationship between postcolonial literature and magic realism by discussing the work of writers such as G V Desani Aubrey Menen Salman Rushdie and Irwin Allan Sealy as one movement into the entirely subversive realm of satire Indian fiction as well as the fiction of other colonized cultures can be re construed through the lens of satire as openly critical of a broad spectrum of political and cultural issues Employing the strengths of postcolonial theory and criticism Postcolonial Satire expands upon the postcolonial works of these authors by analyzing them as satire rather than magical realism with satirical elements on other societies and it preferred to study particular communities as unique entities 4 The change in anthropology was reflected in the study of witchcraft The concept of the witch was dissolved into a larger framework of reference and historians were warned off using ethnographic material

South Asian Writers in Twentieth-Century Britain Ruvani Ranasinha, 2007-02-22 South Asian Writers in Twentieth Century Britain is the first book to provide a historical account of the publication and reception of South Asian anglophone writing from the 1930s to the present based on original archival research drawn from a range of publishing houses This comparison of succeeding generations of writers who emigrated to or were born in Britain examines how the experience of migrancy the attitudes towards migrant writers in the literary market place and the critical reception of them changed significantly throughout the twentieth century Ranasinha shows how the aesthetic cultural and political context changed significantly for each generation producing radically different kinds of writing and transforming the role of the postcolonial writer of South Asian origin The extensive use of original materials from publishers archives shows how shifting political academic and commercial agendas in Britain and North America influenced the selection content presentation and consumption of many of these texts The differences between writers of different generations can thus in part be understood in terms of the different demands of their publishers and expectations of readers in each decade Writers from different generations are paired accordingly in each chapter Nirad Chaudhuri 1897 1999 with Tambimuttu 1915 83 Ambalavener Sivanandan born 1923 with Kamala Markandaya born 1924 Salman Rushdie born 1947 with Farrukh Dhondy born 1944 and Hanif Kureishi born 1954 with Meera Syal born 1963 Raja Rao Mulk Raj Anand Attia Hosain V S Naipaul and Aubrey Menen are also discussed
