These Kids Kysa Nygreen, 2013-05-07 Few would deny that getting ahead is a legitimate goal of learning but the phrase implies a cruel hierarchy a student does not simply get ahead but gets ahead of others In These Kids Kysa Nygreen turns a critical eye on this paradox Offering the voices and viewpoints of students at a last chance high school in California she tells the story of students who have in fact been left behind Detailing a youth led participatory action research project that she coordinated Nygreen uncovers deep barriers to educational success that are embedded within educational discourse itself Struggling students internalize descriptions of themselves as at risk low achieving or troubled and by adopting the very language of educators they also adopt its constraints and presumption of failure Showing how current educational discourse does not ultimately provide an adequate vision of change for students at the bottom of the educational hierarchy she levies a powerful argument that social justice in education is impossible today precisely because of how we talk about it Activist Identity Development of Transgender Social Justice Activists and Educators Ksenija Joksimović, 2020-03-02 Activist Identity Development of Transgender Social Justice Activists and Educators introduces an anti oppressive critical and intersectional approach to social justice activism and education and adult education for social change This book examines how state governments laws policies institutions and systems of dominant hegemonic ideologies such as education systems the legal systems and their gatekeepers influence the social position and epistemic agency of transgender and gender non conforming people TGNC therefore shaping their social justice activist and educator identity development The research was conducted with eight TGNC social justice activists and educators from eight different countries who were at the time in leadership positions in organizations working on the advancement of LGBTQI human rights This volume seeks not only to understand and interpret power structures power relations and inequalities in society which determine social positionality of trans activists and influence the formation and development of their activist identity but also to challenge them by raising critical consciousness questioning dominant cultural political and social domains which determine knowledge production It advocates for a trans affirming intersectional approach to educational provision theory and research
