Social Groups And Religious Ideas In The Sixteenth Century:

Social Groups and Religious Ideas in the Sixteenth Century Miriam Usher Chrisman, 1978 The Gift in Sixteenth-century France Natalie Zemon Davis, 2000 Must a gift be given freely How can we tell a gift from a bribe Are gifts always a part of human relations or do they lose their power and importance once the market takes hold and puts a price on every exchange These questions are central to our sense of social relations past and present and they are at the heart of this book by one of our most interesting and renowned historians In a wide ranging look at gift giving in early modern France Natalie Zemon Davis reveals the ways that gift exchange is crucial to understanding alliance and conflict in family life economic relations politics and religion Moving from the king's bounty to the beggar's alms her book explores the modes and meanings of gift giving in every corner of sixteenth century French society In doing so it arrives at a new way of considering gifts what Davis calls the gift register as a permanent feature of social relations over time Gift giving with its own justifications and forms in different periods can create amity or lead to quarrels and trouble It mixes the voluntary and the obligatory with interested bribery at one extreme and inspired gratuitousness at the other Examining gifts both ethnographically through archives letters and other texts and culturally through literary ethical and religious sources Davis shows how coercive features in family life and politics rather than competition from the market disrupted the gift system This intriguing book suggests that examining the significance of gifts can not only help us to understand social relations in the past but teach us to deal graciously with each other in the present

Religion, Government and Political Culture in Early Modern Germany J. Wolfart, 2001-12-05 The story of conflict in an island community offers a valuable case study for the analysis of early modern German political culture Investigations range from interpersonal relations to dynamics of civic church and imperial government Chronicled throughout are the interactions of two opposing principles in modern society secular vs spiritual and public vs private These are found to operate both discursively and institutionally and are deployed to help establish sovereign authority Obrigkeit as well as to articulate resistance in the form of bourgeois republican ideology

Society and Economy in Early Modern Europe, 1450-1789 Barry Taylor, 1989 Charity and Economy in the Orphanages of Early Modern Augsburg Thomas Max Safley, 2023-08-21 This book examines the complex interrelationship between charity confession and capital in the orphanages of the Free Imperial City of Augsburg To provide the best care at the least cost the administrators of these traditionally non capitalistic organizations engaged in a wide variety of capitalistic practices in capital commodity and labor markets Their market orientated practices inspired bourgeois virtues that included the assessments of long term risk and reward the avoidance of excess and waste and the practice of obedience persistence and industry Under the pressures of confessional tension efficiency slowly evolved into a more complex notion of utility that placed the needs of the orphanages over the dictates of economy and the divisions of religion The product of monumental original research this book offers a substantial revision of current historical scholarship on poor relief social discipline organization building and the advent of capitalism A forthcoming volume will pursue these issues through a close study of the fortunes and fates of 8 000 Augsburg orphans These studies make required reading for advanced students of early modern Europe

Families and Frontiers Kathryn Edwards,2021-10-01 The frontier of the Early Modern Burgundies In this book Edwards applies in reverse the American frontier concept in order to understand the local changes in family and community in a Burgundy torn in two after the death of Charles the Bold in 1477 During the late fifteenth and early sixteenth centuries residents of the eastern duchy and the western county of Burgundy were in a place and time of transition and transformation a veritable frontier While France and the Holy Roman Empire vied for political control of the region residents struggled to define their social cultural political and economic relationships to each other In the region of the Sa ne River valley detailed case studies and family reconstruction of specific elites from the cities of Dijon Dole and Besan on are discussed The river ironically acted as a roadway not a barrier and facilitated the fluidity of the residents relationships Thus the Burgundian frontier was marked by a tacit acceptance of permeable boundaries and the ensuing choices interchanges negotiations and flexibility inherent to the region Edwards successfully argues that a frontier develops when a previously united region is divided and offers a provocative alternative interpretation to contrast with the national historiography most frequently used by scholars This book enhances our understanding of how pre modern societies created regional identities

Reformers on Stage Gary K. Waite,2000-01-01 Examines the social and religious messages of plays presented across the Low Countries showing how they promoted or opposed calls for reform religious and otherwise and argues that dramatists reshaped reform ideas to accommodate their own concerns

Religious Warfare in Europe 1400-1536 Norman Housley,2008-11-06 Religious warfare has been a recurrent feature of European history In this intelligent and readable study the distinguished Crusade historian Norman Housley describes and analyses the principal expressions of holy war in the period from the Hussite wars to the first generation of the Reformation The context was one of both challenge and expansion The Ottoman Turks posed an unprecedented external threat to the Christian republic while doctrinal dissent constant warfare between states and rebellion eroded it from within Professor Housley shows how in these circumstances the propensity to sanctify warfare took radically different forms At times warfare between national communities was shaped by convictions of sacred patriotism either in defending God given native land or in the pursuit of messianic programmes abroad Insurrectionary activity especially when driven by apocalyptic expectations was a second important type of religious war In the 1420s and early 1430s the Hussites waged war successfully in defence of what they believed to be God s Law And some frontier communities depicted their struggle against non believers as religious war by reference to crusading ideas and habits of thought Professor Housley pinpoints what these conflicts had in common in the ways the combatants perceived their own role their demonization of their opponents and the ongoing critique of religious war in all its forms This is a major contribution to both Crusade history and the study of the Wars of Religion of the early modern period Professor Housley explores the interaction between Crusade and religious war in the broader sense and argues that the religious violence of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries was organic in the sense that it sprang from deeply rooted proclivities within European society La Conquistadora Amy G. Remensnyder, 2014-03 La Conquistadora explores Mary's prominence on and off the battlefield in the culturally and ethnically diverse world of medieval Iberia where Muslims, Christians, and Jews lived side by side and in colonial Mexico where Spaniards and indigenous peoples mingled Bound Choice, Election, and Wittenberg Theological Method Robert Kolb, 2017-01-01 Galvanized by Erasmus' teaching on free will, Martin Luther wrote De servo arbitrio or The Bondage of the Will insisting that the sinful human will could not turn itself to God. In this first study to investigate the sixteenth-century reception of De servo, Robert Kolb unpacks Luther's theology and recounts his followers' ensuing disputes until their resolution in the Lutheran churches' 1577 Formula of Concord.
